25 Enterprise Crewmen Killed, 17 Missing In Carrier Inferno

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The U.S. Navy counted 25 dead, 85 injured and 17 missing today after a series of explosions and fire swept the flight deck of the nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise on a training exercise.

The 85,000-ton carrier, world's biggest warship, made it back to port yesterday under her own power from the scene of the disaster 75 miles southwest of Honolulu.

A Navy source first attributed the initial explosion to a bomb falling from an airplane landing on the carrier. Later this was officially retracted and a Navy spokesman stated that the cause of the blasts was unknown and under investigation.

The ship's nuclear power plant was not affected.

Planes from the Enterprise were taking part in an exercise at Kahoolawe, an uninhabited island used as a bombing range, pending redevelopment to the Western Pacific. It has been in action off Vietnam several times.

The Enterprise, known to her 5,000 men as the "Big E", had launched one flight of planes and was preparing to send off a second group armed with live bombs and rockets.

Sailors on the flight deck said the first explosion apparently occurred in or near an F4 Phantom jet parked about 75 feet from the stern of the ship.

At a dockside news conference following the arrival of the Enterprise, Navy officials said there were at least 10 explosions. Most of the missing apparently were blown off the deck into the sea.

A search of the disaster scene for possible survivors was carried on by the Navy picket ship Stoddart, the destroyer Rodgers and by Navy and Coast Guard aircraft.

The blasts tore three large

Radarman 2/c Michael Walraven of San Rafael, a crewman of the carrier Enterprise, escaped unhurt in yesterday's explosions aboard the carrier.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Walraven of 316 G Street, were enabled to talk with him by radiophone last midnight through a system set up by Hughes Aircraft Corp.

The company used some 20 radio channels to permit all uninjured men aboard the Enterprise to call their parents, at no cost to the men or their families, the Walravens were informed.

Rookie Cosmonauts May Link Ships

MOSCOW (AP) —Four rookie Soviet cosmonauts, riding Soyuz 4 and Soyuz 5, began maneuvering in space today for perhaps the world's first crew transfer in orbit.

A telecast from aboard Soyuz 5 reported about an hour after its launching today that the "splendid" craft was functioning normally and the three-man crew was feeling fine.

Earlier cosmonaut Vladimir Shatalov, flying alone in Soyuz 4, reported all was well aboard his craft. Shatalov was launched about 24 hours before his companion ship.

There were unconfirmed reports in Moscow that the two ships would link up, and one of the men from Soyuz 5 would climb aboard Soyuz 4. As usual, space officials kept silent on plans for the four-man mission.

The cosmonaut transfer would give the Soviets another "first" in space, and also would mark the first time they matched the U. S. feat of manned docking in orbit.

Ship commander Boris Volynov reported in the telecast from Soyuz 5 that he and his two fellow crewmen withstood the launch "very well" and had begun unspecified "joint experiments" with Shatalov's craft.

The telecast, relayed by videotape on Moscow television, showed Volynov and research engineer Yevgeny Khrunov smiling and relaxing in the cabin. The third man aboard, Alexei Yeliseyev, was not within camera range and might have been in the spacecraft's other compartment.

Shatalov radioed to ground controllers that he had seen the fiery launch of Soyuz 5 from his position in orbit.

Volynov later was reported using manual controls to adjust the inclination of his craft.

This was the first time since June 1963 that the Soviet Union has attempted a space feat involving two manned ships.

The United States put up four astronauts on a rendezvous mission in December 1965. Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., were lifted into orbit and stayed aloft 14 days in Gemini 7, successfully rendezvousing with Gemini 6 piloted by Navy Capt. Walter M. Shirra Jr., and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford.

State Senate Speeds BART Rescue Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has authorized a committee hearing as early as next week on a proposal to boost the sales tax by one-half per cent in the three counties of Bay Area Rapid Transit to wipe out the district's $146 million debt.

The Senate yesterday voted 30-3 to suspend the constitutional provision requiring a 30-day delay before a hearing could be held on the measure by Sen. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Berkeley.

Marks Seeks To Extend Bay Fill Duties Of Commission

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend indefinitely powers over bay fill by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission was introduced yesterday by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

Marks' bill would eliminate the termination date from the act that created BCDC in 1965. Under that act, the commission would go out of business this coming fall.

Marks noted that the Joint Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization, of which he is a member, is expected to recommend formation of a regional government in the Bay Area in 1971—if approved by the voters in 1970—thus bay fill controls would lapse for at least two years if BCDC's life were not extended.

Marks said that his bill, submitted in skeleton form, also would amend the 1965 act to include recommendations in

Rogers Pledges Saigon Shove On Paris Round

Shape Of Table Is Scoffed

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — William P. Rogers told senators today that as secretary of state he will urge the Saigon government to proceed with the Paris peace talks regardless of disagreement over the shape of the negotiating table.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., quoted Rogers as telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a closed session that regardless of the differences, "these talks ought to be moved ahead."

Fulbright added his own estimate that the prospective Republican cabinet appointee is "not dogmatic—he hasn't made up his mind that we can't negotiate with the Communist countries."

BACKS ROGERS

"My feeling is that he is a broad-gauged man, not doctrinaire, and capable of adjusting to change," Fulbright said.

He said that Rogers felt there was some substance in the argument that the shape of the table would involve some recognition of the Communist National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

Rogers himself said after the closed session that the new administration's aim will be to get an "enforceable agreement" at the Paris talks.

OTHER VIEWS

"We desire a negotiated settlement on an honorable basis that satisfies our commitments in Vietnam," Rogers said.

Fulbright announced that he intends to support confirmation of Rogers and Elliot L. Richardson, Massachusetts attorney general, as under secretary of state.

He said the committee will hear Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, designated by President-elect Nixon as the new administration's chief negotiator at Paris, in a closed session.

Fulbright seemed to accept the Republican position that no confirmation is needed for

LBJ Sends $195.3 Billion Budget—His Last—To Hill

By JAMES L. RHODES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lyndon B. Johnson today proposed a $195.3 billion budget that was both a proud valedictory to his presidency and a challenge to his Republican successor "to press ahead for freedom and justice at home and abroad."

His final budget foresaw a $3.4 billion surplus in the 12 months starting July. But it was pegged to the risky assumption that Congress will approve $12.6 billion in proposed taxes, including a one-year extension of the 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes. The levy now is scheduled to expire June 30.

Without the taxes, Johnson's budget would show an $8.7 billion deficit. Like all recent federal budgets, it set a new record for both spending and income.

The President said the surcharge was necessary to keep the government in the black and to help check inflation. However, he asked Congress to give incoming President Richard M. Nixon discretionary authority to reduce or end the surcharge if peace in Vietnam should cut military outlays enough.

Johnson also proposed raising the cost of a first class letter from six to seven cents, abolishing airmail as a separate category.

He likewise called for increases in social security withholding taxes on workers and their employers to pay for a 13 per cent hike in benefits; maintenance of the present 7 per cent excise tax on new autos and phone calls and higher taxes on truck fuels, aviation gasoline and airline tickets.

Here's how Johnson's fiscal 1970 budget compares with the current fiscal year (all figures in billions of dollars):

Revenues	186.1	198.7
Outlays	183.7	195.3
Surplus	2.4	3.4

Although "optimistic" about the Paris peace talks, Johnson based his military budget requests on the assumption that U.S. troops will be fighting in Vietnam throughout the fiscal

Another Raid At Olompali

By DAVID DIETZ

The law returned last night to the unfettered and unflinching commune at Rancho Olompali.

"This is getting boring," said Donald C. McCoy Jr., leader of the hippie colony, as nearly 30 narcotics, juvenile and Marin district attorney's investigators searched the rambling rancho north of Novato for more drugs.

It was the law's second visit to the place in five days. This time, carrying a search warrant issued earlier in the day by Marin Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth, they found only a small quantity of marijuana and LSD.

Last Thursday, officers confiscated hashish, methamphetamine (speed) and a substance suspected to be heroin in addition to marijuana and arrested McCoy himself on suspicion of possessing pot.

McCoy, free on his recognizance, was not arrested last night. But five other residents of the colony were, including Carol Lee Garret, 20, a former television performer, and a man with long, strawberry blond hair who identified himself as Gandolph and reported his age as "infinite — I'm born every day."

McCoy is the 27-year-old former businessman said to have spent about $300,000 in eight months on the commune, whose headquarters is an historic 19-room mansion that dates to the 1880s.

"There isn't really any reason for this," he said last night, his eyes closed in seeming meditation. "The first time I expected it, but not this time."

"Both times I was doing the dishes," said McCoy, whose voice competed with the sound of dance music from a fancy stereo. "And they won't let me

State Of Union: LBJ Gives Parting Advice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has advised the Democratic majorities of House and Senate to give a sympathetic hearing to President-elect Nixon's program but to push ahead resolutely with legislation for social reforms.

Johnson said in a sentimental farewell to the nation last night that the prospects for peace in Vietnam are better now than they have been in the four years since Hanoi sent regular troops into the South.

But Vietnam was quickly passed over in Johnson's 44-minute final report on the State of the Union, a prosperous nation that sorely needs, he said, to repair urban blight, end racial discrimination, improve educational opportunities and guarantee the safety of its streets.

While reminiscenses of his 38-year attachment to Capitol Hill were the order of the night during his nationally televised and broadcast statement at a joint session of Congress, Johnson had some cogent advice to his fellow Democrats and supporters who led the applause that interrupted his speech 53 times.

Up in the gallery on his left, Lady Bird Johnson stood with her daughters, tears in her eyes, acknowledging the applause—for the last address her husband would make before a joint session of Congress. She had been there for the first one, when he pleaded for unity and asked that "God shed His grace on thee and crown thy good

Poll Shows One-Third S.F. Faculty Supporting Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A poll shows that about a third of the teachers at San Francisco State College say they support the teachers' union strike at the school, now in its 11th day.

Student militants and union teachers marched in front of campus entrances and often taunted students crossing the picket lines to go to their classrooms. Police guarded the entrances and campus buildings.

John Webb, 20, assistant speaker of the Associated Student Legislature, was arrested on charges of malicious mischief shortly after classes began for the day. Police said Webb attempted to plug toilets in the education building.

Marines Tighten Viet Cong Noose

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Marines participating in an 8,200-man amphibious operation on the Batangan Peninsula got their first taste of action today as they tightened their noose on a Viet Cong stronghold 340 miles northeast of Saigon.

Rear Adm. W. W. Behrens Jr. of Harrisburg, Pa., reported the Leathernecks repulsed an enemy attempt to break out of the cordon, suffering two dead and seven wounded in a fierce exchange of small arms fire. Enemy casualties were not known.

Earlier, four Viet Cong were killed in another small skirmish and two guerrilla soldiers defected to the Americans, said Behrens. He also reported the Marines destroyed several tunnel complexes, captured 600 pounds of rice, corn and flour, and rounded up 700 suspects for interrogation by a South Vietnamese pacification team.

Behrens said the aid is to separate the peninsula's Viet Cong "activists" from the general population, estimated between 5,000 and 10,000.

Two Marine battalions swept ashore on Batangan Monday in what the U. S. Navy said was the biggest seaborne assault since the 1950 Inchon landing of the Korean War. About 5,200 troops of the U. S. Americal Division and the South Vietnamese 2nd Infantry Division joined up with the 3,000 Leathernecks yesterday.

Navy patrol boats have ringed the peninsula, sealing off the enemy's last escape routes as the ground troops push seaward. They hope to trap an estimated 800 North Vietnamese regulars and an unknown number of Viet Cong guerrillas.

"We want to minimize Viet Cong influence in the area and neutralize his efforts," said Behrens. "We will do everything in our power during this operation to protect the villager, and we intend to offer him enough support to remove his fear of Viet Cong domination."

Closer to Saigon, the allies claimed killing 306 enemy in five engagements yesterday east, west and south of the capital.

The sharpest action occurred near Tay Ninh, 48 miles northwest of Saigon, when enemy troops tried to ambush a U.S. supply convoy. Armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and jet fighters repelled the attackers in a seven-hour battle, killing 122. U.S. losses were seven killed, 10 wounded and two trucks damaged.

Another 169 enemy were reported killed by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops, supported by American air power, in three fights in the Mekong Delta, ranging from 54 miles southwest to 72 miles west of Saigon. Allied casualties were five Americans and one South Vietnamese trooper wounded.

Paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division killed another 15 enemy in a clash 100 miles east of Saigon, at a cost of three wounded.

LBJ Endorses Pay Hikes For Congress And Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson set in motion today legal machinery to give a $25,000 a year raise to members of the Cabinet, and a $12,500 increased to senators and representatives.

Along with his final budget, Johnson sent to Congress a formal recommendation for increases in executive, legislative and judicial salaries based on the report of a special commission created by Congress in 1967.

Under the law establishing the commission, Johnson's recommendations will become effective in 30 days unless one branch of Congress disapproves them in whole or in part.

The President heeded the advice of many members of Congress in cutting back the $50,000 salary recommended for them by the commission. They now receive $30,000. There was much sentiment on Capitol Hill that $50,000 was too high, and even the $42,500 figure may be opposed by some senators and house members who argue that any raise is inappropriate at a time when the government is trying to control inflation.

The 12 Cabinet officers, who now receive $35,000, would get the biggest increase under Johnson's proposal.

Johnson suggested smaller raises for the other executive levels.

Johnson recommended $62,500 for the chief justice of the United States, who now gets $40,000, and $60,000 for the eight associate justices, now paid $39,500.

For judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals and similar tribunals, he recommended $42,500; they now get $33,000.

France Seeks Mideast Talk

PARIS (AP)—France will formally propose within the next few days a Big Four foreign ministers' conference under U.S. auspices to seek a solution to the Middle East crisis, French government sources said today.

They reported the foreign ministers of the United States. France, Britain and the Soviet Union should consider how to put into effect the U.N. Security Council's resolution calling for Israel's withdrawal from territory occupied in June 1967, and a general peace settlement.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville told a Frence television interviewer today it was too much to hope for peace in the Middle East through direct negotiations between Arabs and Israelis, and, for this reason, the Big Four should intervene to put an end to the crisis.

In another development, Iraq announced its rejection of the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution for a Middle East settlement. That Arab nation maintains 20,000 troops near the Jordanian-Israeli cease-fire line.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Protesting the city's insistence they continue to wear jackets, ties and long pants in summer, Montevideo's bus drivers refused yesterday to allow passengers in shorts to board their vehicles.

Air Fare Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board is favorable to "a modest increase" in airline passenger fares, says the board's chairman, John H. Crooker Jr.

A 7 per cent increase has been requested by Eastern, Trans-World, Braniff International, United and Northeast Airlines, Crooker said, and, he saied American Airlines indicated it might ask for a boost.

Committees Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Over Republican protests, the Senate has reduced the size of two key committees, Appropriations and Foreign Relations.

By a vote of 56 to 35, Appropriations was cut from 26 to 24 members and Foreign Relations from 19 to 15. This followed the defeat, 51 to 36, of a GOP effort to keep both committees at the previous level. The Democratic majority had decided in caucus to make the reductions.

Afro-American Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to establish an 11-member national commission on Afro-American history and culture was introduced yesterday in the House by Rep. James H. Scheuer, D- N. Y., and 22 cosponsors. Scheuer said Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., is sponsoring a companion proposal in the Senate.

Renewal Voted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A $64 million redevelopment project, designed to provide jobs and housing for impoverished residents of the run-down Hunters Point area, has been approved by the Board of Supervisors.

The project, covering 125.5 acres, would provide 2,500 new homes in Hunters Point and an industrial park in nearby Butchertown, capable of increasing the current 1,500 jobs to 3,900.

Dock Pact Set

NEW YORK (AP)—Agreement on a three-year, contract between striking dock workers and the New York Shipping Association was reached yesterday. The move was expected to set the pattern for agreement in other ports. Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports shut down by the strike that began Dec. 21.

A spokesman for the shipping association said the new contract includes a $1.60 an hour increase in wages, fringe benefits and a new clause dealing with containerized cargo.

LBJ Proposes Budget With Surplus Clause

However, the recent de-escalation of the fighting was reflected in a decline of $3.4 billion—from $28.8 billion to $25.4 billion a year—in estimated costs of the Vietnam conflict. It was the first such decline since the United States got involved in the Asian war.

Even so, total defense spending would rise by $500 million to $81.5 billion because of increased allocations for missiles, fast new nuclear submarines, the development of a high-performance jet fighter for the Air Force, more Cheyenne gunship helicopters for the Army and other improvements in weapons systems.

Spending for space exploration would drop by $300 million. But Johnson said the $3.9 billion remaining would finance further manned moon explorations after the planned Apollo landing later this year. It would also finance development of a nuclear-powered space rocket engine.

Overall spending would be boosted mainly by increased outlays for health, education and welfare programs.

Johnson proposed a new "urban development bank" to aid decaying cities; stepped-up housing and highway expenditures; and more money for air safety.

The President also proposed turning the post office into a non-profit corporation, requested higher outlays to fight crime and racial discrimination and called for bigger allocations for federal aid to education.

Besides laying out the government's fiscal requirements and program goals for the coming year, as he sees them, Johnson used his last budget message for an accounting of his five-year stewardship of the White House. He said:

"In my first budget message five years ago, I stated: 'A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures.'

"With this budget, I leave that kind of government to my successor."

Johnson virtually dared Nixon to propose major cuts in his spending proposals, which he described as "minimum requirements to fill urgent needs at home and abroad."

He said that under the past eight years of Democratic rule, "we have achieved an increase of 45 per cent in the nation's output of goods and services . . . the creation of more than 10 million new jobs . . . a reduction in the rate of unemployment to 3.3 per cent of the labor force . . . a decrease of over 17 million in the number of people living under poverty."

In an implicit challenge to his Republican successor to match this "impressive record," Johnson said:

"We have come far in our journey, but we are still a long way from our destination . . .

"I have faith that America will not now fail in its resolve, nor founder in its responsibility, to press ahead for freedom and justice at home and abroad."

To meet Johnson's goal of a fiscal 1970 surplus, the Nixon administration either nust persuade the Democratic Congress to follow a high tax policy or try to force through cuts in domestic programs which might touch off a legislative rebellion.

On the defense front, Johnson noted with pride that "our military forces today are the strongest in the world, capable of protecting the nation against any foreseeable challenge or threat."

Most of the praise for his five years in office however, went to what he called the "impressive" progress made by his administration in the domestic area.

In that five year period, Johnson said, government spending on social programs has more than doubled, aid to education has more than tripled, health outlays have increased four-fold and federal funds for job training have risen five times.

To continue that progress, Johnson recommended raising social security benefits an average of 13 per cent starting next Jan. 1. Some 2 million elderly citizens now getting the minimum benefit of $55 would be raised 45 per cent ot $80 a month.

To pay for the increases, the President recommended that the social security tax paid by employers and workers be increased from 9.6 per cent to 10.4 per cent of income with the taxable wage base increasing from $7,800 to $9,000 a year.

The nation's problem-ridden cities also came in for their share of stepped up aid. Johnson sought $750 million to continue the "Model Cities" program and urged establishment of a government-supported "urban development bank" to finance suburban and inne-city government programs.

Other city-oriented proposals would increase funds from $165 million to $206 million to help local and state governments fight crime in the streets.

Calling federal registration and licensing of guns an "urgent next step," Johnson also called on Congress to pass a stronger anti-gambling law and to improve prison rehabilitation programs.

The budget also would boost federal health program outlays by $1.6 billion to $13 billion with part of the addition going for increased medicare and medicaid payments to the elderly and disabled.

Johnson called on Congress to offset some of the spending increases with reductions in some other existing programs, in addition to the $200 million slash in space funds. They included:

Foreign aid allotments would also be cut $120 million to a $2 billion level with one-fourth of the funds earmarked for reconstruction in Vietnam. The aid request was the lowest since the program was started after World War II.

Shoreline Trustees Study Policy

West Marin's new Shoreline Unified School District board last night received another chapter in the book of policies and procedures that will guide its operation, starting July 1.

The section on administration, submitted for trustees' study by Supt. Charles E. McCully, will be followed by others on personnel, business administration, instruction, students and the community.

Policies adopted will be similar to those of other Marin school districts, according to McCully, who said those being presented to the Shoreline board are a distillation of exisiting policies of Tomales High School and the elementary schools that comprise the new unified district.

Trustees Roy A. Parks and Robert W. Giacomini, who met with the Bodega Bay Elementary School District board on Jan. 8, reported that the Bodega Bay district has plans approved by the state for a one-room addition to its three-room school and is ready to go to bid on the project. The cost was estimated at $20,000, McCully said.

The Bodega Bay district will become a part of the Shoreline district on July 1, at the same time as West Marin, Tomales and Watson elementary and Tomales High School districts.

UNION

with brotherhood from sea to shining sea."

Last night brotherhood still seemed an elusive target in a land so divided four years after Lyndon Baines Johnson won the greatest landslide in history—that he renounced in the name of unity further claims on the White House.

"Most of my life as a public official," he said, "was spent in this building. For 38 years—since I worked here as a doorkeeper in the House of Representatives—I have known its halls and most of those who walk them."

"I hope it may be said, a hundred years from now, that together we helped to make our country more just for all its people — as well as to insure the blessing of liberty for our posterity. I believe it will be said that we tried."

At the end Johnson urged the national bipartisanship that he practiced as Senate majority leader when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president but which the Republicans gave him on a hit-and-miss basis.

"President-elect Nixon will need your understanding, just as I did," he told his former colleagues of the Capitol. "He is entitled to have it. The burdens he will bear will be borne for all of us. Each of us should try not to increase them for the sake of narrow personal or partisan advantage."

Johnson, who was said to have consulted Nixon the major points of his speech, called for:

A 13 per cent over-all increase in Social Security benefits, with attendant increases in payroll deductions. During the campaign Nixon called for linking benefit increases with the cost of living.

Funds to build 500,000 homes for needy families, with establishment of an urban development bank to make low interest loans on such dwellings.

Reorganization an revitalization of the antipoverty program.

A full $300 million appropriation to carry out the Safe Streets Act and legisation to require the licensing and registration of firearms.

As forecast, Johnson also asked for continuance of the 10 per cent income surtax to permit the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to show a $3.4 billion surplus.

Nixon said in a statement that the tax should end "as soon as requirements for the war, the budget outlook and economic conditions will permit," and added:

"However, until the new administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts we face justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced, I will support the President's suggestion that the surcharge be continued."

Some Republicans were complimentary; others were not.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who has been chummy with Johnson, called it a fine speech and added that beyond that "I'm inarticulate."

But Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., one of the architects of the Southern contribution to Nixon's electoral victory said he doesn't agree that the nation ought to continue the policies and progress of the last five years.

"We need a change," Thurmond said. "The people want a change and we expect to get a change."

a mailed poll by the Association of State College Professors said they opposed the walkout. The other 38 percent backed it.

The association said support was stronger among the part-time faculty members than among the fulltime members. There are 1,462 faculty members.

Most of the strikers belong to the American Federation of Teachers, Local 1352.

Action was delayed until Friday on a motion to make permanent the temporary injunction barring the teachers' strike. Victor Van Bourg, the teachers' attorney, said he would subpoena acting-president S. I. Hayakawa for Friday's hearing.

Black Students Union leader Bridges Randall, 22, was among five persons arrested yesterday in an incident which broke a calm which had prevailed Monday.

The arrests came when students tried to hustle Randall and others from the scene of a campus confrontation.

Randall was charged with inciting to riot, disturbing police and failure to disperse, and released on $2,500 bail.

One companion, Bruce Hartford, a student, was held for the probation department on felony counts of possessing brass knuckles and assaulting a policeman.

holes in the deck. One penetrated into three lower decks, where a number of bodies were later found.

Fifteen aircraft on the flight deck were destroyed, including eight F4 Phantoms, six A7 Corsairs and an A3 Sky Warrior. A number of others were damaged.

Helicopters from Honolulu took 16 medics to the Enterprise to help care for the wounded. Those most seriously injured were taken to Tripler Army Hospital near Honolulu

Doctors at Tripler ordered 10 men suffering from serious burns airlifted to Brooks Army Hospital in Texas, which was a special burns treatment center.

Capt. Kent L. Lee, skipper of the carrier, said, "I can't emphasize too much the heroism and courage of the crew in fighting this fire."

Lee, who has commanded the Enterprise since January 1967 was nominated for rear admiral by President Johnson last June.

BCDC

The Legislature must act this year, declared Marks in a press statement, "to ensure that unrestricted bay filling is not allowed to resume."

Other Bay Area legislators also plan to introduce bills to keep tight controls on filling the bay. Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, and Assemblyman John T. Knox, said they would introduce bills to extend the life of BCDC for two years, to adopt the commission's proposed master plan, and to incorporate the commission's powers in the regional government proposed for 1971.

Lodge since he already holds ambassadorial status.

In another hearing Walter J. Hickel told senators that as interior secretary in the Nixon Administration he would assume major responsibilities for the wise use, management, development, and conservation of our entire nation's natural resources."

The Alaska governor also told the Senate Interior Committee at a hearing on his appointment by Richard M. Nixon that he would dispose of any interests that senators felt might conflict with his post as head of the interior department.

Hickel is one of the president-elect's more controversial appointees as a result of a recent statement saying he saw little sense in "a policy of conservation just for conservation purposes."

He also has had oil interests in the past and there have been allegations that his former close ties with the oil industry might conflict with his duties.

"I'm not in the oil business," Hickel answered firmly when Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee, questioned him about the allegation.

Also on Capitol Hill, David Packard urged the Senate to permit him to become deputy defense secretary and still keep his $300 million interest in an electronics firm he helped to found.

Packard proposed to place his shares in the Hewlett Packard Electronics Co. of Palo Alto, which produces measuring equipment for the government, in a trust whose profits would automatically be distributed to designated charities.

He told the Senate Armed Services Committee that under the plan, the trustees would be specifically prohibited from buying or selling the stock and he and his wife would be barred, while he was serving as No. 2 man at the Pentagon, from any dealings involving the funds held in trust.

And Nixon's selection for secretary of commerce, Maurice H. Stans, headed toward approval by the Senate Commerce Committee after he gave assurances that his personal affairs had been placed beyond conflict with his public duties.

Stans, who was former President Eisenhower's last budget director and earlier served as deputy postmaster general, testified that he signed a "blind trust" yesterday that would take over all of his financial holdings.

Stans said he had resigned all of his business directorships and assigned his partnerships to his trustees who have authority to handle his investments and interests without consulting or even informing Stans.

Leaking Butane Sickens Children

Two children were rushed to Marin General Hospital form their Lucas Valley ranch home today when they became ill from inhalation of butane gas which was leaking from a furnace.

Manuel Gonsalves, 35, owner of Big Rock Ranch on Lucas Valley Road, told the sheriff's office that his son, Kevin, 3, awakened him about 7 a.m. today and complained of not feeling well.

Another child, Suzanne, 1, also seemed unwell, Gonsalves said, and was taken to the hospital. Gonsalves said that the furnace in his home had recently been repaired and apparently was leaking gas.

The children were sent home after treatment.

OBITUARIES

Henry Lee Chenault Dies At 73

Henry Lee Chenault, 73, who operated a shoeshine stand in Petaluma for more than 42 years, died yesterday at his home at 32 West Street after an apparents heart attack.

A native of Athens, Ky., he moved to Petaluma in 1926 and opened a shoeshine stand on Main Street, now known as Petaluma Boulevard. In 1945 Chenault relocated his stand to the front of the Arcade Barber Shop on Western Avenue.

He served in the Army for five years prior to World War I and later reenlisted during the war years. He abandoned his business during World War II and worked at the naval shipyards at Mare Island.

GEORGE SKILLMAN

George V. Skillman of 161 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, died in a local hospital yesterday after a short illness.

Before retiring in 1960, Skillman, 75, and his wife, Lillian, operated the Fairfax Variety Store at 61 Broadway. He was also in charge of stock for Sterling Furniture Co. in San Francisco for 29 years.

His father, the late Theodore Skillman, owned the 160-acre Magnolia Stock Farm in Sonoma County and his mother was a typesetter on the old Argus newspaper in Petaluma.

The Skillmans, who were married 52 years, liked hiking and fishing and once climbed the 14,494-foot Mount Whitney, the highest peak in the United States, excluding Alaska.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

FRANCES CONFETTI

Frances Confetti, 84, of 346 Wilson Street, Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Born and educated in Austria, Mrs. Confetti moved to San Francisco in 1907. In 1921 she and her husband, the late Emilio Confetti, moved to Petaluma, where they operated a dairy and poultry ranch for many years.

She is survived by a son, Frank Confetti of Petaluma, and four daughters, Mrs. Jaye Brick and Mrs. Frances Hoke of Petaluma; Mrs. Mary Springer of Sebastopol, and Mrs. Eleanor McKenna of San Francisco.

WILLA RONNEBERG

Private funeral for Willa Ronneberg, 86, long-time Inverness resident who died at a local hospital Monday following a short illness, has been held at the Sunset View Mortuary in Berkeley.

Mrs. Ronneberg was born in Chicago, Ill., but lived in Berkeley for many years. Her late husband, Trygve Ronneberg, who died in 1942, was a structural steel engineer who was associated with Willis Polk in the construction of many large Bay Area buildings.

In 1938 when Ronneberg retired, the couple moved to Inverness, where Mrs. Ronneberg lived until she entered a convalescent hospital in Greenbrae about five years ago.

She is survived by two sons, Warren A. Ronneberg of Walnut Creek and Terres A. Ronneberg of Corte Madera; a daughter, Mrs. Janet Sedgwick of Los Angeles; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

JOHN M. PETERS

Requiem Mass for John M. Peters, 75, of 62 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael, retired gardener at Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, will be offered at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Name of Jesus Church, San Francisco.

Peters, a former amateur baseball player in the Bay Area, died Monday at a local hospital after a four-month illness.

A native of San Francisco, he lived there most of his life and had been a resident of Marin for the past two years.

He served in the Army in World War I and was a member of the California Grizzlies regiment. He also was a member of the Powell Street Cowboys, an informal social group in San Francisco.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Orville Houghton of San Rafael, with whom he lived, and a brother, Henry S. Peters of San Rafael.

Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Currovan's Chapel of the Sunset, San Francisco.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, says he may be making headway in trying to abolish what he calls the "buddy-buddy system" in the Senate and to restore "conscientious voting" by Democratic members.

THE GOVERNOR

Says there is too much stress on the so-called new left philosophy in the state's higher education system and more conservative views are needed to achieve a balance.

THE LEGISLATURE

Students Invade Trustee Talks; Fight Follows

STANFORD (UPI)—A brief scuffle broke out yesterday after about 30 demonstrators burst into a meeting of Stanford University trustees to demand a halt to school economic and military research projects on Southeast Asia.

The demonstrators, students and non-students, were organized by Students for a Democratic Society and circulated a demand for the resignation of three trustees.

Stanford President Kenneth S. Pitzer said disciplinary proceedings would be initiated against students who took part in the scuffle, which broke out between administrators and the demonstrators.

Destroy Depot

VIENTIANE (AP)—Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas destroyed a government munitions depot about 8 miles east of Vientiane early this morning, government sources reported.

Speaker Announced For Drath Benefit

Alan Watts, a writer-philosopher on Oriental religions, will speak at a benefit for Phillip Drath, unsuccessful candidate for Congress, at 8 p.m. Jan. 22 at Campbell Hall, Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito.

Watts will speak on the subject, "Two Worlds, Colored and Discolored."

Bank Extends Branch Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wells Fargo expanded its bank branches to 245 by acquiring the three Ventura County members of the Channel Islands State Bank yesterday, exchanging 1.1 share of its stock for one of Channel.

It also prepared to expand into related financial fields by organizing a holding company, Wells Fargo & Co. That's the name under which the bank and express firm was founded in 1852.

Dru g To Infant Just Too Strong

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) —A doctor put a decimal point in the wrong place and a 2-week-old infant died of a drug dose 10 times too strong.

Sheffield City Coroner Herber Pilling ruled yesterday the death of baby David Watkins was an accident after Dr. Kenneth Allen admitted making an "arithmetical" error in calculating a dose of the drug Digokin.

Pilling said, "There may be danger of a similar incident in the future" and urged the government to forbid the use of decimals in drug calculations.

Earthquakes Hit Towns In Turkey

ISTANBUL (UPI)—An earthquake shook Kalkan and Finike, two small towns on the southernmost tip of Anatolia, 120 miles from Antalya, early today, officials said.

Reports from the area said there were no casualties, although about half the houses in Kalkan were badly damaged and eight collapsed completely.

The wild mink is active both day and night and equally at home on land or in water.

Federal Aide Bares Error On Tax Forms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service has disclosed an error in its income tax instruction booklet that would have let Uncle Sam collect an extra $4 million from Californians on their 1968 returns.

Charles E. Kingman, acting district director, said yesterday the mistakes were printed on page 15 of the booklet in the optional sales tax tables used by persons who itemize their deductions.

The IRS table was based on a sales tax rate lower than California's 5 per cent. The difference in deductions ranged from $1 to $6 for persons making up to $20,000 and would have affected about 4 million Californians.

The average California wage earner would have lost $4 in deductions and paid about $1 more in federal taxes than necessary. Slightly more than half of California's 7.5 million federal income tax payers itemize their deductions.

Kingman blamed the error on last fall's hassle between Gov. Ronald Reagan and the State Legislature over property tax relief. The IRS, facing a printer's deadline, assumed no agreement would be reached and the sales tax would automatically drop to 4.5 per cent in October.

Kingman said the government was printing up new charts which may be obtained at federal tax offices.

Unruh Gives Reagan Pledge On Majority

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — Assembly Democratic leader Jess M. Unruh said today he'll oppose any efforts by his party to depose lower house Republican leadership if the slender GOP majority is lost through emigration to Washington.

The Inglewood Democrat said he was announcing his position "because of reports Gov. Ronald Reagan has asked several Republican legislators not to join the (president-elect Richard) Nixon Administration because if they did so, Democrats would seek to regain control of the Assembly."

The GOP won control of the Assembly, 41-39, in the November election and elected Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, Tracy, as speaker, replacing Unruh.

But there are reports the Nixon Administration will offer Washington positions to Assemblymen John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, and William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

(Bagley is in Washington this week on legislative business and said he also would meet with members of the Nixon administration.)

"The Nixon Administration needs the best men it can get, and it should feel free to draw on the talents of Republicans in the California Assembly," Unruh said.

"Governor Reagan should not use the possibility of a change in Republican leadership of the Assembly as a pretext for denying to the new national administration the manpower it needs and wants.

"The Republican Party has won a slim majority in the state Assembly and they should be allowed to shoulder the full responsibility of running the state government for the 1969 legislative session," he said.

Bethel Baptists Plan Dinner, Church Election

The annual dinner and business meeting of the Bethel Baptist Church will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the church at 1929 Novato Boulevard, Novato, according to Rev. Wilbur J. Bullard.

The budget for the year and plans for a building expansion program will be presented. Officers also will be elected.

The nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Verna Dulin, will present the following officers for election: Milford W. Carroll, chairman of the board of deacons; Melvin C. Jensen, vice chairman; Lee R. Smith, finance chairman; William H. Crowell, worship committee; Philip E. Dickinson, maintenance; George Van Diepen, missions, and William J. Olsen, home interest and building and planning.

Deaconesses to be presented are Mrs. Gerald E. Barnett, Christian education chairman; Mrs. Philip E. Dickinson, treasurer, and Mrs. Hubert Cole, church clerk.

Gross National Product Up But Boom Seen As Slowing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department reported yesterday that the gross national product (GNP) for 1968 rose to $861 billion in the last three months of the year, a 9 per cent gain over 1967.

The GNP, the sum of all goods and services produced in the country without compensation for inflation, rose by $18.8 billion during the last quarter of the year, the department said.

Because the areas in the economy where growth took place in the final quarter are substantially different from the areas of growth six months ago, some economists speculate that the hoped-for abatement of the business boom may be taking place.

Of the 9 per cent rise in the 1968 GNP, 4 per cent reflected higher prices, the department said, but the balance of 5 per cent — an unusually high amount—represented real growth of output.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that industrial production continued to rise in December, by about 1 per cent. Over 1968 as a whole, industrial production averaged 4.6 per cent higher than in 1967.

The most striking change in the fourth quarter, compared with the third quarter, was a slowdown in the spending increase for personal consumption. This rose $13.2 billion in the July-September period, but $5.2 billion in the final quarter.

This lower rate of increase in consumer spending is an indication that the President's income surtax may have taken effect in slowing down the business boom, some economists said.

Enrollment Policy Will Be Considered

The Marin Junior College District board will consider setting a maximum enrollment of 5,000 full-time students at the College of Marin at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in Room G-1 of the physical education complex.

College officials said the present enrollment includes 4,355 full-time students.

Radio Panel Set On Marin City

Problems facing Marin City will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be Rev. Samuel Banks, chairman of the Marin City Council; Charles Story, executive director of the community services district; Donald Stutsman, executive director of the housing and redevelopment agency, and Richard Adams, attorney for the California Development Corp.

Questions will be accepted during the broadcast tomorrow. The program will be repeated by tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

83 Strep Cases In Marin Last Week

Eighty-three cases of streptococcus, including 54 in Novato, were reported last week to the Marin County Health Department. San Rafael reported 17 cases, San Anselmo, 5; Mill Valley, 4, and Corte Madera, Ross and the unincorporated area, one each.

There were also five cases of mumps, one of salmonella and one of infectious hepatitus, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said.

More than 178.4 million tires were built and sold by the tire industry in the United States in 1967.

Newton Asks Out On Bail For Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court was asked yesterday to release Black Panther Huey Newton on bail, pending his appeal of a manslaughter conviction.

Newton, presently held at Los Padres State Prison, was convicted last fall of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Oakland policeman John Frey.

Alameda County Superior Judge Monroe Friedman refused to grant bail during appeals, so Newton's attorneys asked the Supreme Court to grant a writ of habeas corpus setting "reasonable" bail.

The petition said Friedman unjustifiably denied bail because "of a bias against the petitioner because of his race and role as the founder and leader and the minister of defense of the Black Panther Party."

The attorneys said the primary purpose of bail was to guarantee court room appearances and that Newton was entitled to bail because he had always appeared previously.

The petition said Friedman had ignored the court appearance function of bail and considered only whether Newton "would be a danger to the community."

Meeting Not Held

The meeting of the San Rafael Elementary School District's steering committee for a bond election Feb. 18 was not held Monday night as scheduled because the chairman, Paul McMullen, could not be present. It was rescheduled for 8 p.m. Monday the the administration building.

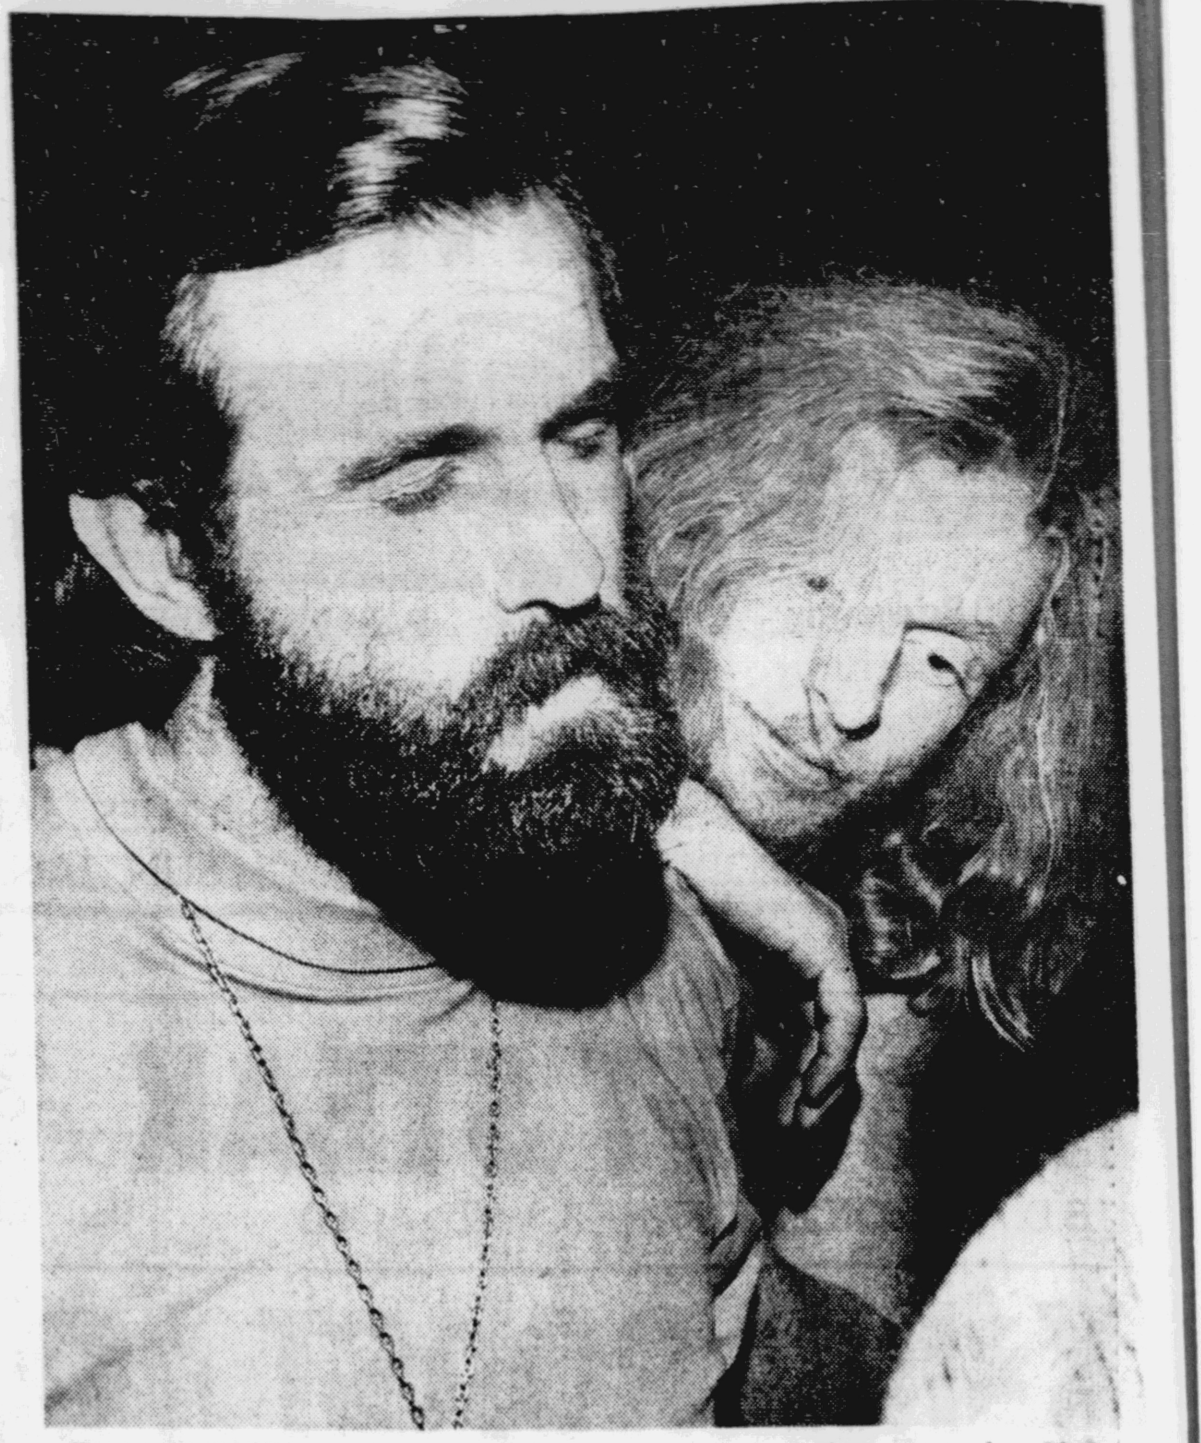
FUN GOES ON—Law officers were back at Rancho Olompali last night, but most of the residents of the commune could hardly care. The party went on as a deputy sheriff (left) took names. Five persons were arrested and a small quantity of marijuana and LSD confiscated.



BOSS IS BORED—"This is getting boring," said commune leader Donald C. McCoy Jr., 37, as officers raided his rented ranch for the second time in less than a week. McCoy spoke to reporters with eyes closed as a commune resident, who identified himself as Gandolph, leaned over his leader's shoulder.

"It's boring. I've got better things to do than sit around here. Why do we stand for all this? There are no criminals to catch here. But I'll have to say they didnt' bust in here like the last time.

"They didn't get a case this first time, so they came back to get it. I told them, 'You blew your whole case,' so they came back to build a case.

"I wish them luck," the lanky, bearded McCoy said. "Wait until we get to court. They'll have their hands full."

A dark-haired man broke in. "You're taxpayers," he said to reporters. "They're getting paid time and a half for this. Why aren't they out looking for criminals?"

When someone wondered how soon, McKendrick grinned, looked down at a silver matchbook between two fingers of his manacled hands and said airily:

"As soon as I call this man." The name and phone number of a bail bondsman were on the matchbook.

There were other light moments.

Shortly after officers arrived at 8:30 p.m., one of the members of the commune telephoned the Novato Fire Department to report a blaze in one of the rooms. Three trucks and some 50 volunteers responded to the false report.

Lt. James Schwedhelm of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau said officers were greeted upon their arrival by a melodic voice from the woods behind the mansion.

The hippie's message: "Jesus loves all you people." Later: "You'll never find us."

Officers said they interrupted an attempt by residents to flush a quantity of marijuana in a towel down a toilet.

Besides the arrests, officers took to Juvenile Hall six girls and two boys, ages 7 to 16, who were the children of arrested parents or whose parents could not be found at the rancho.

McKendrick was booked on suspicion of possession of LSD after allegedly handing over some capsules to officers, while James Edward Bartee, 23; Miss Garret, and Kris Anthony Stenz were booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana. Gandolph, booked as John Doe, was held for refusing to identify himself to an officer and for investigation of being in a place where narcotics were being used.

Six other members of the commune, besides McCoy, are awaiting court disposition of narcotics charges arising from last week's raid.

CLUTTER—This was a typical scene greeting officers as they searched the rambling mansion for narcotics. Tambourines, posters, and beads were more common than contraband, however.

MANACLED SMOOCH—Carol Lee Garret, 30, and Robert Gregge H. McKendrick, 35, were busted, but undaunted.

COMMUNE HEADQUARTERS—It was cold and clear when the law raided Rancho Olompali again last night, and residents looked outside to see this armada of police vehicles drawing up.

WHERE'S EVERYBODY? — The bedroom of Robert Gregge H. McKendrick—who was arrested on suspicion of possession of LSD—was deserted as officers gathered residents downstairs in the mansion. Empty bottles of wine and an aerosal can of furniture cleaner were left behind.

Mill Valley Seeks Joint North Ridge Streets Pact

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has urged cooperation by Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur and the county in developing a street system in the North Ridge area off of Camino Alto. (See another Mill Valley Planning Commission story, page 44.)

A major street plan for North Ridge, prepared by engineers Bala and Strandgaard of Corte Madera, has been presented to the two other cities and the county for review in preparation for a joint workshop session the commission hopes to hold, according to Harvey E. Bragdon, planning director. A date for the workshop has not been set.

The planning commission, meeting Monday night, urged the other jurisdictions to delay approval of developments on North Ridge until the street plan is adopted, Bragdon said.

Commissioners noted the urgency for a formal plan for the ridge, coordinated and agreed to by all four jurisdictions, Bragdon said.

The plan, presented Monday by Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala, calls for a major arterial from Camino Alto on the Corte Madera side of the ridge to the Old Mountain Railroad right-of-way on Mount Tamalpais. The arterial, designated as North Ridge Road, would wander along both sides of the ridge in and out of the city limits of Mill Valley, Corte Madera and Larkspur.

Mill Valley street connections to the road would be made off Sarah Drive, East and West Glen drives, Tartan Avenue, Cushing Drive, Upland Avenue, the Blithedale Trail Road and the Mountain Railroad grade. Summit Avenue in Corte Madera also would connect with the road on the north side of the ridge.

In a related action, the commission urged Corte Madera not to approve a proposed Redwood Heights subdivision on the Corte Madera side of the ridge pending approval of the street plan.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

SYCAMORE AVENUE — Recommended the city council approve plans for the first phase of the Sycamore Avenue extension project as soon as possible.

RECREATION CENTER — Delayed a recommendation on the future permanent site for the community recreation center pending a workshop session, to be held within the next two weeks, with the city's parks and recreation commission, the Mill Valley miniboard of the Human Rights Commission and teen-age representatives. Bragdon had recommended the center be relocated in the city's future marina and that it be built on piles extending into the yacht harbor area.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a request by L. B. Fleischman to divide property at Locust and Sycamore avenues into two lots, having a minimum of 6,000 square feet.

Board's Agenda

Acceptance of four portable classrooms already in use is scheduled for the Larkspur School District board's 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the district office, 20 Magnolia Avenue. The 1967-68 school audit will also be reviewed by the board.

Mill Valley Tavern Looted By Burglar

Burglars took an undetermined amount of money from the Old Mill Tavern, 106 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, between 2:15 and 5:30 a.m. today, police reported.

State Blasts NWP Abandonment Try

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Efforts by Northwestern Pacific Railway to abandon service in southern Marin have been blasted by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The commission argued the line from Larkspur to Sausalito is necessary for public convenience in a brief filed this week with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The utilities commission, answering arguments of the railroad, contended the branch line is operated at a profit: that repairs called necessary by the railroad exceed reasonable requirements; that rail shippers rely on continued service, and that the Marin County Transit District would be burdened if the line is abandoned.

Noting Northwestern Pacific Railway claimed losses on the South Marin leg of $86,520 in 1966; $57,758 in 1967, and $58,390 for the first nine months of 1968, the utilities commission pointed out the figures are "seriously overstated."

Included as "avoidable" expenses were the cost of annual interest on cash returns from nondeferred and investment portions of branch rehabilitation costs, the commission said.

"Such figures cannot be considered out-of-pocket expenses incurred from the operation of the line," the commission said. The brief called the expenses a return on investment.

The railway's expenses are also overstated by including items of capital expenditure within a claimed "deferred maintenance" expense, utilities commission attorneys said.

Testimony by the railroad "clearly reveals (it) has proposed a complete rebuilding and renewal of every major aspect of its branch far in excess of a standard required for normal maintenance and repair," the brief stated.

The brief pointed out the railroad had failed for nine years to do needed work and urged the Interstate Commerce Commission not to permit the railway to receive an advantage through "its own careless inaction."

Reducing the "deferred maintenance" expense by the amount attributable to capital improvement or rejecting it altogether would put the railroad in a profitable position for 1966 and the nine months of 1968 and increase its profit measurably for 1967, the utilities commission said.

The brief criticized the railroads attempt to justify abandonment on the basis of need of a new concrete lined tunnel, estimated at $1,061,905 "without having even studied the feasibility of repairing."

The utilities commission included engineering testimony given in the November hearings by Hawke Engineers that the tunnel could be repaired to last at least 10 years for $36,290.

The state of disrepair is due in part to the railroad failing to properly maintain the drainage system, the brief said.

The brief recounted testimony of five rail shippers on the Sausalito Branch, noting some face a move if rail service is abandoned. Abandonment would also affect the future commercial and industrial development of Sausalito, the utilities commission contended.

The commission maintained the railroad's decline in shipping is exaggerated and that the railroad has never done anything to promote shipping on the branch.

"It is no exaggeration to suggest (the railroad) has been intent upon abandoning Northwestern Pacific Railway property for at least nine years and has done everything possible while running its branch to see that this end came about," the brief stated.

Outlining testimony by Seymour Kashin, manager of the Marin Transit District, the commission reported he said studies so far indicate serious consideration to use the right of way for either rail or bus purposes.

Kashin also said he understands the railway plans to develop the line for commercial purposes, financial, practical and legal handicaps to acquiring the right of way, the brief said.

The brief and one filed by the railroad are now in the hands of ICC examiner Samuel C. Shoup who said it would take 60 to 90 days to issue his recommendation.

In 1960 an ICC examiner ruled in favor of abandonment but was overturned by an ICC subcommittee.

Granada School Dedication Set

Omego, the fifth and final classroom cluster of Granada School, will be dedicated at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school on El Camino Drive in Corte Madera.

Omega students will participate in brief dedication ceremonies and then host an open house until 9 p.m. Corte Madera City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher and Suzie Morse, an Omega student who won a contest to guess the building's completion date, will cut the ceremonial ribbon.

The cluster will house 120 students, ages 9-11.

Researchers' Building Plan Given Nod

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved plans for a testing and research building, an office building and a 19-unit studio apartment complex.

The research building of the Schlienger Engineering Co., to be located at 41 Mark Drive, will conduct testing to develop new techniques for producing the metal, titanium. The building will be constructed in two phases, with the ultimate area totaling 4,800 square feet. The windowless structure will stand 36 feet high.

Nipper and Marchant will build a T-shaped two-story office building containing about 1,800 square feet at 1475 Second Street. City Planner Hebert G. Hotchner told the commission that the building's driveway should be wider and have fewer parking places than proposed in the applicant design. The commission agreed with the staff's recommendation after they were told cars might be "clobbered" because of a lack of space to turn in the driveway.

The Aldersly Senior Citizen Building owned by Rex Allen and Associates and located at 326 Mission Avenue, will add 19 studio apartments under their master plan approved in 1963.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

SANITARY BUILDING — Approved a request by the Marin Sanitary Service, Inc. to make an addition to existing carport walls of the Marin Sanitary Service Building, 112 Front Street.

TEXT AMENDMENT—Sent a request to the city council for amendment of a zoning ordinance to delete circuses and carnivals from those uses for which a permit is required.

Reports Car Taken

Robert S. Carlsen of 21 Portofino Road, San Rafael, reported yesterday his 1967 red Volkswagen, license UAR 240, was taken yesterday while it was parked in the lot at San Rafael High School, police said.

Trades Council Backs Torget For Board Jobs

The Marin County Building and Construction Trades Council last night endorsed Henry M. Torget of Novato, a member of the carpenters' union, for vacancies on the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority boards.

Council members will ask the Board of Supervisors to appoint Torget to replace Herman J. Hale of Larkspur, who has announced he does not wish to be reappointed to either board when his terms expires.

Hale's housing authority term expires Jan. 24 and his redevelopment agency term expires April 17.

Council members last night also learned that the carpenters' and laborers' unions have had rather high unemployment rates this month because of the weather. The carpenters reported 120 men unemployed yesterday and the laborers, 105.

Streisand Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—Entertainer Barbra Streisand has been named "Entertainer of the Year" by the Friars Club, the famous all-male theatrical organization. She is the second woman to be so chosen in the club's 65-year history. Dinah Shore received the honor in 1960.

Hub Park-Rec Winter Program Now Under Way

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department's winter program, now under way, includes a tiny tot program and creative dancing, according to Frank L. Quinn, director.

The tiny tot sessions are held Mondays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to noon at the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church. Creative dancing instruction, for children four to six, will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturdays at the Isabel Cook School auditorium.

Playground programs are at Wade Thomas School Mondays and Fridays, at Yolansdale School Tuesdays and Thursdays, and Isabel Cook only when there is sufficient attendance.

Folk guitar classes will be from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays starting Jan. 29 at Wade Thomas School. Story hour is held Thursday afternooons at the San Anselmo Library.

Radioactivity Called Mistake

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese scientists admitted today they had mistakenly reported increased radioactivity in Yokosuka after the nuclear-powered U.S. submarine Plunger arrived in the Japanese port Monday.

The Science and Technology Agency said it was not the Plunger but static from a radar installation on a Japanese defense vessel that caused indicators on nuclear monitors to shoot up 2.5 times above normal.

The Plunger's four-day visit is the first time a U.S. nuclear-powered submarine has visited Yokosuka since May. The government claimed a visit by the nuclear sub Swordfish caused increased radioactivity in Sasebo harbor, and asked the United States to halt such visits until monitoring equipment was installed.

Biafran Benefit Fair Next Month

A benefit fair for Biafra will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 8 at the Little Theatre of Sir Francis Drake High School.

The show will include a program of dancing, skits and music, as well as an exhibit of arts and crafts. Proceeds of the event will go to the Bay Area Committee to Save Biafran Children.

ARREST SCENE VISITED

Judge Harold J. Haley (right) of Marin Superior Court visits the Richardson Bay retreat of nightlife entrepreneur Frank Werber, accused of possessing and cultivating marijuana. The judge, accompanied by lawyers and court attaches, inspected the showplace home yesterday for a first hand view of scenes testified about in a hearing on Werber's motion to suppress evidence. The hearing was continued until Tuesday for arguments by the lawyers. (Independent-Journal photo)

Peace March Trial Postponed At Base

The court-martial of Airman Michael Locks on charges of wearing his uniform in the Oct. 12 military men's peace march in San Francicso has been postponed from tomorrow to Feb. 4, according to Hamilton Air Force Base officials.

The court-martial was originally to start on Dec. 16. Lock's attorney said he needs more time to prepare his case.

Electric Golf Cart Takes On New Status

The Novato City Council struck a blow for country club living last night, making it legal to drive electric golf carts on some city streets.

The unanimous vote was a special favor to the dwellers of the Marin Golf and Country Club tract, whose streets were the only ones set aside for electric cart use.

The action really brings the golfers within the law, according to Clifford Temps, acting public works director. They have been driving the carts on the streets, anyway, he said.

The city has winked at this in the past, he said, but state law now authorizes the council to allow such vehicles on public roads within a half mile of a golf course.

Tne Novato City Council Also:

CATV — Instructed representatives of General Telephone and Electronic Communications Co. to do all within their power to provide cable television service to city residents, despite a Federal Communications Commission freeze on some installations.

MAYOR — Scheduled for Jan. 28 a council decision on a citizen recommendation that they call an election to determine if the city should chose its mayor separately from the council.

FREEWAY —Amended its freeway agreement with the state to realign Alice Street, making it intersect Franklin Avenue 140 feet north of the present intersection.

PLANNING — Referred to the city staff and planning commission for review a proposed law to allow creation of an area planning commission, composed of city and county representatives, to plan growth on the fringes of the city.

PARKING — Introduced an amendment to the zoning ordinance, requiring two offstreet parking places for each single family home. At least one of hhe spaces must be covered.

SIGNAL — Approved a $49,788 contract for traffic signals at Lamont Av Avenue and Highway 101, with the city to pay $11,400 and the state the remainder. Winning bid was from Steiny and Mitchell of San Francisco.

ROAD — Approved agreements with Santa Rosa Savings and Loan and Ben Ostlind, requiring them to install an access road behind their vacant lots between the savings and loan building and Denny's restaurant on Highway 101.

TRAFFIC — Restricted to two-hour parking the spaces on the north side of Vallejo Avenue from First Street to the highway and on the west side of San Marin Drive, in front of the administrative offices of San Marin High School.

COLLEGE — Approved a letter to the trustees of the Marin Junior College District, opposing accommodations for 5,000 students at the Kentfield campus. They fear this would delay for a year construction of the northern campus.

RESIGN — Received the resignation of Richard W. Caldwell from the Novato Ambulance Service Study Committee.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to recommend the appointment of James H. McCown of 17 Truman Drive to the Marin County Flood Control District board and appointed Planning Commissioner Robert Lagle to the city county planning council, with James Quesada to act as his alternate.

Booking Made On Bad Checks

David Allen Dewees, 41, of the San Rafael Inn, 865 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, was booked intto Marin County Jail on suspicion of passing worthless checks yesterday.

Police said Vandie Louise Price, an employee of the inn, reported Dewes had given her 10 checks and they were beginning to come back from the bank where his account was closed.

He was held in lieu of bail of $625 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Final Nod To $45,000 Ferry Study

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A $45,000 study of ferry transportation between Marin and San Francisco cleared its last hurdle yesterday with approval by the board of supervisors of a contract with Arthur D. Little Inc.

The study is to be financed jointly with the Marin County Transit District, and transit district directors yesterday also approved the contract. Both boards voted unanimously to approve the contract, which gives the firm four months to make the study.

Of the $45,000 fee, $15,000 is to be paid by the transit district and $30,000 by San Francisco.

Later yesterday, San Francisco City Atty. Thomas M. O'Connor issued an opinion that special legislation would be needed to allow the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to subsidize ferry service. His opinion confirmed that of the bridge district's attorney, Jerome B. White, who has ruled that bridge funds can be used for a bus system, but not for ferries.

If the ferry study finds that water transportation is feasible, then it is expected to be followed by a detailed — and more costly — study.

The San Francisco naval architectural firm of Morris Guralnick Associates Inc. will participate with Arthur D. Little Inc. in the study.

Archeological evidence indicates human beings inhabited California as long as 34,000 years ago.

4-H Sets Dates For Horse Show

The 19th annual Marin Mounted 4-H Club Junior Horse Show will be held at 9 a.m. Feb. 22 and 8:30 a.m. Feb. 23 at the Circle V Stables, northwest of Fairfax.

Col. David A. Watt of San Anselmo will be judge of the English division competition on Feb. 22 and Peter Lert of Los Gatos will be judge of the western competition, Feb. 23.

Entries must be filed by Feb. 16, and may be obtained through Barbie Jose, 99 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow.

Bel Marin Keys Wrestles Extra Dredging Problem

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District directors and the representatives of the Hydraulic Dredge firm of Oakland were unable last night to reach a decision on the amount of material to be dredged from the lagoons, according to publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

They tentatively set 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the community center for another meeting to try to resolve the question, she said.

The directors on Nov. 15, awarded a $53.775 contract to the dredging company to dredge the lagoons and waterways in the district.

"Since the company started dredging, it found that there was more material to be dredged than they originally figured," Mrs. Wrightsman said.

No estimate on the amount of additional materials or any additional cost has been made, she said.

The district has obtained a 17-acre site, in addition to the 40-acre site already prepared, for the dredgings, she said. Both sites are owned by Jack D. Kinney, she said.

William C. Hanson was elected chairman of the board, replacing James Zoeller, and Mrs. James Zoeller was reelected secretary, according to Mrs. Wrightsman.

Larkspur Chamber Leader Is Renamed

New vice president is Linda Nicol. Jim Osborn is treasurer, and Sue Schaefer was re-elected secretary. Installation will be at the noon meeting Feb. 11 at the Blue Rock restaurant, Larkspur.

Farm Bureau Slates Annual Gathering

The Marin County Farm Bureau last night set Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. at Point Reyes Lions Club, as the time and place for the organization's annual meeting.

Sirhan's Plot Capability Could Be Key For Defense

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The defense strategy at the trial of Sirhan B. Sirhan emerged today as a contention the Arab immigrant did not have the intelligence to plot and deliberately carry out the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sirhan was in almost a jolly mood when he entered the courtroom today. He glanced to the back of the courtroom and saw Detroit attorney Abdeen Jabara, who is of Arabian descent and who is helping the defense.

"Abdeen, how is your health today," Sirhan called out in Arabian. Jabara, also in Arabian, replied, "fine."

Shortly after today's session began computer programmer Lawrence K. Morgan was taken into the judges' chambers for executive questioning which all prospective jurors undergo about whether they have formed an opinion of the trial based on publicity.

A lawyer for the 24-year-old Sirhan told newsmen yesterday the "main posture" of the defense would be that his "diminished capacity" precluded the premeditation necessary for a conviction on first degree murder charges and the death sentence.

Emile Zola Berman, a New York attorney, revealed Sirhan had undergone hypnosis, ink blot tests and other psychological and psychiatric examination by experts which would be introduced as evidence of his lack of "intellectual content."

Four jurors, all of them women, were tentatively seated by late yesterday. Among them were a widow, a single girl, a married woman and a divorcee.

Piggy Banks Taken At Petaluma Home

Four piggy banks were stolen from the home of David Delk, 560 Ely Boulevard South, Petaluma, sometime late Monday afternoon. The contents of the children's banks totaled between $15 and $20. A rear sliding door had been pried open, police reported.

During the same time period, prowlers' footprints were discovered at the home of Thomas Dearborn, 501 Ely Boulevard, South. No entry was made.

Hub Councilmen Vote Apartments Approval

Approval of a 22-unit apartment development at 84 Madrone Avenue was unanimously given following a public hearing last night by the San Anselmo City Council.

Applicant Emily Merriman, seeking the rezoning of the property from single family to planned development, originally had asked for 24 units, but agreed before the planning commission on Dec. 16 to eliminate two units, and to dedicate frontage on Madrone and Center Boulevard for possible street widening.

The project involves 33 off-street parking spaces.

At a second public hearing, the council denied by a 4-1 vote an appeal by the U.S. Franchise Corp. to construct and operate a sandwich shop at 275 Greenfield Avenue. Councilman Robert M. Scott voted for the request because, he said, the area is zoned commercial and the plan was acceptable.

The planning commission denied the request Dec. 2, on arguing it would create an additional traffic hazard. The motion to uphold the denial came from councilman James F. Reed on the same grounds.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

VARIANCE — Upheld the appeal of Ralph W. Mihan, 58 Yolanda Drive, of a planning commission approval for a four-foot side yard setback by Dennis K. Shine to add a room on a home at 54 Yoland Drive. Mihan said the addition would deprive his home of natural light.

SIGN — Approved a request by the Union Oil Co. for a free-standing sign at 930 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

CLAIM — Denied and referred to its insurance carrier a $2,000 damage claim by Dr. Robert L. Edelstein, 891 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, for alleged damage to his property Sept. 27 when a water line broke.

PARKING — Approved two-hour parking for two spaces in front of the Sunnyside Nursery, 130 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

SOLICITING —Granted permission to Synanon foundation to solicit funds in San Anselmo for a rehabilitation program.

APPROPRIATIONS — Approved spending $16,307 from reserve funds as supplemental appropriations for street repair work including a slide correction on Woodside Drive.

HEALTH — Approved a request from the county health officer that the food sanitation ordinance be amended to require the approval of the department of building plans for construction or remodeling of food establishments.

SIDEWALK — Approved spending $1,850 for sidewalk repair on San Anselmo Avenue near Redwood Road.

ATTENDANCE — Agreed that a laxity exists in attendance by some members of the city's various commissions and boards, deciding that any member who in the future misses three meetings a year without good reason should be replaced.

Commission To Study Cost Of Fire Protection

A committee of the Marinwood Fire Commission will review the fire department budget and see how much Upper Lucas Valley should pay for fire protection, commissioners decided Monday night.

Commissioners Ron Marinoff and Dale R. Schmid were appointed to make the study and report back at the next commission meeting on Feb. 10.

Acting chairman Robert J. Cawley announced that the commission will meet hereafter on the second Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the community center. Until now, it met on the second Tuesday at the firehouse.

Cawley said the commission will also begin working on the 1969-70 budget at next month's meeting. The fire department budget this year is $72,000.

Hearing Held On Marijuana

Three persons arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on charges of marijuana possession live at 79 Live Oak Avenue, Fairfax.

Council Asks Tam District Split Caution

The San Anselmo City Council last night urged the Marin County Committee on School District Organization to make a fuller study before adopting any proposal for Tamalpais High School District unification.

In a unanimous vote on a resolution by Councilman James F. Reed, the council opposed any plan that would split up the district, which includes the Sir Francis Drake High School area, until the committee "has studied all reasonable alternative proposals submitted in order to best serve public education in Marin County."

The resolution also asks that the committee eliminate any proposals that create new districts which are not approximately equal in educational opportunity "as well as assessed value per student," and that the committee make public at least one month prior to making any tentative unification proposal the tax that would be required in each proposed district.

Purpose of this, according to the resolution, is to assure each proposed new district the same education level that the whole Tamalpais District now has.

The resolution also asks for figures on the bonding capacity of each proposed new district.

It resulted from the possibility that the committee may recommend to the state Department of Education that the district be divided into smaller districts. The Drake High School area has a lower assessed valuation than Tamalpais or Redwood Highs, and San Anselmo area residents have expressed fear that a division would result in a lower quality of education.

The resolution was passed after a three-way discussion between Reed, Mary Olive, San Anselmo resident and active foe of splitting the district, and Mrs. Rachel Conner, school district organization committee chairman who said she attended the meeting last night at the request of Mrs. Olive.

Mrs. Conner told the council that the committee, when it meets at 8 p.m. today at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, plans to adopt a tentative proposal of unification study in the Tamalpais District and the San Rafael High School District.

he said the council was unduly upset, that the tentative proposal can include any of about 10 suggested unification plans, but that the plan can be abandoned by the committee after a study and that an entirely new tentative plan can then be taken up.

She said state law requires that a tentative proposal be adopted before a serious study can be undertaken. According to Mrs. Conner, the figures on tax rates and bonding capacities are not yet available but would be available before the county committee's public hearings on the tentative proposal are held.

Probation Ordered

Morrison Smith, 19, of Marin City, has been sentenced to a year in jail for his part in the burglary of the San Geronimo Golf Course clubhouse June 13. He was placed on three years of probation by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Drake Widening Plan Rejected In 3-0 Vote

A proposal that a portion of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard be widened to four lanes with no parking and with only a three-foot planter strip on each side was rejected by the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The council is seeking a means of increasing the traffic capacity from the Hub to Fairfax city limits.

The 3-0 vote came on a motion by Councilman James F. Reed, who termed the plan "unfeasible and unacceptable." Councilman Robert M. Scott abstained from voting because, he said, he felt the issue was not properly included on the agenda, although Mayor Duane C. Ragan held that it was proper. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro also abstained, blaming insufficient time to study recommendations of the planning commission and City Engineer Charles L. Leitzell.

The proposal, made by the traffic consultant firm of Whitlew, Hoffman and Albritton on Dec. 5, also was opposed by the planning commission. John F. West, commission chairman, told the council that the proposal would not provide adequate screening for adjacent homes.

It also would eliminate all curb parking, said he, and would create traffic hazards when vehicles attempted to use driveways.

The rejection is for the specific plan, and does not eliminate the possibility of having a four-lane widening project for the boulevard, West said.

The council agreed to ask Paul C. Zucker, county planning director, to help make a study of the widening problem and the need for improving the Hub intersection area, and to attend a public hearing at a date to be set.

Oberlin College in 1841 became the first to grant a Bachelor of Arts degree to women.

Demo Party Set At Muir Beach

The Muir Beach Democratic Club will hold a membership meeting and fund-raising party at 3 p.m. on Saturday at the Muir Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian F. Knox, Seascape Drive.

Hans Schiller of Mill Valley, chairman of the resolutions and issues committee of the California Democratic Council, will speak about the council's program for 1969. John Collier of Muir Beach, assistant professor of anthropology at San Francisco State College, will lead a discussion of the strike at the college.

Dr. James Bakhtiar, a director of the Muir Beach Community Services District, will discuss the community's water problems.

Refreshments and a potluck dinner will follow the program.

Funds raised will be used to send delegates to the CDC convention March 7, 8 and 9 in Monterey.

The normal diet of the field cricket is grass but he will eat holes in clothing and paper.

Aviation Advisers Unable To Meet

The Marin County Aviation Commission did not meet last night because terms of four commissioners have expired, leaving only three commissioners legally in office.

Marin County Board of Supervisors must reappoint or name new commissioners to the four posts now held by Tris M. Coffin, Benjamin R. Ostlind, Douglas M. Christensen and Melville Dickson. Coffin, who was chairman last year, will not seek reappointment.

Supervisors announced that anyone interested in serving on the aviation commission should contact the clerk of the supervisors at the Civic Center before Jan. 21, when the appointments will be made.

Window Vandalism

Three windows were broken in the First Methodist Church, 9 Ross Valley Drive, San Rafael, during the past week, Earl W. Burt of the church reported yesterday. Damage was estimated at $112.

Sausalito Waterfront Plan Again Reviewed

Sausalito's proposed central waterfront plan was reviewed again by the city council and planning commission last night but consultant George Mader said he would have to bring in more specific figures on use densities and parking before major policy questions could be answered by the council.

The plan reviewed last night differed little from the version shown the council Dec. 17, but was in two forms—development plans proposed by property owners, and development suggested by the consultant firm of William T. Spangle Jr. and Associates.

The firm must answer these policy questions before the preliminary plan is worked up into a final general development plan for council approval, Mader said:

1. What concessions the city should make in allowing greater development of "inboard parcels bayward of Bridgeway to compensate owners for keeping "outboard" parcels in open water.
2. How replacement parking should be established for present parking on the Sandspit which is to become a public park.
3. What compensation should be made to Madden and Lewis to keep in open water an area the firm leases from the city between the Spinnaker and the ferryboat Berkeley.
4. What intensity of use should be allowed in the plan north of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor.

The council also must decide whether a proposed park and lagoon should be created outboard of Humboldt Avenue between Litho and Bee streets.

Mayor Earl N. Dunphy objected to the plan's proposal to block jarts of Caledonia Street to vehicles, and said one laundry in business since before the turn of the century would be put out of business by such a move.

No residential uses in the area, houseboats to be a possible conditional use, streets running bayward from Bridgeway to be developed for water access and views, the Sausalito Yacht Club building to be moved from the end of Johnson Street, and a planting strip to be installed on both sides of Bridgeway.

Carl W. Spring of the Sausalito Citiizens Council read several plan points the council wanted included:

Continuous public access along all the waterfront, minimum filling outboard of Humboldt, no closing of Caledonia Street, the Sandspit road or the park plaza area, protection of the Humboldt right of way for future street development, definitions of "high density" and "waterfront" in the plan, and notification of property owners on lower Princess Street, Caledonia Street, and Bridgeway of proposed plans for their areas.

A bitter comment came from Elmore Hutchison of Sausalito Properties, which has sold part of its extensive offshore holdings. The master plan has taken so long, he said, that the firm is selling most of its property and development will be in small parcels. For 10 years the firm had plans vetoed by the city, Hutchison said, and finally gave up and started selling.

Another member of the audience of 20 called a proposal to turn Parking Lot No. 1 into a park "nothing short of insanity" that would strangle downtown business.

The plan proposes to replace that parking with a parking area on the Sandspit and with increased parking space further north. Sausalito Yacht Harbor also would fill an area to provide 150 parking spaces for its 450 berths. The yacht harbor would expand into two underwater blocks bounded by Dolphin and Johnson streets and Donahue and Railroad avenues.

North of the yacht harbor, new development would be held close to the present shoreline with minimum fill, and the city could grant concessions to developers to maintain open water on the bay side.

Such concessions might take the form of decreased parking requirements, increased lot coverage or increased height limits, Mader said.

The plan calls for a pedestrian boardwalk along the shore for the entire length of the central waterfront, Vina Del Mar Park to Napa Street.

Spangle said his firm will present the preliminary study plan to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, the Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Department of the Interior before returning to the city with more advanced plans.

Tam Rec Program Helped 600 Children In Eight Days

Directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District last night reviewed the recreation program started during Christmas vacation and found it highly successful, board member Gale E. Bishel reported.

Six hundred children took part in eight days despite bad weather, Bishel said.

The board hired John Aspiris, College of Marin student, as recreation director at $3 an hour, and Susan Rocha, a Tamalpais Valley girl, as assistant director at $2 an hour.

The program will continue at Tamalpais Valley School after school hours and during summer vacation.

The board approved in principle a proposal by Aspiris for weekend back pack trips into the Sierra during summer months. Minimum age for the trips would be 12.

The board also discussed its parks and recreation master plan, but was told plan maps will not be ready until the end of the week. The plan is to be discussed by the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at its Feb. 6 meeting.

Trio Is Named To Investigate Land Purchase

A three-man committee of the Bolinas Harbor District board was named last night to discuss with Marin County officials joint purchase of the 35-acre William Albright property on the west shore of Bolinas Lagoon.

The county parks and recreation department asked the district to help buy the land, which was earmarked for eventual public ownership in a joint agreement two years ago. Commissioners Thomas J. Barfield, Archie A. Goldsberry and John H. Middleton were named to the committee.

In election of 1969 officers, Barfield was named president of the board; Thomas R. Tawns, vice president, and Mrs. Frances Stewart, secretary.

The board approved in principle district participation in a six-month wave gauge study in Bolinas Bay to be conducted by Prof. J. W. Johnson of the University of California at Berkeley. The district would contribute $6,000 to the program's cost.

Program approval is subject to clearance by Marin County as part of the district-county joint studies program.

The wave gauge equipment will be lent without charge by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Transit Committee Chairman Is Named

The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday named Belvedere architect Allan Steinau chairman of a committee to study a transit system between downtown Tiburon and Highway 101, Ben A. Farlatti, president, reported.

Chamber members at their monthly general meeting also endorsed board recommendations that the group develop a cleanup and beautification program and a safe pedestrian path for school children along Tiburon Boulevard during 1969, Farlatti said.

Twin Brothers Cited For BB Gun Assault

A neighborhood argument among four boys yesterday resulted in 14-year-old twin brothers being cited to juvenile probation department for assault on the other two with BB guns, according to Novato Police.

Stephen C. McKamey, 12, of 1098 Simmons Lane and Gary L. Miller, 14, of 18 Kristin Lane, both Novato, were playing at the Novato Creek bridge on Simmons Lane about 4 p.m. when the brothers rode by on their bicycle.

Miller was hit on the left arm by a shot from a BB gun fired by one of the brothers as they rode by, according to police reports. Miller was not injured.

When the brothers returned a few minutes later, McKamey pulled one of them off the bicycle and held his gun hand on the ground with his knee, according to police. The other brother then shot McKamey six times in the back of the head with a BB gun, police reported. McKamey was treated by his doctor for the wounds, according to police.

Cited to juvenile probation department were Robert L. and Richard M. Clark, of 12 Nova Lane, Novato, according to the report.

Larkspur Planners Approve Quarry Plan

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night granted a use permit to the Hutchinson Co. for a quarry operation and mixing plant at 65 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and approved the company's architecutral plan.

Application by Robert Busse for a lot split at 160 Locust Avenue was approved. The commission recommended to the city council that an amendment be made to the subdivision ordinance to require all new subdivisions to have underground utilities.

Teen-Center Location Is Still Pending

The Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission last night heard that the Northwestern Pacific Railroad has not yet given permission for a coffee house for teen-agers to be located on its property opposite the Tiburon ferry dock.

Secretary Wendy Buchen said representatives of Belvedere and Tiburon youth groups have asked the railroad for permission to place the ark, The Mermaid, donated by Mrs. Harry B. Allen of Belvedere to the city for a youth center, on the railroad property.

Commissioners also discussed the city's proposed master plan for park and recreation facilities with San Francisco landscape architect M. Carlisle Becker of Tiburon, Mrs. Buchen said.

Becker agreed to prepare a master plan report with policy recommendations, a basic schematic plan and additional conceptual sketches, she said. The city has budgeted $2,000 for the project.

Cotati Trustees Request Program On Drug Abuse

The Cotati School District board made plans last night to develop an educational program on drug abuse.

Board members agreed with President Lester H. Peterson that information about the dangers of drugs must be presented on the elementary school level. Superintendent Duncan Coleman was directed to prepare a curriculum.

The Cotati School District board also:

BUILDING REPORT — Heard a report that recent heavy rains have slowed construction at the Thomas Page School, but all structual steel is in place.

NEW SITE — Scheduled a meeting of the building committee for sometime next month to study new school sites.

TRIPS — Changed policy on field trips to require that students be transported in buses rather than by private automobile to meet changing insurance regulations.

U.S. Supreme Court Justices are appointed for life and are removable only for "high crimes and misdeamenors."

Seven Enter Competition For Orators

The annual American Legion high school oratorical contest, plagued in the past with few entries, will have seven contestants tonight in the board of supervisors chambers at Marin Civic Center.

The event, at 7 p.m., is co-sponsored by the Marin County American Legion posts and the county schools office. Robert E. Spain, director of administrative services for the county schools office, said the seven entrants are from San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato high schools.

He said a revision of rules this year to permit more than one student to enter from each school probably is responsible for the improved attendance. Last year, only one entrant appeared. The contestant, Ronald Engel, then a sophomore at Terra Linda High, was awarded a gold cup as first prize.

The previous year also saw only one finalist.

The theme is the U.S. Constitution and obligations of the citizen to the government. The winner will compete in the Legion's District Five contest Jan 26 in Napa. The national contest will follow in Boise, Idaho.

College Seat Ballot Asked For April 15

The Petaluma Board of Education last night called for a trustee election April 15 for representatives to the Sonoma County Junior College District and to the Sonoma County Board of Education.

Lesly H. Meyer, district superintendent, said that Brand D. T. Johnson whose term expires June 30 has filed for reelection to the board of education.

Also expiring is the term of John Lounibos on the junior college governing board. Lounibos, who serves as chairman of the board, has not yet declared his candidacy.

Meyer noted that if no others file by Feb. 20, the county elections clerk can declare the men elected.

The election for members of the Petaluma Board of Education will be part of the June 10 municipal election. The terms of Dr. William H. Kortum, Clay Thompson and Sol Fishman will expire.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

PROGRAMS — Approved resolutions to continue participation in federal and state financed programs in the field of counseling, reading, in-service training, libraries and vocational education.

TITLE — Considered and delayed for further study the elevation of business manager George T. Castleberry to title of assistant superintendent for business and classified services. If approved, Castleberry would serve as acting superintendent in Meyer's absence.

BUDGET — Approved budget transfers made necessary by salary raises approved Nov. 12. Fishman suggested negotiations with teachers' groups should begin earlier so a more realistic budget can be prepared. Meyer agreed, saying steps are being taken in that direction.

FUTURE — Heard report from Meyer that his recommendation on the showing of the "Time of Your Life" film in conjunction with family life classes will be given at the Jan. 28 meeting.

Novato Employee Officers Picked

John Perry, an engineering aide with the public works department, has been elected president of the Novato City Employees Association.

Police Sgt. Maurice D. Lafferty was elected vice president and Mildred Isom, steno-clerk with the public works department, secretary-treasurer.

THE PENNEY STORY

Why make such a big deal out of quality?

By ROBERTA NASH

I asked a Penney store manager the question once and when he finally decided I was serious, he said, "If I could use only one word to describe the phenomenon of Penney's, I'd pick the word, quality.

"Mr. Penney has always been a fanatic on the subject," he continued. "They say the only thing that still makes Mr. Penney angry is when someone suggests we compromise Penney quality to make a lower price."

Bus Lanes Legislation In Assembly

IJ Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to reserve freeway lanes for buses—long proposed as a solution to Marin's transportation problems — has been introduced by a Southern California legislator.

The bill (SB 43), by Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando authorizes the State Department of Public Works to permit "exclusive or preferential use of freeway lanes for mass public transportation" by both public and private agencies.

It stipulates that an agency getting a reserved freeway lane must "give adequate assurance" that it will continue its service and "agree to maintain a satisfactory level of service in terms of comfort, convenience and fare structure."

The department would retain its power to determine how the reserved lane would be used.

Proponents of bus transportation long have maintained that buses will not have a real chance to succeed without a reserved lane to free them from automobile congestion.

Carrell has had similar bills in the past two legislative sessions, but they were defeated by highway interests who oppose any proposal to use highway funds or facilities for the advantage of public transit.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, also is considering a similar bill.

School Traffic Signs Approved

The Kentfield School District board has approved installation of traffic signs on the Wolfe Grade campus to restrict traffic to school business.

Location of the signs was left to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

The board, meeting Monday, also renewed a student teaching agreement with San Francisco College for women, accepted the resignation of Richard Millikan as Spanish teacher, and hired Betty Clair as a business office secretary at $480 a month.

Battle Seen On Garbage Franchise

Several garbage collection firms indicated yesterday that a battle is developing for exclusive franchise rights in West Marin.

The board of supervisors postponed discussion until 1:45 p.m. Feb. 4 at the request of the low bidder and the residents of West Marin.

The low bidder, West Marin-San Geronimo Valley Garbage Disposal Co., offered to collect at the basic rate of $1.25 per month per 30-gallon container. County Administrative Analyst Michael A. Chrystal recommended that the low bid be rejected because this is a firm which suspended service last May and caused a garbage crisis.

Next low bidder was Larry's Sanitary Service of Petaluma, which offered service at $1.50 per 30-gallon container.

Then came the third low bidder, Joseph J. Garbarino, who offered the service at $2.24 per contained. Garbarino's attorney, Albert Bianchi, served notice yesterday he will fight the other two bids on grounds that no garbage firms in various cities in the county now collect at less than $2 per month.

Seven bids were submitted for the exclusive garbage franchise in Inverness-Point Reyes Station, San Geronimo Valley, and developed areas of Drake's Bay. The highest bid was $2.75 per month.

Bare-Bones Budget Gets Board's Nod

The new Marin County Board of Supervisors will try to hold the line at the present $2.27 tax rate and lower if possible, just as last year's board pledged a $2.30 rate and managed to drop it by three cents.

A policy statement promising a bare-bones budget for 1969-70 fiscal year won unanimous approval yesterday on a motion by William A. Gnoss and a second by Louis H. Baar.

The statement, prepared by the County Administrator, calls for a budget that results in a tax rate not exceeding $2.27 and less if possible, and an emphasis on avoiding any increase in net county employment.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

COMMITTEES — Appointed Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Louis H. Baar to the City-County Planning Council and Michael Wornum as alternate; and asked Arrigoni to see if meeting conflicts can be eliminated so that he can represent the supervisors on the Economic Opportunity Council.

MENTAL HEALTH—Asked for background information on two nominees tio the Mental Health Adivsory Board. Supervisor Gnoss nominated former Supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, and Supervisor Arrigoni nominated Dante Vagnani of San Rafael. Vagnani is a wine distributor in San Francisco, past president of Marin Aid for Retarded Children, and active in MARC for years.

TOMALES BONDS—Sold $46,000 in Tomales Joint Union High School District bonds to Bateman Eichler-Hill Richards of San Francisco at 5 per cent interest, minus a $23 premium which brought the interest to 4.984 per cent. Bank America bid at a straight 5 per cent.

BEL AIRE ESTATES—Voted unanimously to set up a county service area at Bel Aire Estates to finance improvements on a half-acre neighborhood park surrounded by Karen Way and Claire Way. Eight residents spoke in favor of the service area. Two opponents, armed with petitions signed by 140 residents, said they don't want to pay for improving and maintaining the park.

WORKABLE PROGRAM—Asked the county administrator to set up a workshop session to thrash out the question of who should serve as the official advisory committee for the "Workable Program for Community Development", a document required annually before the county qualifies for federal housing grants. The Marin Council for Civic Affairs now serves as advisory committee.

LANDSCAPING — Awarded a [illegible] contract to Christner Planting Co. of Berkeley to landscape the interior of the Hall of Justice. Christner's was the lowest of three bids, which ranged to [illegible].

COURTHOUSE SALE — Approved a [illegible] outlay to join San Rafael in a study of parking and traffic problems in the downtown area in the hope that this would facilitate sale of the courthouse square.

LEGISLATION — Agreed to push for new legislation which would permit the state gasoline tax, which can now be used for roadways, to be used for various forms of transportation. The suggestion came from Mrs. John F. West of San Anselmo.

MICROFILM — Contracted with Remington Rand Office Systems, lowest of six bidders, to furnish microfilming for the Department of Public Works at [illegible] per thousand images.

CLAIMS — Rejected two claims alleging brutality by sheriff's deputies. [illegible] of San Francisco seeks [illegible] for groin, head and face injuries allegedly sustained in county jail last Nov. 18. [illegible] of Fresno seeks [illegible] for alleged assault by Deputy Sheriff [illegible] of Stinson Beach last Oct. 18.

Marin Gives McNear's Fire Station The Ax

The one-man county fire station at McNear's brickyard serving Bayside Acres, will be disbanded and transferred to the Lucas Valley substation, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided in a bizarre 4 to 1 vote yesterday.

Chairman John F. McInnis, who declared he can no longer justify keeping the one-man station at McNear's, cast the lone dissenting vote to the surprise of his colleagues.

McInnis said the had fought for retention of the one-man station as long as possible but now finds that rental space for the truck is not available, and the equipment is not suited for protection of residential areas like Bayside Acres. He explained that Bayside Acres should improve its water lines and get protection from San Rafael.

Louis H. Baar, San Rafael city councilman until last year, reported that fire hydrants at Bayside Acres are two-inch standup pipes that cannot be used by modern fire trucks. "If hooked up, the pumper would suck up the whole pipe and all," said Baar.

Since Bayside Acres is in his area, McInnis said he would not move to disband the fire unit, "but I won't oppose it."

Michael Wornum moved to discontinue the fire unit at McNear's, and Arrigoni seconded the motion. Chairman McInnis called for a voice vote and got four ayes. Thereupon, McInnis announced: "For the sheer technicality of it, I'll vote no."

Stereo Is Stolen From Marin Firm

Tim R. DeYoung of D and D Car Stereo, 1417 Fourth Street, San Rafael, reported yesterday a demonstrator stereo valued at $50 had been taken from the store.

Police are seeking an 18 to 22-year-old man, about 6 feet tall and weighing 160 pounds who was reportedly seen carrying the stereo from the store.

Pair Returns Girl, But No Ransom Cash Received

WHITTIER (AP) — "Two bed men" who kidnaped Paula Ann McGinnis released the two-and-one-half-year-old girl unharmed last night without receiving any ransom.

Her father, Frank McGinnis, said he received a telephone call demanding $200,000 ransom a short time after two men, posing as telephone repairmen, abducted the tot earlier in the day. The left the housekeeper bound.

"Two bad men took me," the girl told her parents after she was found wandering along a street in nearby LaMirada less than 12 hours after her abduction.

"They apparently chickened out," said McGinnis, owner of a small tool and machine company.

McGinnis was at work and his wife was shopping when they learned of the kidnaping.

He said the first phone call came soon after he returned home.

"They told me the baby was all right, and to get $200,000 together," he said. "They called back three or four times, but didn't reply when we said, 'hello.' "

He said he received no instructions on how to pay the ransom. News of the abduction was carried widely but nothing was said of a ransom.

"They must have panicked when they heard nothing about the ransom," said McGinnis.

WATCHES TOW JOB—An unidentified girl riding along the Malibu beach watches as the wreckage of the SAS jetliner gets towed ashore. However, before the wreckage was brought in safely yesterday, it sank. (UPI Telephoto)

Height Of Doomed Jet At Crash Puzzle To Probers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Sverre Viking, proud ship of the Scandinavian Airlines fleet, should have been flying at 1,500 feet when it skidded into the Pacific.

Why wasn't it?

That was the big question facing federal investigators today as they pressed their inquiry into the Monday night crash of the DC8 jet as it approached International Airport in the rain.

Four were known dead; 11 missing and presumed dead. There were 30 survivors, plucked from the rainswept sea by small boats. Twenty-nine of them were injured.

The Sverre Viking, an $8 million plane, ended its 8,000-mile flight over the North Pole from Copenhagen in the Pacific shallows off Malibu Beach.

It sank finally in 60 feet of water yesterday afternoon at the edge of the surf as the Coast Guard tugboat Pendant tried to tow it ashore for investigation and salvage.

Agents for the National Transportation Safety Board and for the airline studied whether to try to lift it with a crane and barge.

The back half of its fuselage, carrying the plane's flight recorder, sank in 600 feet of water where it broke off when the plane hit the sea eight miles offshore.

Investigators said there was no way of knowing whether the missing were entombed in the tail section. They said it apparently sank immediately.

The chief investigator, William L. Lamb, said his team might use sonar and underwater television to locate it for raising.

Several survivors agreed there was no warning the plane was going down. One said he felt no dive. The pilot called his approach routine.

He did mention, however, "some difficulty with the landing gear." Investigators will have to determine whether that played a part in the tragedy.

Weather also might have been a factor. It was raining. There was overcast at 3,500 feet and scattered clouds at 1,700 and 1,200 feet.

Painting Classes Start Next Week

Painting classes for beginners and intermediates in all media will begin next Wednesday, sponsored by the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Classes will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday for six weeks at the center.

Advance registration is required and may be made by calling the center.

Hayakawa To Talk

S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College, will be guest speaker at the Mill Valley Lions Club at 7:45 p.m. Jan. 28 at the Mill Valley Golf clubhouse.

Music Teachers To Meet Monday

The monthly meeting of the Marin branch of the California Music Teachers Association will be held at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the home of Margaret Davis, 209 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael.

For the program Mrs. Davis and Trudi Sorensen will play Mozart's Two-Piano Concerto.

Choral Concert At Sonoma State

The Sonoma State College collegiate chorale and madrigal singers will perform at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Ives Hall, under the direction of E. Gardner Rust, the new director.

Rust, a Petaluma resident, is working on his doctorate at the University of California at Berkeley while a member of the Sonoma State music department.

Included in the chorale program will be "Modern Music" by William Billings; "The Three Peoples" by Joanne Feldman of the Sonoma State faculty and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson. Miss Feldman's composition is a setting of three poems from "Lord of the Rings" by J. R. R. Tolkien.

The madrigal singers composed of 14 students, will present a group of songs by American composers as well as Bantu and Hungarian folk songs.

Tickets will be available at the door or at the campus bookstore.

Catholic Service To Seat Officers

The Catholic Social Service of Marin will hold its annual installation dinner at 8 p.m. Friday at Lin Fa's restaurant in Terra Linda.

John R. Maurer has been elected chairman of the board of directors; Mrs. John T. Purcell, vice president; Mrs. Donald Kreps, secretary, and Alan D. Shattuck, treasurer.

The dinner will follow a 7 p.m. Mass at the Maurer home.

San Quentin Is Obsolete, Prison Overhaul Due, Lawmaker Says

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—San Quentin Prison was labeled "an obsolete institution yesterday by a member of an Assembly committee considering an overhaul of California's penal system.

Such large prisons should no longer be built, he said, noting Gov. Ronald Reagan's new budget is expected to include $26 million for another maximum security prison at San Diego.

San Quentin, said Vasconcellos, simply serves to deplete a person's self-esteem, and puts him down further. All we get is a more expert criminal under the present system, which reinforces the same weaknesses that led to the criminal act in the first place."

The prospect of reforming the penal system, however, is remote in the present Legislature, he said, terming it "more repressive than positive in its attitude toward law and order."

The criminal procedure committee, of which he is a member, is studying the penal system in the hope of gaining "a much greater understanding of why people commit crimes," he said. "One thing is certain—I'm satisfied the present system isn't working."

Criminals are not much different than the rest of us," said Vasconcellos, "they've just got bigger hangups.

"Prisoners are part of society—we can't just lock them up—so the selfish need for survival of our own society coincides with the humanitarian need to treat them as members of society," he said.

Vasconcellos likened the prison to the state's university and college institutions. "The lack of personalism in both doesn't do anything for people," he declared.

Conceding California's penal system has a good reputation for being "progressive," Vasconcellos said "it may have been resting on its reputation for too many years."

An attorney, he was particularly critical of the Adult Authority for failing to provide for judicial review of its decisions on whether to parole prison inmates. The authority "is secretly administered and accountable to no one," he said.

The result is that inmates never know how they stand, and whether they will be paroled. But inmates "have to have safeguards against arbitrariness," said Vasconcellos.

"There are such things as due process and judicial review that never ought to be taken away from a man," he stressed.

The criminal procedures committee plans to meet with inmates at San Quentin, perhaps next month, to discuss the problems of present laws.

Original Compositions Due Friday Discussion

Original compositions by five members of the Sonoma State College Student Composers Forum will be presented at noon Friday in Ives Hall.

Works to be discussed and performed include "Sex Life Songs" for bass voice and five instruments by Richard Lemmon; "Images" for flute, piano and percussion by Jeffrey Bush; a composition for brasses by Eugene Gillespie; a composition for trumpet and piano by William Sache and "Quartet for Saxophones" by Charles Garzoli.

POTATO PUFF MEAT LOAF is an easy recipe that's given an attractive appearance with a topping of Cheddar cheese-flavored mashed potatoes and a tomato sauce glaze.

Midas Touch For A Meatloaf Standard

How many times a month do you serve meat loaf? Several, we bet. And, if you're like most homemakers we know, you're always on the lookout for simple tricks that make the popular ground beef main dish look and taste just a little bit different.

Potato Puff Meat Loaf is a pretty standard recipe for a meat loaf; some canned tomato sauce goes into the loaf to give cheery tomato flavor to the beef. Bake the loaf awhile then pour on more tomato sauce to glaze it nicely.

Finally swirl on fluffy mashed potatoes. Give the potatoes a Midas touch by folding in golden Cheddar cheese. If you have one, a pastry tube makes the potato topping look extra fetching. Finally, bake the loaf a few minutes more to brown the topping.

Serve the loaf on an attractive platter surrounded with a favorite green vegetable; we chose lima beans. Serve with carrot and celery sticks, biscuits or cornbread (from a mix) and fresh fruit for dessert.

Be sure to keep a generous supply of canned tomato sauces on hand. Their tomato brightness contributes so much flavor and color goodness to ground beef main dishes.

POTATO PUFF MEAT LOAF

1½ pounds lean ground beef
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 medium onion, finely chopped
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
2 cups unsalted hot mashed potatoes

Combine beef, 1 can tomato sauce, onion, bread crumbs, egg, salt and pepper. Shape into loaf in shallow baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove fat from pan; pour second can of tomato sauce over loaf. Bake 15 minutes more. Fold cheese into potatoes; swirl over top of meat loaf. Return to oven for 15 to 20 minutes more or until potatoes are lightly browned. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Pizza Spaghetti A Tasty Dish

Watch your gang go for this recipe. Pizza Spaghetti was designed to please kids of all ages as well as to provide you with a good-tasting, nourishing main dish that takes practically no preparation time.

Make a spaghetti sauce by simmering canned tomato sauce with mushrooms with onion, garlic and Italian-style seasonings. The best spaghetti sauces are always the ones you make yourself. Even though this one takes only 15 minutes of cooking time, it tastes like you simmered it for hours. The mushrooms in the canned tomato sauce taste good and add interesting texture as well as dressing up the sauce for pennies.

While the sauce simmers, cook spaghetti and make ready the pizza toppings. You might brown sausages (any kind from brown and serve to garlicky Italian sausages), slice pepperoni or other luncheon meats or fry tiny meatballs.

Shred cheese, too, (almost any kind you have in the refrigerator), and cut green pepper into strips or slice olives. The beauty of this recipe is that you can use whatever you have on hand. You could use canned tuna instead of meat or cooked chicken or leftover roast.

Pile the spaghetti on an oven-proof serving platter, pour on the marinara sauce and artfully arrange the pizza toppings over all. Bake briefly to melt the cheese. Serve with carrot and celery sticks, hot rolls and milk. For dessert canned fruit or ice cream and cookies.

PIZZA SPAGHETTI

½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon salt
8 ounces spaghetti, broken, cooked and drained
1 cup shredded Mozzarella, Swiss or mild process cheese

Spaghetti Toppings: Sliced salami or pepperoni, cooked link sausages, olives and/or green pepper strips

In skillet lightly cook onion and garlic in oil. Stir in tomato sauce with mushrooms, water, basil, oregano and salt. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Place spaghetti on an oven-proof platter; spoon tomato sauce mixture over and mix gently. Sprinkle with cheese, then arrange any or all the suggested toppings over the cheese, pizza style. Bake at 350 degrees for 5 minutes or until cheese melts. Makes 4 servings.

Beefburger Suggestions With Pickles, Potatoes And Bacon

Ground beef which all of the following recipes require is best when the lean makes up about 75 per cent of the meat with 25 per cent fat, or suet as the fat of beef, is called.

With these percentages, the beef patties do not shrink too much nor is there too much dripping into the charcoal to cause smoke signals to upset neighbors.

The following recipes use novel ideas in the patty mixture. But don't let the family stop there. There are many ideas they might like to try as toppers. What about cooked, crumbled bacon mixed with chopped chives and dairy sour cream? Or corn relish on one 'burger and green tomato pickles on another?

GRILLED DILLBURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3 dill pickles
6 bacon slices

Combine ground beef, salt, pepper and onion. Cut dill pickles lengthwise in half. Shape seasoned beef around each dill pickle half. Wrap each with a slice of bacon and fasten with wooden picks. Grill on one side until brown, then turn, cook on the second side. Total cooking time will be from 10 to 12 minutes. 6 servings.

Flavorful

Orange marmalade adds sweetness and flavor to orange-lemon tea treat. Place 2 family size tea bags in a prewarmed 6-cup teapot. Pour over 5 cups of boiling water and stir in ½ cup of orange marmalade. Cover and steep 5 minutes. Remove tea bags, stir in 2 tablespoons each of lemon juice and sugar. Serve in cups or mugs with garnish of lemon or orange slices. Makes 8 servings.

BEEF-POTATO BURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
2 medium-sized potatoes, unpared and grated
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Shape into 6 to 8 patties. Place on broiler rack, so that the top surface of patties is about 3 inches from heat. Broil on one side until browned about 10 minutes. Turn and broil second side about 8 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

BACON BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
1 egg
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup bran flakes
10 slices bacon

Combine egg, salt, pepper, onion, parsley and bran flakes. Mix until moisture is absorbed. Add ground beef. Mix thoroughly. Using a generous tablespoon of meat mixture shape into 10 patties. Cut each slice of bacon lengthwise into 2 strips. Arrange 2 strips bacon crosswise on waxed paper and place a patty on each bacon intersection. Bring the strips of bacon together on top of each patty, fastening with wooden pick. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so that top surface of patty is about 2 inches from heat. Broil 8 to 10 minutes on each side. 5 servings.

Stuff Olives

Pimiento-stuffed olives lend color and flavor to fried potato cakes. Combine 2 cups of seasoned mashed potatoes, 1-3 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives, 1 egg, and ¼ cup of minced onion. Blend well and chill, if necessary, to shape into 8 patties. Coat potato cakes with dry bread crumbs. Heat 1-3 cup of solid vegetable shortening in heavy skillet, add potato cakes and saute until browned on both sides. Makes 4 servings.

Casserole Ideas Using Veal And Cooked Ham

Let the main dish bake while you set the table and put your own personal party finishes. That's one of the many advantages of having a casserole as a luncheon entree or buffet main dish.

These ingenious baked dishes may use leftover meat as the ham and asparagus one does, or start with fresh meat like the Pineapple Veal Almondine.

Casserole dishes free you of last minute fussing and save fidgeting over the food. Place them in the oven and set the table prettily, slip into a dress and adjust makeup so you can greet luncheon or dinner guests, cool, smooth and assured that everything is going according to schedule.

What's more, casseroles will keep hot at the table since they're in heated containers with food oven-hot. That takes care of seconds nicely.

Either of these entrees may be served with hot rice or parsleyed noodles, fresh fruit or molded salad, broiled tomatoes, crescent rolls and chocolate parfaits for dessert.

HAM AND ASPARAGUS CASSEROLE

2 cups diced cooked ham (1-inch cubes)
1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut asparagus
¼ cup grated American cheese
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup coarse dry bread crumbs

Cook asparagus until tender. Drain thoroughly and arrange in 1½-quart casserole. Combine ham, cheese, tapioca, green pepper, onion, parsley and lemon juice. Cover asparagus with one half of ham mixture. Combine milk with mushroom soup and pour over casserole. Mix melted butter or margarine with bread crumbs. Sprinkle over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F) 25 to 30 minutes, or until crumbs are lightly browned. 5 to 6 servings.

PINEAPPLE VEAL ALMONDINE

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) sliced pineapple
½ teaspoon mixed herbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ cup chopped green onions
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons sliced almonds, toasted

Cut veal steaks into 6 servings. Dredge meat in flour drippings. Drain pineapple and save syrup. Place meat in baking dish and top each serving with a pineapple slice. Combine mixed herbs, parsley, onions, mushrooms, salt, garlic salt, pepper and ¼ cup pineapple syrup. Pour sauce over meat. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 1 hour or until tender. Sprinkle with toasted almonds. 6 servings.

A Sardine-Tomato Broil For Luncheon Or Supper

Here is a savory hot luncheon or supper dish that can be prepared in a jiffy with no fuss, no bother. Decidedly easy on the food budget, it will add variety and zest to your meatless menu fare and the family will applaud its unique flavor.

3 medium-size tomatoes
2 (3¾ oz.) cans Norway sardines
2 tbsp. grated cheese
small boiled potatoes or steamed rice
Decorate with green olives and watercress

Cut the tomatoes in half. Drain the olive oil from the Norway sardines and make a puree of contents of one can. Spread puree over tomato halves. Top each with 4 or 5 whole sardines from second can. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in oven or under broiler until the tomatoes are tender. Serve piping hot with small boiled potatoes or steamed rice. Decorate with green olives and watercress. Yield: 6 servings.

Liver Parmesan

When thin slices of calves or baby beef liver get dredged in Parmesan cheese and sauteed gently and quickly in butter, you already have something to rhapsodize about. But follow that one step further and top with a spoonful of lightly salted dairy sour cream and a few chopped green onion tops and you will have something really good to serve family and guests.

Chicken-And-Dumplings Makes One-Dish Dinner

CHICKEN WITH DUMPLINGS

2 pounds chicken parts
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 cup water
4 small carrots, cut in 2-inch pieces
2 large stalks celery, cut in 2-inch pieces
1 medium onion, thickly sliced
Dash pepper
1 cup packaged biscuit mix
⅓ cup milk

Put chicken, soup, water, vegetables and pepper in large heavy pot. Cover; simmer 40 minutes or until chicken is tender. Combine biscuit mix and milk; stir lightly with a fork. Drop dough by spoonfuls onto pieces of chicken. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover; cook 10 minutes more. 4 to 6 servings.

SPECIAL TOUCHES FOR STYLISH YOUNGSTERS

Friends Discover Cookery

By CAROL MARVE

CHICAGO (UPI) — Take two friends who enjoy cooking. Add a dash of inspiration. Discuss, plan and let simmer for several months. Serve to the public a new type of cooking school.

When Mrs. James Gordon and Mrs. Bruce Hunt, Chicago housewives, discovered that a common interest in cooking could draw together people of varying backgrounds, they decided to go into business.

The result, The Melting Pot, concentrates on ethnic cookery by "neighborhood" cooks — those known by relatives and friends to possess a certain skill with spoon or spatula.

The school offers sessions of six weekly classes in a cook-along-with-the-chef vein. A dish is chosen because it is too hard to make without a demonstration, because it is representative of a culture and because people enjoy eating it.

"We investigated various cooking schools," Mrs. Gordon said, "but found them very dilettantish. One would offer a course in Chinese cooking, another in French cooking and so on."

The two women decided to concentrate on the cooks and their backgrounds instead. An Italian neighbor of Mrs. Hunt was the first demonstrator chosen. From her offer to come into Mrs. Hunt's kitchen and show her how to prepare spaghetti sauce grew the idea of The Melting Pot.

Other cooks were found by chance. When Mrs. Hunt chanced to mention the project to a Czech hardware store owner, he volunteered the services of his mother-in-law — "the best Bohemian cook in Chicago."

Spiced with reminiscences, family jokes and ethnic tales, the informal sessions permit students to try their hand at tricky procedures — from chopping celery fine enough to "melt" to stuffing a manicotti noodle — while learning about different cultures and traditions.

The directors stand with cup in hand during test runs to translate the handsful and pinches into standard measures. Students then receive printed recipes, information on where to buy special ingredients and cookware and a suggested wine list.

Marin Women

Garry Cecil Marries Suzanne Mary Allin

St. Rafael's Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Suzanne Mary Allin and Garry Leonard Cecil.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Maher Allin of San Rafael and the sister of Philip W. Allin. She is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

Mrs. Ronald B. Hecht of San Anselmo was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Christina M. O'Kane and Janice E. Pieri, both of San Rafael.

A reception at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base followed the ceremony.

Garry is the son of Mrs. Charles L. Cecil of Kailau-Kona, Hawaii. He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and College of Marin and is stationed with the Navy at the Naval Air Station in Seattle, where the couple will live. The bridegroom is the brother of Dennis L. Cecil, stationed with the Navy on Guam. His grandmothers are Mrs. Audrey Cecil of San Rafael and Mrs. H. L. Oliver of Mill Valley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mini-Skirts Will Be Followed By Beard-Growing Males

DEAR HELEN:

Last summer vacation my husband grew a beautiful beard. I loved it, but the bumble-headed idiots known as "the bosses" felt it would offend someone coming into the office, and possibly encourage other employees to grow one, so "it would be in the best interests" to shave it off.

I was absolutely wild to think that anyone could be so ridiculous. Isn't this dumb, Helen? Sideburns are allowed, beards, no. How can we fight it?—MRS. T.J.

DEAR MRS. J:

Try again next vacation. If office managers accept mini-skirts, can beards be far behind?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Beards may have started (this go-round) with the hippies, but they are definitely "hair to stay" with many successful businessmen as well as professors, doctors, etc. And why not?

As a male, it seems quite natural to me that a man should want to look like a man, just as most women prefer to look feminine.

The beard is a real status symbol—a status of independence, of individualism in a world of conformism. It is also one male trait which women can't adopt.

The social dictate of being smooth shaven is relatively new in the long history of man, and may well be less accepted hereon than it was for a few recent decades. Many women prefer males to look their part and, therefore, many men are becoming hirsute, at their urging.

Also, contrary to supposition, it is the daily skin scraping and five o'clock shadow which itches, not a natural beard.

Lastly, the men and women I admire most seem to like me best with my facial foliage. That's the "clincher." — HIRSUTE HARRY

DEAR HELEN:

I think more men would grow beards, but they are afraid they might embarrass their children, who are conformists at heart and can't stand to see their fathers "different." — RIGHT?

DEAR RIGHT:

Wrong—more often than you think. My husband Bob grew a real hairy beard at the insistence of his children, their friends (and, mildly, his wife). Now they won't let him shave it off.

(But if he doesn't stop pulling those, "I get all my advice from Dear Whatchacallem" jokes, I'll tell everybody he uses my mascara to touch up!)—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said there "are many things worse than adult unmarried sex and only when it is mixed up with meanness, cruelty, hurt to others, etc., can it be really called immoral." Please, you must retract Sex outside of marriage is always a vice. Don't ever condone illicit affairs.—SOUTHERNER.

DEAR SOUTHERNER:

I neither condone nor condemn. If two consenting adults cause no one unhappiness by living together, then it's nobody's business but their own. —H.

P.S. The accent is on adult and maturity. Otherwise, someone is bound to get hurt.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

ON THE AGENDA

Salable Items Are Needed For Sunny Hills Auxiliary's Drive

Mrs. Robert Conway, Bargain Box chairman for the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, announces Jan. 21, 22 and 23 as the dates for the auxiliary's annual drive.

Clothing, bric-a-brac, furniture and appliances may be brought to the Bargain Box, 607 Irwin Street, San Rafael, or arrangements may be made for pick up of larger items by calling the Bargain Box.

THE SECOND session of the beginner folk dance class will start tomorrow at the San Rafael Recreation Center. Instructor will be Mrs. Scott Tilden of San Rafael, assisted by her husband.

Jointly sponsored by the Marin Dance Council and the San Rafael Recreation Department, the class begins at 8:30 p.m. Registration is open to adults and students over 16 years of age.

IDEAS FOR dealing with tensions of modern life will be discussed by Dr. William Pemberton of Mill Valley in a program entitled "Antidotes to Pressures" for tomorrow's meeting of the Tamalpais Valley Parent-Teacher Association. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school.

A lecturer in communications, semantics and human relations at the University of California and College of Marin, Dr. Pemberton is a member of the Juvenile Justice Commission of Marin County and conducts management training programs for governmental and private agencies.

MARIN BOTANIST Dr. Bargyla Rateaver will be the guest speaker for the Tamalpais Centre Women's Club program Friday at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Kentfield. The program is presented by the Garden Section of the club, headed by Mrs. Roy D. Bailey.

Dr. Rateaver, who lives in Kentfield, is an advocate of using natural methods of growing foods, avoiding the use of what she calls "poison sprays" to retain food values and flavors of fruits and vegetables, and she has started a demonstration farm in San Diego County.

She has taught vocational gardening at the College of Marin and holds a degree from the University of California and the master's degree and Ph.D from the University of Michigan.

THE SAUSALITO Woman's Club announces cancellation of the California history and landmarks program that was to have been presented tomorrow at the clubhouse by Oakland Museum director J. S. Holliday.

"WHAT IF CALIFORNIA Were a Separate Nation?" is the question to be answered in a film being shown at the Lu Sutton Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the school multi-purpose room in Novato.

The film illustrates the fact that California would rank fourth as a nation in the world in the value of its agricultural products. Its standing as a producer of lumber, minerals, individual food crops, oil and other consumer products is also explored in the film and compared with that of other countries.

Mrs. Keith Bayer is program chairman.

Mrs. Ken Pool, P-TA president, will also announce the name of the chairman of the honorary life member selection committee.

"INTO EACH Other's Worlds" will be the topics to be discussed by Dr. Roy Fairchild, professor of Christian education at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, for the Youth Ministry of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon at a dinner program at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. Fairchild, a marriage and family counselor and a professional consultant in family therapy, will address the youth group and their parents, emphasizing the need for communication between adolescents and their families.

The Youth Ministry, composed of 30 sixth to eighth graders, will prepare the dinner. Members of the Junior High Fellowship from Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon, have been invited to the dinner and discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, adult leaders for the Youth Ministry, are chairmen.

Catfish

Catfish live in communities where each fish recognizes others as individuals by smell. And they can recall individuals after up to two months separation. This individual recognition is the basis for territoriality and social status within a community, report University of Michigan scientists. Aggressive behavior between strange catfish is different from that among members of the same community, they add. This, and all other social organization and behavior, is based on the sense of smell and is lost when the fish are deprived of this sense.

Diana Robfogel Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Diana Lynn Robfogel and Gary Lee Gibbs has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Robfogel of Petaluma.

Both the couple are graduates of Petaluma High School. Dee Dee, as the bride-elect is known, is the sister of Charles Robfogel of Petaluma and Mrs. James Maestri of Santa Rosa. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. King of Santa Rosa are her grandparents.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Gibbs of Petaluma and the brother of Linda Gibbs. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gibbs of Petaluma. He is serving with the Navy aboard the USS Iwo Jima at Long Beach.

Summer Wedding Planned By Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paul Hollenbeck of Novato are announcing the engagement of their daughter Lisa Ann to Gregory Wayne Umphenour of Woodacre.

Lisa was presented at the 1967 Marin Debutante Ball. She is the sister of Robert Paul Hollenbeck of San Francisco. The future bride was graduated from Westmoor High School in Daly City and attended College of Marin.

Gregory is the son of Mr. an Mrs. Maurice Umphenour of Woodacre. He is the brother of Mrs. Philip Daniels of San Anselmo and Michael Umphenour of Woodacre. He was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and also attended College of Marin.

The couple plan to be married this summer.

BEAUTIFUL, UGLY CALIFORNIA

The Freeway: Praised By Many, And Condemned

By BILL STALL
(Last of three articles.)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The freeway. It is viewed by some as a monumental achievement; condemned by others as a self-perpetuating monster.

The freeway system has changed the face of California, led to creation of entirely new cities and established patterns of living for millions.

What should be the freeway's role in establishing California's future? What has been wrong in the past?

Here are some views:

William Bronson, conservationist-author, writes: "Parklands have been torn, cities have been shattered and agricultural lands have been invaded in the process of building tthe widely heralded and anxiously awaited 12,500-mile California freeway system... without doubt the largest boondoggle in history."

The state Chamber of Commerce's Freeway Support Committee believes that "as a matter of individual freedom, Californians must be provided with, and are willing to pay for, a system of free-flowing freeways which will permit them to use private automotive transportation if and when they choose to do so."

The new state Development Plan Program says, "California's highway building record is truly spectacular. However, it has not accompanied this remarkable record with a corresponding advance in its ability... to use highway expenditures as a means of positively influencing or guiding the use of land to improve the conditions of urban life."

"From Sea to Shining Sea," the report of the President's Council on Recreation and Natural Beauty, notes that "strip development of the land adjoining highways is perhaps the most obvious example of man's disregard of urban and rural beauty."

California's resources agency chief, Norman B. Livermore Jr. --whose pet peeve is billboards-- says California faces "a tremendous challenge" in construction of the new Interstate 5, the Westside Freeway, down the western San Joaquin Valley. Due for completion by 1972, the 237 miles of road will cost roughly $210 million and eventually carry most of the San Francisco-Los Angeles traffic.

The 1963 Legislature foresaw possible strip development, considered it undesirable, and directed the counties to zone the land along the right of way to preserve the natural beauty of the area.

Fresno County has zoned a mile-wide strip on each side strictly for farm use, with no billboards. It limits commercial development to the area around two of the dozen interchanges planned in the county.

But even before the highway and interchanges are completed pressures are being brought on county officials to make changes and exceptions, says Donald Gouge, an associate county planner. He said some other counties are not living up to the legislature's mandate.

"One thing is certain," Gouge said, "the real intent of the legislature is not being carried out...There was a sort of vacant threat in the law. The state's bluff has been called and nothing has been done about it."

In his controversial book, "How to Kill a Golden State," author Bronson predicts, "there will be no sentimental ballad written for Interstate 5."

While planning experts speak of the need for alternate forms of transportation--primarily urban rapid transit--most Californians have failed to agree on a way to pay for them. The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District is having trouble finishing its 75-mile system--short of money. Los Angeles area voters rejected a $2.5 billion rapid transit bond issue last Nov. 5.

The state's legislative analyst, A. Alan Post, criticizes the legislature for failing to develop a general statewide transportation policy.

"The fundamental problem," Post says, "is to reconcile the conflict between transportation needs and community values."

The state registers more than 12 million motor vehicles, including some 10 million passenger cars. The fumes they spew mingle with California's fabled sunshine to produce an infamous California product: photochemical smog.

As it has pioneered in freeways and creation of smog, so California has pioneered in smog control, beginning with a statewide law in 1960 for control defices on vehicles. But again a California problem had blossomed virtually out of control before it could be dealt with effectively.

John Maga, the state's smog control chief, describes the situation this way: "I think the problem isn't getting any worse. We've leveled off."

The 1968 Legislature adopted the nation's strictest controls over smog-producing emissions from all types of motor vehicles.

By 1980, the smog produced by each auto will be only a fraction of today's levels. But, he adds, "We'll have more motor vehicles. We'll have increasing industrial activity."

But author Bronson argues, "Nothing is impossible; if we can go to the moon we can recreate a decent environment."

It's East Over West As Big 'O' Leads Way

BALTIMORE (AP) — "It's still a thrill to win this one," Oscar Robertson said after he had led the East All Stars to a 123-112 victory over the West in the 19th annual National Basketball Association classic.

"Not the biggest thrill," he added, "but one of them."

Robertson provided plenty of thrills for the fans, though, as he turned in a brilliant all around performance which earned him his third Most Valuable Player trophy in the eight All Star games he has played in since breaking into the league eight years ago.

Gene Shue, who coached the victorious East squad, attributed his side's victory to the East's greater height. "The West team was really small," the Baltimore Bullets coach said.

Asked if he agreed with the selection of Robertson as the game's Most Valuable Player, Shue replied:

"Of course I do. Oscar is the greatest. He can do so many things. We had a lot of great players out there, but Oscar is the greatest."

Shue said the East cinched the game in the final quarter "when our fast break was working to perfection with Oscar getting a couple of three-point plays. . ."

The East led comfortably at the quarter, 35-9, on the twisting jump shots of the Bullets' Earl Monroe, and the team work of Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas and the agressiveness of Boston's John Havlicek.

But the West, on the springy play of little Lennie Wilkens of Seattle and Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles closed the margin to seven at the half and finally pulled even midway in the third period. After the team passed the lead back and fourth for a time, they stood knotted, 77-77, with 3:39 left in the period.

Within two minutes, Wes Unseld rang up seven of his game total of points and the east had an 86-83 bulge to carry into the last 12 minutes.

Things got tight again in the last five minutes, but Gus Johnson, Monroe and Havlicek pulled the East out of reach, Robertson was high scorer of the game with 24 points. Monroe got 21 for the East. Baylor led the West with 14.

The East's rally from the big first quarter deficit was a slow one, closing to 60-53 at the half and then into the third.

Wilt Chamberlain, who finished second in the voting for the center spot to rookie Elvin Hayes, didn't enter the game until seven minutes had gone and the San Diego rookie had scored only two field goals.

In the early going Boston's John Havlicek and Bill Russell worked like partners on the offence while Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas and Robertson did the same. And the other East starter, Monroe, played by himself.

When East Coach Gene Shue and his coaching counterpart Richie Guerin started to substitute, the brand of basketball became more of the playground variety.

Johnson tried especially to please, twisting and cavorting as always, letting out a Tarzan yell while hoarding a rebound. Helped off the floor after a collision with 3:15 to go in the game, Gus limped back to sink two foul shots and make it 112-104.

Novato Blasts Trojans

In case anybody had any doubts, Novato High School's basketball team is a bona fide contender for the Marin County Athletic League title.

Just ask the Terra Linda Trojans.

Terra Linda, another title hopeful in what is basically a four-cornered race, was matched up against the Hornets at Terra Linda in a key league collision yesterday and came away with a convicing thrashing and its first league loss, 67-54.

By winning, the Hornets pushed into a share of the league lead with upstart San Rafael, also 2-0 after a 62-56 win over Drake.

The contest had all the making of a good bash for a quarter and a half when the bottom dropped out for the Trojans—nothing went in and everything went wrong.

From a slim 24-21 edge, the Hornets reeled off 12 straight points for a 36-21 half-time lead, built it up to as much as 20 points and didn't even need to get worried about a much-too-late 22-point Trojan flurry in the final period.

A bespectaled, string-thin 6-7 sophomore and a cool-shooting veteran plus almost total control of Terra Linda's wooden backcourt did the trick for the Hornets.

Dana LaFerrier came off the bench to pop in 18 points, mostly on tip-ins and follows while all-leaguer Steve McNally whipped in 21 points before fouling out for the Hornets. Ed Herrnberger contributed 12 points.

That was more than enough to offset Terra Linda's two-man show of Pat Purcell and Mike Timmel, who split up 40 of the Trojans' 54 points between them.

McNally's total came after a 24-point spurt against Drake Friday, giving him 45 points in two league games.

The Trojans never recovered from that disastrous second quarter, missing easy shots in key situations for most of the game until Purcell, Timmel and Byron Sakanari led the late, futile charge in the final period.

The win gave Novato an impressive overall mark of 13-4 on the season. The Trojans dropped to 8-5.

San Rafael Grabs Loop Lead Share

San Rafael High School's basketball team is sitting on top of the Marin County Athletic League standings alongside Novato after a 62-56 conquest of outmanned, outboarded but plain stubborn Drake at San Anselmo.

A flailing commandeering of the boards by 6-3 Bill Sleezer sparked the triumph, which was never really put away until the final minutes.

Sleezer grabbed 17 rebounds and pumped in 11 close-in fielders for 22 points as the taller Bulldogs almost blew a fat lead for the second straight time.

The Bulldogs, who hung on for a 56-55 win over Redwood last week leading by 17 points, had a 17-point lead in the third quarter, but watched it dwindle in the fourth period against Drake, but never closer than the final margin.

Sleezer got help from Ray Taylor and Bruce D'Ambra . Taylor hitting for 14 points and D'Ambra pumping in 11 points.

Guard Clark Jamison paced Drake with a 20-point showing, with help from Bob McLean's 13 points.

The loss was Drake's second in league play without a win.

The win pushed the Bulldogs over the .500 mark in season play at 7-6.

Wildcats Grab First Win, Down San Marin

Marin Catholic's Wildcats, struggling against a tough schedule all season, won their first game of the year last night, downing fledgling San Marin, 64-58 in a Marin County Athletic League game in Kentfield.

But the win was scarce comfort for Coach Larry Fulton, despite the fact that his 'Cats, now 1-11 on the year, led convincingly until a last-period breakdown. "The way we played took a lot off our first win" he said. "We had 35 personal fouls, which is just ridiculous. We've got a long way to go."

Mike Murray had 16 points for Marin, followed by Steve Telender's 12 and Seamus O'Reilly's 10. San Marin ace Gary Howard was held to 13, seven of those points at the free throw line, as MC outscored the visitors 26-13 from the field, but gave up 32 points on 51 charity attempts.

Giants Grab 64-56 Win Over Indians

Redwood High School of Larkspur jumped back into the Marin County Athletic League basketball race last night by drubbing Tamalpais High School of Mill Valley 64-56 in Larkspur.

Coach Dick Hart's Giants raced to an 18-11 first quarter lead and were never headed, breaking open a tough contest with a 20-10 last quarter.

Hart praised John Boro, Roger Smith and Jerry Piro for their evening's work, noting that Boro and Smith led the Giant scoring with 16 points each.

Colt Safety Volk Recovers

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — Baltimore Colts safety Rick Volk was recovering yesterday in Holy Cross Hospital after suffering convulsions following the Super Bowl football game in Miami Sunday.

Volk was rushed to the hospital Sunday night after he went into convulsions of an undetermined origin. He was put in the intensive care ward, but yesterday was moved to a regular room.

Attendants said his condition was satisfactory and that he would be released in a day or two.

Seals Open Home Stand Vs. Chicago

No Sudden-Death Against Russians

TORONTO (AP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said yesterday that is a NHL team ever plays the Russians, it won't be in a sudden-death game.

"We'll never play the Russians in a sudden-death game," said Campbell. "It will probably be a four out of seven or something like that." Campbell, however, did not suggest that a series of games against the Russians is imminent.

Rain Big News In Kaiser Tourney

NAPA (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Lee Trevino were the big names but rain was the big subject today on the eve of the $135,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament.

Tourney play gets under way tomorrow over two lush but soggy courses in the Napa Valley A pro-amateur event, with a $5,000 first prize, opened the big show — second stop on the winter PGA tour — today.

Play originally was set on the North course of Silverado Country Club. But rain early in the week and a storm forecast by the weekend caused sponsors to use Silverado's South course as well until the field is cut after Friday. Both courses were flooded by more than eight inches of rain the past week.

Two courses will be used to speed play, said Chairman Vernon Peak who noted, "it is doubtful the entire field could finish by dark on one course."

Qualifying for the 30 non-exempt spots in the 156 - man field was postponed until yesterday because of the storm. Then, one municipal course in Napa was playable over only 17 holes and scores were computed on that basis.

Palmer will make his first PGA tournament of the year and, as usual, will attract the biggest crowds. He arrived at Napa Monday in his private jet.

Along with Casper and U.S. Open champ Trevino there will be Los Angeles Open king Charlie Sifford, defending champion Kermit Zarley, Bruce Devlin, Dave Marr — in all 24 of the 30 leading money winners last year.

First prize in the 72-hold Kaiser will be $27,000, up two grand from the purse Zarley took home in the first Kaiser last year.

The pro-amateur will feature the 50 top pros — Palmer, Casper, Trevino, Sifford, et al — plus such as industrialist Edgar F. Kaiser and a former baseball player named Joe DiMaggio.

Tars Meet Solano Tonight

After last week's solid win over West Valley College of Campbell, the College of Marin Tars trek to Vallejo tonight hoping to continue the trend against the Solano College Falcons, a losing team that plays well at home.

Coach Cal Riemcke, whose Mariners are 1-1 in Camino Norte Conference play, must beware of a hot shooting spell by forward Rich McKee, Solano's top gunner, who can give a defense fits with his jump shot. While the Tars hope to get by tonight, and Riemcke worries about overconfidence, the example of the Tar JV's might help.

The Marin JV's beat their San Francisco City College counterparts 63-62 in the last four seconds on a 20-foot bank shot by Paul Leete, coming from 21 points down and making up ten points with a 12-1 spurt in the last two minutes. The JV's are now 6-5 on the year.

Tar Heels Come Up With A Cage Blitz

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nickname was born back in the days of the Confederacy, when a Southern unit held firm against a superior Union force and a Yankee officer observed "they must have tar on their heels."

But this band of Tar Heels from North Carolina is just the reverse—lightning quick. North Carolina, the nation's second-ranked college basketball team, used their fast break to advantage in a 101-76 blitz of Georgia Tech last night.

While North Carolina won as expected, a couple of teams in the lower half of the national rankings—No. 17 Northwestern and No. 19 Cincinnati—were upset victims.

Marquette, No. 15 and the only other nationally-ranked team in action—romped over Wisconsin-Milwaukee on Marquette's home court.

MANY FOULS

The Tar Heels, who have lost only once in 13 outings this season, wasted no time in racing past Georgia Tech. North Carolina built a 56-33 halftime margin to a lead of as many as 42 points.

Olympic standout Charlie Scott led the attack at Atlanta, Ga. with 30 points for North Carolina, while Bill Bunting had 22. Rich Yunkus topped Tech with 28 points in a game marked by a total of 42 personal fouls.

Marquette's 118 points against Wisconsin-Milwaukee set a school record in the cross-town game. The previous Marquette high had been 113 against Ripon in 1954.

Dean Meminger had 21 points and George Thompson 20 in Marquette's 10th consecutive victory. Cecil Morrites led the losers with 5.

Drake, led by Willie McCarter, improved its 30-26 halftime lead to 55-41 eight minutes deep into last half and held on from there in handing Cincinnati its first home court loss in 19 games.

FIRST VICTORY

Indiana, down 8-1 in the early going at Bloomington, Ind., reeled off 14 consecutive points against favored Northwestern and took it from there for its first Big Ten victory in four starts.

In some other major games, Wisconsin held off Minnesota 68-61, Iowa edged Michigan State 77-76, Texas A&M scored a 76-75 overtime victory over Southern Methodist, Rice beat Texas Christian 71-64 and Seattle edged Oklahoma City 75-73.

NFL Defeats AFL In Golf

The old football league got even for the Super Bowl yesterday by taking four of the first five places in a golf tournament for players in both circuits.

John Brodie, the veteran San Francisco 49ers quarterback, was an easy winner. The former Stanford standout shot an even par 72 in the final round for a 54-hole total of 209, seven under par.

FORZANO NAMED NAVY GRID COACH

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Rick Forzano, offensive backfield coach for the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League this season, was appointed football coach at Navy today.

Capt. J. O. Coppedge, athletic director at the U. S. Naval academy, said the 40-year-old Forzano would have a three-year contract, but would not disclose the terms.

Forzano, an assistant coach for Navy from 1959 through 1964, replaces Bill Elias, fired Dec. 11 after the Middies lost eight of 10 games, including the all-important Army game.

Coppedge said Navy screened more than 200 applicants for the job. "We looked into each candidate thoroughly and arrived at the conclusion that no one fits our needs more adequately than Rick Forzano," he told newsmen.

Baseball Umpires May Stage Their Own Revolt

Major league baseball is threatened on two fronts this year. Players are threatening a strike. So, too, are umpires.

Players are reluctant to refer to their action as a strike threat. Yet, if they refuse to sign 1969 contracts just mailed to them the action will amount to a strike. They are involved in a rhubarb with club owners over the amount owners are contributing to the players pension fund.

Umpires are not sensitive about labeling their action as a strike threat. Their threatened walkout involves dismissal of Bill Valentine and Al Salerno by Joe Cronin, American League president.

TWO WEEKS before the 1968 season closed Valentine and Salerno were dismissed. Cronin declared they were "inefficient and never first class at any time."

Salerno had eight years service in the American League, Valentine seven. They declared they were dismissed because they organized the league's umpires into an association, similar to the one that has been in existence for a number of years in the National League.

On Sept. 30 in Chicago umpires from both leagues met and formed a new Major League Umpires Association.

"The first order of business of our new association is reinstatement of Valentine and Salerno," said a spokesman. "If they are not reinstated there is going to be a strike."

LAST WEEK Valentine and Salerno filed a charge of unfair labor practices against the American League with the National Labor Relations Board in Chicago.

After the first order of business, the new umpires association lists a number of other items on its agenda, all aimed at equalizing working conditions, salaries, travel expenses and pensions in both leagues.

National League umpire salaries now start at $9,500, American League $7,500. Al Barlick, senior National League umpire, receives $24,500. Top salary in the American League is $17,000. The average difference between National and American League umpire salaries ranges from $3,000 to $7,500.

DURING SPRING training National League umpires receive $28 per day living allowances, plus $25 per game and 10 cents per mile travel expenses. American League umpires receive a flat $300 sum spring training expenses and two umpires work together, sharing 10 cents per mile travel expenses.

National League umpires qualify for pensions after five years. American League pensions don't start until after 10 years of service.

Stanky Coach Again. . At South Alabama

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Eddie Stanky will be managing again this season—in the college ranks.

Stanky, who was fired last season as manager of the Chicago White Sox, accepted a position as baseball coach at the University of South Alabama.

Stanky, who also was a former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, turned down offers from the Chicago Cubs and Cardinals along with another one to manage in the new international Global League but preferred a position close to his home.

"I couldn't be happier," said the former second baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants. "This gives me a chance to work with youngsters and that's what I enjoy most."

(UPI Telephoto)

IT'S NOT THE MONEY

A Really Happy Namath Arrives

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Joe Namath is happy and he says it has nothing to do with his $15,000 winner's share from the Super Bowl or other riches likely to follow this milestone in football history.

Namath reported in yesterday to the East squad for Sunday's American Football League All-Star Game in the Gator Bowl, along with 10 other members of the world champion New York Jets.

"I'm happy and monetary value is no part of it," Namath said when asked what he figured the AFL's first victory over the National Football League champs will mean to him financially.

"It isn't that I think I have enough money," the rough speaking but smooth throwing quarterback said, punctuating his remarks with a finger poked at his listeners.

"The way I spend it, there probably isn't enough," he said, "but I'm happy and my plan for the off season is to stay happy."

OPERATION

Namath rejected questions about his injuries—two fingers on his left hand taped together, a thumb on his throwing hand that he said got tired in the Super Bowl game, or his ever troublesome knees.

He was asked if it is true he wants a fourth knee operation which Dr. James A. Nichols, team doctor, believes unnecessary.

"Whatever Dr. Nichols says about it, that's it," Namath replied.

He arrived looking like anything but the successful businessman image his teammates reflected. Namath wore a black leather jacket over a green and black knit shirt, brown bell bottom slacks and dark suede shoes.

Ready to scoff at all newsmen because his team was so lightly regarded against the Baltimore Colts, Namath demanded to know if anyone present had picked the Jets to win the Super Bowl.

LIAR

When a writer said he saw some of the Jets quoted as saying they didn't think they would win, Namath pushed close and said: "You're a liar! Ask them. Ask any of them if they thought that! If they say they did and you don't punch them, I will!"

Namath is scheduled to share the east quarterbacking 50-50 with Bob Griese, in the All-Star Game.

At least, that's the way Coach Wally Lemm plans it right now. But he isn't giving any guarantees.

"Each of them will play half the game," Lemm said. "I think each of them will quarterback a full half, but I'll have to work that out with them."

Will he stick to that timetable regardless of the game situation?

NO PROMISE

Namath, who led the East to a 25-24 victory in last year's AFL All-Star Game here, was due to join practice sessions today along with 10 other members of the New York Jets who won the pro football title by beating the Baltimore Colts 16-7 at Miami Sunday.

Lemm said the fact they missed Monday and Tuesday practices won't curtail the effectiveness of his team because the Jets start in good physical shape while the All-Stars from Houston, Buffalo, Boston and Miami haven't played in four weeks and needed the extra work.

"Namath is a tremendous athlete and a great competitor," Lemm said. He is the best quarterback in pro football, and I think Griese is second best."

STRIDES

Lemm said the Miami Dolphins quarterback has made tremendous strides in his two years as a pro and has the potential to be great.

Even the West All-Stars, who will try their best to beat Namath Sunday and prevent a third consecutive East victory, talked mostly about Namath's skill and poise in leading the Jets to the AFL's first Super Bowl championship.

John Hadl, San Diego quarterback who will start for the West, said it was the best game he ever saw Namath play.

"I think he's the best in the business right now, by far," Hadl said.

West Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City said the result gave everyone in the AFL a big lift, proving to the public that the younger league is no longer inferior.

NFL Pros Prepare For East-West Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Players and coaches of the National Football League today got down to the serious business of preparing for the annual East-West All-Star Pro Bowl Sunday.

Understandably, there were some rueful back glances at the Super Bowl and the upset by the New York Jets of the American league over the Baltimore Colts, 16-7.

"You can't change the scoreboard. In the week coming up we've got to play a lot better. We're facing better material."

Morrall and Roman Gabriel of the Rams will guide the West, Don Meredith of Dallas and Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants the East.

Cracked Tarkenton, "I'll have a hard time getting back into New York. It's Joe Namath's town now." He referred, of course, to the Jets. flamboyant quarterback.

Water Polo Win For Giants

Redwood High School of Larkspur clinched at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League water polo championship by whipping Novato High, 10-6. The Giants are now 6-0 in the MCAL, 9-0 overall, and 15-0 over the two years the team has been in existence.

In othec action, Tamalpais of Mill Valley edged Terra Linda 8-6, while Drake of San Anselmo, ht fifth team in the MCAL's inaugural season of water polo, had a bye.

Greg Myers of Redwood hiked his goals total to 31 in league play by putting in five, while Dave Newman of Terra Linda had six. Laurie McFadden led Tam with four.

Platoon System To Be Tackled

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The National Collegiate Football rules Committee tackled the matter of two-platoon football again at its meeting Tuesday.

Nothing will be decided or announced until the sessions end today. but a spokesman for the 16-member group said it appears the present substitution rules will not be changed pending a thorough study of the costs of all athletics—not just college football—this year.

Fritz Crisler, former athletic director at the University of Michigan and a lifetime honorary member of the rules committee, is expected to offer a resolution today proposing such a survey.

It is no secret that college officials on the administrative level are deeply concerned with the rising costs of athletic programs.

The administrators, however, are well aware that college football enjoyed one of its most successful years. For that reason, the spokesman said, committee members don't want to tamper with the more basic rules at this time.

Van Wart Is Top Yachtsman

Jack Van Wart of Larkspur was honored as "yachtsman of the year" at last night's annual meeting of St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco.

The award is made by the club annually to the person who contributes most to yachting in the Bay Area and whose contribution to St. Francis Yacht Club activities is most noteworthy. Van Wart is a partner in Aero Portraits of Sausalito and a KNBR engineer.

T. L. (Ted) Schoonmaker, Sausalito industrialist and San Rafael resident, was installed as Commodore of the St. Francis Y.C., succeeding William L. Stewart III, also of San Rafael.

Salmon Anglers Urged To Stick To Good Book

Anyone having a pair of itchy feet to walk the shores of the Fort Bragg streams, including the Navarro Lagoon and River, the Noyo, Ten-Mile, Big and Little streams will find a good book in a warm room much more satisfactory. Skipper Bob Johnson, erstwhile builder of a commercial fishing boat to be used in quest of salmon in the aforementioned areas, as well as the deeper waters off that section of Coast, called Sunday to report all the waters mentioned above and inspected personally are in a very non-fishable condition. There has been suggested a plan to provide all salmon and steelhead entering the streams mentioned with mud-glasses, but all such former plans in days gone by have failed.

IT IS, I believe, reasonable to predict little or no success in trying for salmon or steelhead for at least seven days after the last storm muddies the waters. Time element is, of course, dependent on when the streams now swollen and dirty return to normal. So let us just wait as patiently as possible for conditions to better in the areas mentioned or contact a reliable source at such streams, and as the Trinity and Klamath where stream conditions are much better and ordinarily will furnish fishing days and tides sooner than the coastal streams.

Shifting the scene to the past, present and probable future of the rod and reel buffs, we are in receipt of a weekly report of action in Lake Berryessa, by Mike Drean, manager of Sports of Spanish Flat, which turns out to be a report of the second month of Lake Berryessa Fishing Derby for 1968-69, considered excellent — with many limits of trout and bass checked in, 266 fishermen took part in the December Derby.

Dallas Ends Streak, Oaks Keep One Up

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dallas Chaparrals' losing string has come to an end at 11, while the Oakland Oaks' winning string now has reached 13.

The Chaparrals ended an 11 game drought last night when they defeated Minnesota 102-101 with a basket two seconds before the overtime buzzer in their American Basketball Association game.

In other ABA action Indiana edged Houston in a thriller 116-113 and Oakland handily beat Los Angeles 132-106.

At Dallas the Chaparrals moved ahead in the third quarter and never again trailed until Steve Vacendak hit on a Pipers' free throw for 101-100 with 16 seconds left on the overtime clock.

Cincy Powell of Dallas then dumped in a 23-foot shot from the floor with two seconds showing. Connie Hawkins' 43 points for Minnesota was game high. Powell was second with 23.

At Houston Roger Brown tossed in a jump shot with two seconds left in regulation time and added two free throws after the clock ran out to pace the Indiana decision.

Willie Somerset of Houston topped all scorers with 35 points. Freddie Lewis and Brown led Indiana with 29 and 23 points each.

Russians Won't Play

WINNIPEG (AP) — The Russians — leaving themselves an opening for reversal — have pulled out of a scheduled series of hockey games in Canada, just as they canceled the U.S. Russia track meets a few years ago.

The reasons, however, are entirely different.

The USSR canceled the U.S. track meets in protest over American participation in Vietnam.

This time they say they won't play because the Canadian opposition they're scheduled to meet is inferior. The Ottawa or Winnipeg team, or a combination of both was slated to represent Canada. The first game was to be played in Montreal Friday.

Diplomats and hockey officials worked desparately to determine whether the Russian decision was based on a misunderstanding that could be cleared up quickly so as to permit start of the tour on schedule.

If it can't be cleared up, council members of the International Ice Hockey Federation were in a position to act on a cable from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association asking "immediate and full suspension" of the Soviet Hockey Federation for its "unprecedented" action.

Further, international suspension would prohibit the defending champion Russian team from competing in the world hockey championship in Stockholm the last two weeks in March.

The Russians' coach, Anatoly Tarasnov has been angling to play National Hockey League teams. Gordon Juckes, executive director of the CAHA, expressed the opinion that the NHL has no appetite for becoming involved with the Russians.

Meanwhile, Maple Leafs Garden said a sell-out of the 16,485 seats had been anticipated for Friday's game. Cancellation of the game and the tour would represent a loss of $35,000.

THE TIRE EXPERTS ASKED FOR:

"Looking at our results, it is easy to see why radial ply tires are so appealing. But the more we look, the more we feel that all the advantages are a result of the belt, which stabilizes the tread . . . and not the radial plies themselves. In fact, the areas where the radial tires show signs of weakness can be related to the radial plies, not the belt. We can't help but think that a combination tire—a cross ply with a belt—would be an admirable solution."

FUROR OVER TEEN — Nineteen-year-old Barbara Joe Rubin may become the first girl jockey to ride in a race when she goes on Stoneland at Tropical Park in Miami, Fla., today. (AP Wirephoto)

Teen Gal Jockey Adding Fuel To Battle Of Sexes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The battle of the sexes in the jockey ranks comes to a head in the fourth race at Tropical Park today when teen-ager Barbara Jo Rubin may ride a horse named Stoneland.

If she makes he ride, Barbara Jo will become the first female jockey to race at an American parimutuel track.

But she faces revolt from the male jockeys. And there's a chance Stoneland won't even make it to the post.

In the draw for the race, Stoneland wound up on the also-eligible list. That means at least one of the 12 starting horses must be scratched. Then Barbara Jo's horse might make it through the luck of another draw.

Several of the riders named on horses for the six-furlong fourth race said they would not compete against Barbara Jo.

Craig Perret and Carlos Berrera both said they would ride. But Mike Miceli and Gerry Gellitano said they would not.

"It's too bad," commented the veteran Ussery," that a man has to make a decision whether he's going to ride against a girl or not."

Most jockeys at Tropical are members of the Jockeys' Guild. The guild cannot organize a formal boycott without running the risk of violating anti-trust laws.

Barbara Jo, who has remained quiet throughout the fuss, qualified to ride by passing a test Monday before track stewards. She broke a horse from the gate and her filly outran two other horses ridden by male jockeys.

If she performs capably in her first race, she will be issued a riding license.

Tropical General Manager Elmer Vickers said: "I have every confidence the race will go if she is in it. We have no plans to move it from its present position as the fourth race on the program to the last, as done at Churchill Downs. Neither do I anticipate any sudden outbreak of sickness in the jockey's room before the fourth race. Because any rider who takes off for reason of sickness will forfeit his mounts the rest of the day."

The male-female jockey feud started when Penny Ann Early was granted a license to ride in Kentucky in November. She was named on three horses, one of which was scratched because of muddy conditions, another on which she was replaced by a male, and another where the male jockeys staged a boycott, causing cancellation of the race at Churchill Downs.

Meanwhile, Penny Ann Early and Sandra "Sandy" Schleiffers have applied for jockey licenses at Santa Anita in Arcadia, Calif. Penny Ann and "Sandy" must go through the same qualifying routine at Santa Anita as Barbara Jo did at Tropical Park.

Los Angeles Stops Rangers In NHL, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Kings scored twice in the final period yesterday to break a 1-1 tie and beat the New York Rangers 3-1 in a National Hockey League game.

Bill "Cowboy" Flett scored his second goal of the night with 4:48 gone in the period to put the Kings ahead for good. Less than three minutes later Gordon Labossiere scored the insurance goal.

With the victory the Kings regained third place in the NHL's Western Division, passing idle Philadelphia.

Czech Olympic Star Is Fired From Job

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) Emil Zatopek, one of Czechoslovakia's most famous athletes and a two-time Olympic gold medal winner, has been ousted from his defense ministry post because of his active support of progressive reforms, Reporter Magazine said yesterday.

The magazine of the Czech journalists union published a letter by Ludek Pachman, a mathematician and Czech chess champion, who was protesting to the defense ministry about the ouster.

He said Zatopek lost his position as an education officer in the defemse ministry and is now an assistant coach of the army track team in Prague.

"I think many people in this land will agree that such a status for a man who belongs to the most famous figures of the last quarter of a century is our joint shame and I don't intend to bear this shame without protest,"Pachman wrote.

Pachman said Zatopek is not an isolated case and that there have been "full scale" personnel changes in the army since the Soviet-led invasion.

British Ex-Champ Scores Knockout

Fiery Pancho Still Creates Controversy

The fiery veteran tennis star stormed off the court in the middle of the men's open doubles championships of New South Wales yesterday with the comment, "I'm tired, I quit, there's too much tennis for me."

Gonzalez quit after the Spanish pair of Manuel Orantes and Andres Munoz won the second set of their match with Gonzalez and Spain's Andre Gimeno 15-13. Gonzalez and Gimeno won the first set 6-4.

The crowd booed as Gonzalez forfeited the match but he said afterwards that he would withdraw from all doubles matches during the remainder of the Australian professional tour. Gonzalez had spent nearly five hours on the court yesterday.

"I am going flat out to keep in the singles where the big money is and I can't afford to be mixed up in long drawn-out doubles matches. I have to win the big ones," he said.

In the exhausting second set, Gimeno had made a couple of simple stroke errors to enable Orantes and Munoz to tie the set 13-13. At that point, Gonzalez yelled at his partner, "for God's sake hit them, knock them off."

When Orantes and Munoz then won the next two games to take the set, Gonzalez walked off.

The so-called "Lone Wolf" of pro tennis, Gonzalez has always been one of the most controversial and outspoken players on the tour.

Veteran Condominium Builders Preparing Petaluma Project

A 72-unit condominium apartment complex is being planned for the former Rabben property of six acres on Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, by George Kaenel of San Rafael.

This type of development is nothing new to Kaenel, who with builder Arthur Nicolaisen and realty broker Scott Chandler, participated in the first condominium to be recorded in California. It was a 75-unit complex in the Canal Street area of East San Rafael, a few years ago.

Nicolaisen will also be the general contractor on the Petaluma project, on which site preparation and construction are slated to begin soon. Kaenel and his associates recently acquired the land, reported to have been in the Rabben family since 1883, and are forming a syndicate.

Tentative plans call for nine apartment buildings of eight low-maintenance units each, surrounding a community center. The project, to be known as Magnolia Gardens, will occupy four acres, with the remaining two acres of highway frontage to be developed with a motel, commercial and professional buildings.

MARTIN P. WISE of Petaluma has been appointed operations officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office. He joined the bank at this office in 1954 and was assigned to the Petaluma office the following year. He has been assistant manager in Petaluma since 1962.

PHILIP E. MERRIMAN of San Rafael has been elected a director of E. S. Merriman and Sons, San Francisco mortgage banking and real estate brokerage firm. He has been with the company since 1958 and was recently named secretary of the corporation.

IN ADDITION to the Marin County exhibitors at the San Francisco Boat Show mentioned in our column of Jan. 7, we are informed that Southeast Yacht Supplies of San Rafael is having a first public showing there of a battery-operated clock that chimes, manufactured by Time and Tide, Inc. Southwest is also displaying models of the Calmec auto pilot.

San Rafael distributor Bill Blackburn will man the Penn Fishing Tackle Manufacturing Co. booth and H. A. Calahan Co. will exhibit trim tabs for power boats and varnishes and paints. The show continues through Sunday.

MEETINGS: Architect Robert W. Hayes of Sausalito, partner in Hayes and Smith, San Francisco, was a featured panelist and speaker this week at the annual convention of the National Association of Homebuilders in Houston. He is reported to be the only West Coast architect to be invited to conduct a workshop program at the convention. . . . Silvio E. De Maestri of De Maestri Distributing Co., San Rafael, is attending the Anheuser-Busch, Inc. sales convention this week in Los Angeles.

H. M. ROWLAND of Ignacio has been promoted to manager of the San Francisco freight division for American President Lines. He entered the steamship business in 1931 with the Robert Dollar Co., APL's predecessor. After eight years at sea as a freight clerk, then freight agent and general agent in Hong Kong, Yokohama and Kobe, he returned to the San Francisco freight division in 1951 where he has been assistant manager for the past 10 years.

Wages lost as a result of motor vehicle accidents in 1967 totaled $6 million, says the National Safety Council.

Market On Plus Side Once Again

Carryover demand from the previous session—following an extended decline that carried most market indexes to their lowest levels in months—and a more favorable news climate helped bolster the list.

Among the major constructive news items were record industrial output in December reported by the Federal Reserve Board and a Commerce Department report the nation's Gross National Product reached a new high in December for the second month in a row.

Oils displayed scattered strength, with some issues adding a point or better. Chemicals were narrowly irregular.

Rails were an impressive group most of the day, with airlines also in good demand. Grumman held firm in the aircrafts after being awarded a Navy contract to build a new supersonic fighter plane.

Foreign Branch Set

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., has announced plans to establish its first branch overseas in Luxembourg, to be in operation by mid-year.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Report Form Appears Simple, But May Require Additions

Wikel

For 1968, we have a federal income tax Form 1040 consisting of only one piece of paper with two pages.

The new form sounds real good and it is if you have a very simple financial life.

If you have income other than a normal salary, dividends and interest, or any itemized deductions, you will have to attach to this form another one to explain the income or deduction.

For instance:

Schedule C for income from a personally owned business;

Schedule D for income from the sale or exchange of property;

Schedule F for income from farming;

Schedule G for income averaging.

Form 1310, Statement of Claimant to Refund Due—Deceased Taxpayer;

Form 2106, Statement of Employee Business Expenses;

Form 2120, Multiple Support Declaration;

Form 2210, Statement Relating to Underpayment of Estimated Tax by Individuals;

Form 2240, Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay;

Form 2241, Statement of Expences for Care of Children and Certain Other Dependents;

Form 3903, Moving Expense Adjustment;

Form 4136, Computation of Credit for Federal Tax on Gasoline and Lubricating Oil; and Form 4137, Computation of Social Security Tax on Unreported Tip Income.

You may also be reuiqred to use the following forms:

Form 936, Authorization — Joint Return or Declaration;

Form 982, Consent to Adjustment to Basis;

Form 2119, Statement Concerning Sale or Exchange of Personal Residence;

Form 2688, Application for Extension of Time; and

Form 2948, Medical and Dental Expense Statement.

You can obtain these schedules and forms as well as other supporting schedules from the IRS.

There are many other forms and statements that are required under certain circumstances and to be sure that you are fully reporting as required, you should purchase the book, "Your Federal Income Tax—1969 Edition for Individuals" from the IRS for 60 cents.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Food Fair's Outlook Is More Promising Nowadays

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of Food Fair? I own 300 shares at an average cost of 15; also seven of the 20-year 4 per cent debentures — total cost $700 — due in April, 1979, and convertible into common on or before April 1, 1969. What should I do? I'm retired with money enough to get along all right. — J.K.

A. I believe Food Fair common has good long-term potential, but for the past decade share earnings have been erratic, having yet to repeat their peak levels of $1.65 and $1.70 in 1959-60 when the debentures were offered. Net sales, however, have moved up each year since then and will show another boost for fiscal 1969 ending April 30. Profit margins now appear likely to widen, reflecting improved cost controls and new operating efficiencies.

Each of your seven $100 debentures is convertible into three shares of common, which I would take and hold along with the 300 you already own. Annual dividends will amount to $289 for a yield of 5.5 per cent on your total initial investment of $5,200. At current trading levels for the common, this investment shows a paper profit of 46 per cent. This situation offers you growth and moderate yield — a good combination.

Q. We're a married couple with no children or other dependents. We own our home, have $25,000 in savings accounts and enjoy a monthly income of $350 from a retirement annuity. Should we put part of our savings into another annuity to offset a possible lowering of bank interest? — B.A.

A. I suggest giving thought to the joint and survivorship contract, the new variable income contract that is now available on an individual basis, and another innovation — the annuity-mutual fund package being sponsored by a few insurance companies. Newspapers are carrying advertisements of these recent developments enabling you to send for information before you arrange an interview with an insurance representative.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 15, the 15th day of 1969 with 350 to follow.

The moon is appreaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening start are Mercury, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1831 the first practical locomotive built in America made its maiden run over the Charleston and Hamburg Railroad tracks in South Carolina.

In 1922 the Irish free state was born.

In 1965 British Prime Minister Winston Churchill went into a coma fom which he never revived. He died Jan. 23.

In 1968 nearly 300 persons died in earthquakes in western Sicily.

A thought for the day: Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The highest compact we can make with our fellow man is 'Let there be truth between us forevermore'."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

A Little Twist Of Opponent's Arm Can Get Favorable Lead

If life were really beautiful you could ask for whatever you wanted, and you'd get it. In real life, the only way you get it is in the neck. When you want a favor you must twist somebody's arm. If you're out of practice at arm-twisting, you might notice how South managed it in today's hand.

HEART LEAD

West opened the ten of hearts, and declarer won in dummy with the king. If neither opponent had bid South would have drawn trumps and taken two club finesses. This line of play would give South 3 to 1 odds on making his slam.

In view of East's vulnerable overcall, however, South feared that East had both of the missing high clubs. If so, it would be necessary to twist East's arm and make him give dummy a free club finesse.

The plan would have been easy if trumps had broken normally, but East threw a heart on the first round of trumps. South therefore continued with four more rounds of trumps, discarding two low clubs from the dummy.

NOTHING SAFE

No method of discarding was safe, but East made the natural discards of two hearts and three diamonds. South thereupon led a heart to dummy's ace and ruffed a heart, followed by the ace of diamonds and a diamond ruff. This reduced East to his three clubs.

East could not have saved himself by discarding four hearts and one diamond on the five trumps. South would lead a heart to the ace and ruff a heart, and East would have to part with two diamonds since a club discard would be fatal. South would then take the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond to reach the same position.

THE SLAM

South could now try a finesse with the ten of clubs. East won with the queen but then had to return a club, giving dummy a free finesse and the slam.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Despite the excellent distribution this hand is not quite worth an opening bid. Change each of the red queens to a king, and the hand would be worth an opening bid of one heart.

Demise Of The Post—Commentary On America?

The death of a magazine as much a part of American life as was the Saturday Evening Post should, we suppose, be occasion for mourning.

The Post traced its ancestry back to the Pennsylvania Gazette, founded in the early 18th Century by Benjamin Franklin. Even without this rather tenuous link, it has a history of 148 years of continuous publication. But the Feb. 8 issue will be its last.

FOR THE FIRST HALF of the present century, the Saturday Evening Post was the favorite magazine of that vast class of Americans between the semi-literates who cannot get beyond comic books or confession magazines and the few raised-nose intellectuals who snub everything that has popular appeal.

In its pages appeared some of the best work of literary greats ranging from Jack London to F. Scott Fitzgerald, from Stephen Crane to Stephen Leacock, from Theodore Dreiser to Sinclair Lewis, from Ring Lardner to William Faulkner.

Post editors had their pick of the cream of literary output. For appearance in the Saturday Evening Post was the imprimatur of writing success, accompanied by large checks commensurate with its prestige.

BUT THAT Saturday Evening Post died several years ago. The magazine that will date its last issue Feb. 8 resembles it only in carrying the same title — in the same Cheltenham bold italic type, restored following several years as just "the Post" after it went from weekly to bi-weekly publication.

The Post's growth into greatness came after Cyrus H. K. Curtis bought it for $1,000 in 1897 and installed George Horace Lorimer as editor. By 1936, when Lorimer turned over the editorial reins to Wesley Wynans Stout, there were nearly three million "Post families," most of whom renewed their subscriptions automatically each year. A million more were added under Stout's six-year editorship. And, despite vagaries which began to undermine the Post's reputation in the '50s, the list rose to six million during the 19 years with Ben Hibbs as editor.

IN THE PRESENT decade, though, the Post has had a succession of editors and publishers — "bright boys" from Madison Avenue, promoters, lawyers, "financial wizards," each with his own "magic formula" and none with much understanding of what built the Post or of the great mass of Americans who once read it. Although circulation remained high until the latest publisher, financier Martin S. Ackerman, arbitrarily halved it last August, it was bought at great cost. The automatically renewing "Post families" were gone.

For the last seven years, the Post has been neither fish nor fowl nor good red herring. And the 4,425 pages of advertising that in 1950 made it a fat and profitable bundle dwindled to about 950 pages last year.

This week, for 50 cents (the price was a nickel until April, 1942), one could buy a Saturday Evening Post containing such un-Post-like intelligence as "How To Publish Dirty Books for Fun and Profit," by Martin Mayer.

Only link to the Post's great past in this issue is a "Hazel" cartoon by Ted Key, a regular for over two decades. And Key is not so funny as he once was.

THE DECLINE of the Saturday Evening Post might be interpreted as reflecting a decline in American society, with good taste losing its importance and literary quality its esteem.

We suspect, however, that the case is the other way around. We suspect that the great American middle class — of which it is so popular nowadays to speak disparagingly — indeed has better taste and higher standards than the "bright boys" think. We suspect there are still as many "Post families" as ever — but they don't care to read the characterless, unpredictable hodgepodge that for several years has masqueraded under the old familiar name.

Democratic Caucus Memo Hits At Freedom Of Information

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A strange and almost unbelievable memorandum was sent to all members of the Assembly Democratic caucus, their secretaries and staff recently by Jess Unruh, Assembly Democratic leader and George Zenovich, Assembly Democratic caucus chairman.

The memo had to do with the Associated Press strike, which caused a picket line to be formed on the second floor of the capitol, where the AP office is located. It followed action of the Democratic caucus in voting to support the strike.

"Please inform your secretaries and staff members not to cross that picket line for any purpose whatsoever," the memo read, "nor should press releases be sent to the Associated Press.

"Members should not conduct news interviews with persons representing the Associated Press until the strike has been settled."

It is difficult to believe that nearly half of the representatives of the people of the state of California, numbering some 20 million, should take an action which in effect, denies the people of the "right to know."

The only source of information a good many newspapers and radio stations have from the capitol is the Associated Press. Thus, to deny these media public information from duly elected representatives of the people constitutes an act which is tantamount to fostering secrecy in government.

The issues involved in the strike are issues between the striking employees and the management of the Associated Press, and are no concern of legislators elected by the people to represent the people.

The caucus action harks back to the time many years ago when a governor of California closed his press conferences to a reporter because the governor didn't like what the reporter wrote. The ban didn't last long, because the rest of the reporters recognized the threat to freedom of information, and filled in the banned reporter with all that transpired.

Had the Democratic caucus enough votes in the Assembly to pass a resolution containing the orders in the caucus memorandum, it is in the realm of possibility that such action would have been taken by the Assembly, thus giving actual official recognition to the attack on freedom of information. Fortunately in this instance the Democrats are a minority.

But even the caucus action is a road to withholding information from the public, and could have serious implications on the right of the people to know.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Council Attacks District's Bigotry

As temporary officers of the fledging Human Relations Council of the Dixie District Community (Lucas Valley, Marinwood and Terra Linda), we feel we owe Lanny Berry and our community a public summary of our informal investigation of bigotry, white racism and individual harassment that led to the formation of our council. We agree with Mr. Berry that the cancer of bigotry found here — and in all other communities in the nation as documented in the Kerner Report — shares blame for Mr. Berry's concealed (unloaded) weapon charge and conviction.

For it is indeed true, as we found during our investigation of discrimination charges made by Mr. Berry and nearly every other black family and several Oriental families living here, that petitions to keep blacks out — despite an open housing policy — name calling, spitting, bodily abuse and other forms of open and subtle discrimination had occurred in this community since its beginning. (We also found that another group — the physically handicapped — had suffered indignities.)

Minority families over the years have tried many quiet ways to combat discrimination here. Some have sought the aid of school personnel, others have tried talking to parents, a few have called in sheriff's deputies, and most have done community service work to gain community acceptance. The Berry family also tried these quiet avenues that, unfortunately, have had the effect of sweeping discrimination under the community rug . . .

It is ironic that the Herbert Mooney family should be the one to have been involved in the concealed weapon charge against Mr. Berry. This family is dedicated to the fight against discrimination. . . . Indeed, the families have had long discussions since the incident. While the two families may never be close friends, they are communicating.

It is hoped by the Human Relations Council that something positive can be gained from this experience. . . .

Our next meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. at Miller Creek School Library will include the first election of officers.

Striking Teacher Defends Walkout

Your editorial of Jan. 9 is so clearly and demonstrably inaccurate that even a greatly prejudiced person will hardly believe it, if he knows the facts.

You state the "each teacher has signed an agreement for the school year ending in June," and that therefore "teachers are breaking agreements that each of them has signed." Both statements are totally false. I have taught at San Francisco State for 10 years, full time. (Dr. Hayakawa has taught only part time for most of that period.) I have never signed any contract or agreement, during that time, except for a loyalty oath — later declared unconstitutional — and a sabbatical leave contract, long since expired. Nor has any such agreement as you describe ever been offered me to sign. Nor, to my knowledge, has any colleague of mine ever been offered or ever signed such an agreement . . . Even Theodore Meriam, chairman of the board of trustees, declared explicity, less than a month ago, that teachers had no contract and therefore no contractual rights. Two years ago the trustees reduced our pay without our consent; they claim the right to increase our working hours without our consent, and to fire us at any time for any reason. Contract? Agreement? Ask any lawyer . . . You speak of agreements that we have signed. Such an agreement is a contract. We have signed no agreements; we have no contracts . . .

The rest of your reporting of this tragic situation has been about on the level of this editorial, with the single exception of Richard Boyle's article of Wednesday. Much that you have said is flatly false; much else has been managed so as to produce false impressions. To your readers I offer these points. I think I could easily prove their truth.

1. The AFT (of which I am a member) is striking for meaningful negotiations, over the problems that have gradually and — in recent months — very swiftly been eroding the quality of the college . . .

2. The Trustees have made this strike inevitable by refusing to negotiate. They say that they will not even consider negotiating while the strike is on. But they never considered negotiating before the strike began . . .

3. The AFT strike is separate from the student strike, although in one area the striking students and the striking teachers share common goals. Both are striking for an educational system and a financial support that can make it possible for San Francisco State to serve the needs of its community. The AFT has not endorsed the specific 15 demands made by the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front. It has demanded that the grievances represtned by these demands be satisfactorily resolved. The student strike, and the grievances behind it, are real facts in our real lives as teachers. We would be insane not to recognize that those grievances must be settled before San Francisco State can resume a peaceful educational program.

4. The AFT not only has never supported nor condoned violence, it has urgently tried to reduce the potential for violence on campus by defusing the confrontation between students and police. This is why the AFT picket lines are so important. The AFT strike is the only hope for avoiding mass violence on campus, for that strike is explicitly and solely a peaceful, legal method of protest. . .

5. The strike has closed down the college as an effective educational institution. No real education is going forward. The claim that the campus is open and functioning is a farce.

Until the demands of San Francisco's ethnic minorities for an education shaped to their needs, and the demands of San Francisco State's teachers for a decent working situation and an appropriate form of academic government are met . . . there will never be peace at San Francisco State — or it will be Hayakawa's peace, brought about by the sword, and the institution that survives will not be worth attending.

One last word. All the trustees and the governor have to do to end the situation at San Francisco State, to preserve that college and perhaps the entire state college system from destruction, is to enter into meaningful negotiations. That is all. But apparently that is too much to ask. No wonder that on the state college campuses men and women of good conscience are desperate. And no wonder that they resent such editorials as your last.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE OWNER of a parking lot in the financial district called an emergency meeting of all his employees. "Boys," he announced, "there hasn't been a single complaint this week about a dented fender or scraped body. Now how can you expect me to pay you the wages I do if you leave that much space?"

AT THE children's hour: "Here's my report card, Daddy — and I'm sick of watching television, anyhow."

Richard Nixon's Toughest Job: To Make Democracy Work Again

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is one thing Richard Nixon must do as President or he won't be able to do much else.

That's unite the nation in mutual trust.

He sees this as a foremost challenge and is facing it openly.

We must bring the country together again, he says, calm its angers, quiet its fears.

ON THE EVE of the Civil War Lincoln faced nothing more difficult. Neither did F.D.R. in the midst of the Depression.

Nixon's task is tough because:

1. He is a minority President leading a minority party which controls neither house in Congress.

2. Because his election was so close, Nixon must earn his mandate by governing, since the voters didn't give it to him on Nov. 5.

3. The people who most need federal help — the blacks, the very poor, the unemployed, the ghetto dwellers — voted against Nixon, and the people who will have to pay most of the cost voted for him.

WHEN NIXON SAYS that his first necessity is to "bring the country together again," he means that as President he must rekindle the climate of trust and good will among the American people and that in so doing recover government by the consent of the governed. This is the heart of his goal.

He knows that if he can do that, nearly everything will be possible. If he fails, little will be possible.

IT SEEMS TO US that what has brought the American government near stalemate is this:

So many Americans have become so impatient, so frustrated and disdainful at the slow pace of racial justice and other social progress, and so divided over Vietnam that they seek to substitute government by violent protest for government by consent of the governed.

They are aided by many others who, though not violence-prone, accept or condone violence because they fail to see that the end of that road is either dictatorship or chaos.

DEMOCRACY in the United States can be preserved only when it is allowed to function. It has not been allowed to function well recently because violence has become so pervasive as to partially paralyze orderly political life.

The need now is to let new national leadership start proving itself.

It has earned consent through election. It deserves and needs — if we are to continue to have a democratic government in the United States — to have that verdict accepted in good faith and good will by those who voted against it.

That is the democratic process. That is the heart of majority rule. That is the heart of the voluntary compact which makes democratic government possible; namely, consent by the minority to majority rule until the minority through peaceful uses of free assembly and free speech can create its own majority.

But it won't be achieved for the asking. It will take doing.

NIXON WILL NEED to demonstrate promptly that his is an administration which cares, that he is committed to bringing the long-deprived blacks and the very poor into the mainstream of the economy and dealing with urban problems effectively.

He must make it visibly clear that as he tries new approaches to welfare aid, he will not prematurely cut back federal programs until he knows that his new approaches are working.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Bucher Appears As Victim Of Bungling Higher Up

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —The Navy can expect lots more criticism as a result of North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo, but few of the brickbats will be tossed at Cdr. Lloyd Bucher and his 81-man crew.

That is the present reading at the capitol, where new information on the seizure is being circulated now that members of the crew are telling their stories to Navy authorities.

Data now available suggests that there were a number of errors of omission or commission. Generally speaking, however, they do not appear to have been made on board the beleagured ship but further up the Navy chain of command.

TO USE an overworked Pentagon word, it appears no Navy "scenario" ever accurately envisioned a determined attempt to seize one of the lightly armed electronic spy ships which cruise close to unfriendly shores. To a considerable degree, Bucher and his crew seem to have been the victims of mistakes made by others.

Butcher's basic orders, drafted by his Navy superiors, were ambiguous. It is clear that the Pueblo skipper was not ordered to scuttle his ship rather than let it fall into Communist hands.

ONCE THE NORTH Korean patrol craft began to harass the Pueblo, Bucher's radio have studied the radio exchanges say Bucher got no help.

In contrast, according to these informants, the senior North Korean officer was being prodded, in radio exchanges, to get on with the boarding and seizure of the Pueblo.

The response which could have helped Bucher would have been the arrival of U.S. fighter planes, but none was then stationed in South Korea and none had been assigned to cover the Pueblo's mission.

CONTRARY TO some published reports, efforts were made to destroy some of the ship's sophisticated radar and electronic gear with explosive devices. These efforts were unsuccessful, however, and Pueblo crewmen then tried to do the job with axes.

There was not time to complete that sort of job, and it is now clear that secret materials were seized for analysis by Russian experts.

Navy spokesmen will face intensive questioning on these points in about a month. That is when House and Senate Armed Services Committees will begin their annual hearings on U.S. military posture. reports to shore headquarters brought him no useful instructions. Informants wh

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Part-Time Teachers Solve Schools' Problems

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

How some school districts tap local talent both to ease the teacher shortage and to improve the schools is described in a report just published by Catalyst, an organization fostering public service careers for educated women.

In a 1965 survey, Catalyst turned up 300 school systems in the United States that make some use of part-time teachers. Last year, it investigated their use in five cities: Detroit; Miami, Fla.; Framingham, Mass.; Cedar Falls, Iowa, and Niskayna, N.Y. The new report covers these five.

While Catalyst "has an axe to grind," since promoting public service careers for women is its reason for being, both its 1965 survey and last year's close examination in the five cities point up the fact that there are many able people, particularly women, who would welcome part-time teaching and could be of benefit to the schools.

MOST SCHOOL administrators, Catalyst reports, are averse to using any part-time teachers. They have preconceived notions that these people drawn from outside the education establishment will be "unprofessional," that use of part-time teachers will cause scheduling troubles, that they will not blend with the fulltime staff, etc.

These prejudices are so firmly held that in the two big cities investigated, central office administrators did nothing about hiring part-timers and often were not even aware of them — but principals recruited them to fill desperate staff needs.

None of the preconceived notions of the administrators proved true in practice, according to the Catalyst investigators. Of the 300 superintendents using part-time teachers who replied to the 1965 survey, 99 per cent reported these teachers were professional in their attitudes and were regarded as qualified professionals by their fellow teachers.

MOREOVER, the superintendents reported less absenteeism among the part-time teachers than among the full-time faculties. And administrators in the communities visited in last year's survey added another cogent comment: the part-time teachers, drawn from the community itself, "stay put" better than teachers generally. They also reported scheduling actually was made easier by the flexible hours of the part-time instructors.

In Framingham and seven other Massachusetts communities, part-time teachers are used in a variant of the team teaching idea. One teacher takes a class in the morning, another in the afternoon. These teachers partners, both part-time, work together well, principals reported. The pupils like having two teachers. And there is a fresh teacher for the afternoon session instead of a tired one.

In the other communities visited, part-time teachers are used for regular elementary school classes, to teach half-day kindergartens, and for special subjects in elementary and high schools. (In Miami, for instance, a local graduate of Taiwan University teaches Asian studies to high school students.)

AN OBSTACLE beyond resistance of administrators hampers wider use of part-time instructors in the schools, however: rigid and often unrealistic certification requirements.

For instance, Catalyst reports that in Niskayuna, N.Y., the high school science department has two teacher aides who set up experiments, etc. But they are not permitted to teach, although one has a master's degree and the other a Ph. D. They have not fulfilled New York's requirements for certification.

Since California's teacher credential requirements are among the most rigid and unrealistic in the nation, this would probably hamper wide use here of part-time teachers — even former teachers, which most of these women are.

One attribute of part-time teachers drawn from the local citizenry might be especially appealing right now, however: As established members of the community, they are not likely to be militants out to "destroy the schools to save them."

Nixon Will Support Extension Of Surtax

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla (AP)—President-elect Nixon, about to take charge of a war-swollen federal budget, has pledged to support President Johnson's recommendation that the 10 per cent income surtax be continued—until "the facts we face" permit repeal. (See U.S. budget story, page 1.)

"It remains my conviction that the surcharge should end as soon as requirements for the war, the budget outlook and economic conditions will permit," Nixon said last night. "It is my understanding that President Johnson shares this same view."

His understanding was carefully orchestrated.

The words Nixon used in a statement to describe his position, and those Johnson included in his farewell State of the Union message were virtually identical.

Said Nixon:

". . . Until the new administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts we face justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced, I will support the President's suggestion that the surcharge be continued."

And Johnson, before a joint meeting of Congress:

"The president-elect has concluded that—until his administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced—he will support my recommendation that it be continued."

Nixon and Johnson discussed the tax in a telephone conversation Sunday, and the President clearly received his successor's endorsement at that time.

Nixon's full statement:

"It remains my conviction that the surcharge should end as soon as requirements for the war, the budget outlook and economic conditions will permit. It is my understanding that President Johnson shares this same view.

"However, until the new administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts we face justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced, I will support the President's suggestion that the surcharge be continued."

Since his election, Nixon and his advisers had said repeatedly the tax should be repealed as soon as economic and budget conditions would permit.

As a campaigner, Nixon at one point said flatly he wanted the $15 billion levy to end on June 30, when it is due to expire unless Congress acts.

But generally, he linked its elimination with an end to the financial burdens of the Vietnam war. In Chicago, for example, on Sept. 4, Nixon said:

"I think that once the war is ended we should get rid of the surtax. It is a war tax and it should be ended because I think the tax level in this country rather than going up should be reduced."

The tax statement was Nixon's only public business yesterday—and it was prepared even before he flew to Key Biscayne Monday night. There were no announced callers on his schedule today, and no staff aides were with Nixon.

He was said to be working in solitude, and taking the sun now and then, in preparation for his inaugural address next Monday.

Mystery Offer To Buy Colleges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Somebody wants to buy California's state universities and colleges, all 28 of 'em.

The idea, says Director Andrew R. Lolli of the state General Services Department, is to lease them back to the state. California would get a big wad of cash and the investor would get a steady income.

The offer for the nine University of California campuses and 18 state college campuses is being looked into on an exploratory basis, Lolli said.

He declined to identify the buyer or say how many millions or billions were involved.

"As far as money is concerned," Lolli said, "there is no problem. The buyer painted a very rosy picture."

Attendance Area Idea Gets Cool Reception

The San Rafael Board of Education last night expressed concern about a proposal to unify the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area with the San Rafael High School District.

Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said he had heard from Rachel Conner, chairman of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization, that the proposal was one of several to be considered by the committee.

"I find it hard to believe that anyone would take this seriously," Kramer said.

Board members asked Supt. John F. Plank to express "their concerns and reservations" to the committee, scheduled to meet tonight.

Board Member Herman L. Childress said he was concerned that "it (the proposal) has come to this point without anyone consulting us."

Plank said the impetus for the proposal came from the Tamalpais High School District area.

Board members also approved plans for a six-classroom school to replace the Short School building which was demolished last month because it didn't meet the state's earthquake resistant standards.

Architect Chester Bowles Jr. Marshall and Bowles of San Francisco, displayed the model, which illustrated the provision for open space teaching area, which could be closed off for traditional, separate rooms.

Board members called for bids, but no bid opening date was set. Bowles estimated the cost at $184,000. The school would serve 150 to 180 pupils through the third grade.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

ATTENDANCE AREAS — Agreed that the present attendance areas for Terra Linda and San Rafael high, including busing of students from Santa Venetia to San Rafael High, be continued during the 1969-70 school year.

SABBATICAL LEAVES — Granted sabbatical leaves for the 1969-70 school year at half pay to Mrs. Janet Clark, second grade teacher at San Pedro School and Beverly Beeler, teacher of English at San Rafael High School.

TIME OFF — Approved granting presidents of teachers associations one day leave each month to handle association business, providing that the association pay the salary of the substitute teacher.

TEACHER EVALUATION — Adopted a revised policy on teacher evaluation which includes provisions for teachers to request evaluation by fellow teachers, which would be included, at the teacher's request, with evaluations by administrative staff. It also encourages teachers to use student evaluation and conduct a self-evaluation of his performance.

HIRING — Approved the hiring of William Ranney, substitute teacher, high school district at $4,757 for the remainder of the school year; Mrs. Mary Ward, intermediate grade teacher, elementary district, at $5,095 for the remainder of the school year; and Sidney Robbins, substitute custodian, maintenance department, at $2.71 an hour.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved the appointment of Jack Sims as athletic director at San Rafael High for the current school year, at a salary of $1,000 less the $630 he is paid for coaching, and the appointment of Donald Lucas as acting athletic director at Terra Linda High for the remainder of the school year, with compensation to be one period a day of released time.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Barbara Raff, teacher of educationally handicapped, elementary district, effective Jan. 24, because impending marriage will require move outside area.

LEAVE — Granted Mrs. Elizabeth Musser, music teacher, elementary district, leave for the remainder of the school year.

CREDIT CARDS — Approved the use of credit cards to purchase gasoline and oil for district cars and buses and for car rental. Herman L. Childress, national accounts representative for Standard Oil Co., abstained to avoid a conflict of interests after Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte said Standard Oil credit cards would be used.

TELEPHONE SERVICES — Received a report from Condrotte that the San Rafael City Schools telephone system is "most inadequate," and could be substantially improved by installing of six additional trunk lines, three incoming and three outgoing, at a cost of $90 for installation and $119 a month.

AUDIT — Accepted audits of the high school and elementary districts for the year ending June 30, 1968, compiled by Sleezer and Eckoff, certified public accountants, San Rafael, which contained no comment by the auditors.

TEXTBOOK — Adopted as a high school textbook "Applied Secretarial Practice" by Gregg, Fries and Rowe.

NEXT SESSION — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Jan. 28 at West End School.

I-J Editorial On Closed Sessions Rapped By Citizen

An Independent-Journal editorial Monday, dealing with closed sessions and spending of public monies, was rapped by a San Rafael resident last night at a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education.

The editorial challenged the board's right to hold a closed session to evaluate the performance of Supt. John F. Plank, a violation of the Brown Act governing closed meetings.

It warned against attempts by public bodies to hold closed meetings to discuss staff assignments or evaluate personnel as sessions preliminary to spending public funds.

"The veiled insinuation was dangerous to the San Rafael School District and possibly to the school bond issue," said John L. Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court.

He labeled it "inappropriate, irresponsible, sly, deceitful and culpable," and contended it "bordered on the libelous."

Levinsohn cited the editorial passage reading: "It seldom seems to occur to the elective official that it is the taxpayers' money they are spending on salaries and staff additions, and that the taxpayers have every reason to know what they are discussing."

Superintendent Plank said that after the editorial appeared he talked to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino and the closed session wouldn't include an evaluation of his work, as first announced.

The session would be only to discuss appointment of a principal for the new Glenwood Middle School, which is legal under the Brown Act, Plank said.

After Levinshon's comments, board member Carl J. Brown said, "Maybe we should take the paper on, instead of sitting back."

"The implication that we're not concerned with the tax rate is a canard," said Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., board president.

"By and large in the news columns we have had fair treatment," said Kramer. "It is in the editorials that the remarks are open to some question."

The taxpayers "get a crack at each of us every four years," have recall and access to bond and tax elections, Kramer noted.

The board held its closed session at the end of the agenda and reconvened in open session at 10:45, but took no action except to adjourn until Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at West End School.

Red Medical Pact

TOKYO (AP) — The Soviet Union and North Vietnam have signed a medical cooperation plan for two years beginning in 1969, Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency reported today.

Student Reports His Car Entered

A San Rafael High School student reported yesterday her car had been entered while it was parked on the school lot yesterday and had apparently been used to take drugs, police said.

Police said a narcotic kit containing pills, narcotic paraphernalia and several butts of what appeared to be marijuana cigarettes were found in the car.

The contractors state license board will grant a license Jan. 29 to Harris C. Jackson of Jackson's Hardware Inc., San Rafael, for limited specialty contracting, provided no written protests are filed before then.

Tam Board Hires Firm To Review Operations

The Tamalpais High School District board last night hired the firm of Arthur D. Little of San Francisco to study the district's operation, including financial and educational matters.

The selection from five applying firms came after the board decided to discuss the hiring in open session, rather than first having a closed session. Trustees authorized paying Little up to $8,000.

Decision on which firm will be hired to conduct a survey of district residents' feelings about the district was postponed until the board's 8 p.m. meeting Monday at district offices, Redwood High School.

The two undertakings were agreed upon earlier by the board because of failing bond issues and dissension among trustees, administrators, and teachers. School officials said details of the Little contract will be worked out later.

The board, with president Gloria Melbostad, and Trustee William B. Lewis absent, then discussed a proposed program for immediate building needs for the district totaling $1,250,300.

The proposal, presented by Supt. Chester G. Carlisle and to be financed from the district's special reserve fund on a three-year interim plan for temporary and permanent buildings, would spend $246,700 for a portable building, a lecture hall, and a multi-use center at Sir Francis Drake High School.

It would spend $578,400 at Redwood High, supplying two large portables for music and industrial arts, finish enclosing the student center, and erect a girls' gymnasium.

Tamalpais High would receive two large portables, one multi-use portable, some renovation of existing buildings, and a student center, at a total cast cost of $425,200.

Further study of the proposal will be made at the Monday meeting, district officials said.

Two Draw Probation On Drunken Driving

Two persons were esntenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving offenses.

They were: Jacqueline M. McNaughton of Mill Valley, fined $200 and placed on six months of probation for drunken driving Dec. 27 on Bridgeway, Sausalito, and William G. Shackleton, 69, of 170 Trinidad Drive, Tiburon, fined $250 and placed on six months of probation for his driving in Novato Jan. 2.

Five Stranded Teens Pick Wrong Car To Steal Parts

Five San Francisco youths, reportedly stranded in Fairfax after their car broke down early today, allegedly tried to remove the needed parts from a car parked on Olema Road, police said.

But the car they picked belonged to Grant Thompson, a San Anselmo policeman who lives in Fairfax.

Thompson reported he heard a noise about 2:50 a.m. and saw several people trying to remove the front wheel from his car, police said.

Fairfax officers were at Marin County Jail on another case, so San Anselmo police responded and found two youths at the car and three more hiding in the area, police said.

Steven C. Topinka, 19, was booked at County Jail on suspicion of tampering with a motor vehicle. He was held on bail of $300 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

His companions, Edward Kremers, 18; Thomas Finn, 18, and two 17-year-olds were not held.

Brothers Offer Pleas In Driving Episode

Douglas Goff, 23, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that he resisted a police officer Jan. 2 by driving off several times while an officer tried to issue him a citation. He was told to appear in court Feb. 14 for sentencing.

His brother, Glenn Goff, 29, pleaded innocent to charges of reckless driving and resisting officer, arising from the same incident, and was told to appear in court Feb. 11 for trial by judge.

Future Farmer Tells Of Trip To Europe

James Furlong, a member of Future Farmers of America whose recent trip to Europe to view farms was sponsored by the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce, showed slides and described his trip to the chamber last night.

Furlong, who lives in Bodega, said that he found European livestock not so well fed nor cared for as American stock.

Pleads Guilty

Colin Herbert Sparks, 25, of San Anselmo, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to resisting a police officer Dec. 16 in that city. He was ordered to appear in court Jan. 31 for sentencing.

Man Arrested Again In Probe Of A Burglary

A 26-year-old San Rafael man, already held for entering a neighbor's apartment, was booked on suspscion of burglary against another neighbor, San Rafael police reported.

The manager of the apartment where the suspect, Ronald Duane Fetter had been living, turned over to police a woman's coat and an electric razor, valued at $132.

The items were turned up by the manager, Kenneth Faulkner, while cleaning out Fetter's apartment after the suspect had been evicted. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Shaw, a neighbor of Fetter, told police the two missing items belonged to them.

Cora Sue Palmer, who also lives next to Fetter, identified him as the man who choked her and stole her wallet Saturday.

Fetter pleaded innocent to the Palmer burglary yesterday and was held on bail of $6,250. He also faces trial on earlier charges of writing bad checks, to which he also pleaded innocent. He is to appear in Municipal Court on Jan. 20.

701 Plan's General Development Policies Win Nod From Planners

General development policies of the 701 plan, including one which calls for eventual conversion of Lytton Square into a pedestrian mall, have been approved by the Mill Valley Planning Commission. (See another Mill Valley Planning Commission story, page 9).

Approval of the plan for the downtown, Miller Avenue and Alto Center shopping areas came on a split 4-2 vote with Commissioners Robert E. Burton and Paul E. Rosenthal dissenting. Commissioner Edward J. Boessenecker was absent.

At the commission's meeting Monday night, Rosenthal and Burton said their objections were not with the overall policies but with the section dealing with Lytton Square, Harvey E. Bragdon, planning director reported.

Burton urged an amendment which said a pedestrian environment should be fostered in the downtown area by creating a "pedestrian mall in Lytton Square" and by considering the "reorientation of traffic patterns and parking" in the area to improve its "visual appeal . . . and pedestrian, vehicular and service access to businesses. . . ."

The amendment, an attempt to mollify merchants concerned about the loss of storefront parking, would have replaced a section calling for the closing of Miller Avenue between Sunnyside and Throckmorton avenues, the eventual closing of Throckmorton and Corte Madera avenues and the extention of Madrona Avenue to Miller and of Lovell Avenue to West Blithedale Avenue.

In arguing against the amendment, Farrell said the key issues in the future downtown development were the pedestrian mall and street closings and any attempt to water down the statement would weaken future chances of putting the policy into effect, Bragdon said.

Policies approved by the commission call for:

Addition of 222,000 to 306,000 square feet of retail space in Mill Valley by 1980 with the "major portion" going to the downtown area, and with the rest absorbed by the Locust-La Goma streets (lower Miller Avenue) and Alto Center areas.

Greater efforts to promote professional services for the convenience of residents and a better opportunity for Mill Valley professionals to work near home with new office development directed toward the established commercial areas. Residential areas adjacent to the downtown area should be rezoned to allow expansion of office space available.

Limited provision for automotive sales shops with service stations limited to arterial streets and heavier commercial sales and services to a portion of the south side of Miller Avenue.

Reservation of vacant commercial land to meet the commercial needs of 1970-80. The report warns against the temptation to promote development of vacant commercial sites "regardless of the suitability of the use."

In the East Mill Valley marina district, commercial activities along the waterfront should be limited to uses directly and primarily related to adjacent recreational facilities and professional business and financial services should be prohibited, the policy says.

The professional administrative zone on Camino Alto near Sycamore Avenue should be limited to the present boundaries to preserve the non commercial appearance of properties fronting on public parklands.

The plan also calls for the city to work closely with the county in the development of Dolan's Corner.

It recommends limitation of industrial uses to those similar to office type activities, noting most industrial uses are unsuitable because of proximity to residential areas.

In the circulation policy, it calls for Miller to be developed as the major arterial serving the downtown and Hill residential areas. Traffic should be encouraged to use Miller over East Blithedale by a redesign of the Camino Alto-East Blithedale intersection and development of streets connecting East Blithedale and Miller between Millwood and Hill streets, according to the policy.

The policy statement also recommends development of a pedestrian and bicycle trail from Richardson Bay to Lytton Square along Arroyo Del Presidio Corte Madera, and that provisions are made for inter and intra-city public transit.

The commission will consider design details of the three commercial areas as recommended in the plan at its next four meetings, starting Jan. 27.

The 701 plan was financed by city and federal funds and prepared by the Sedway and Cooke, urban and regional planners in San Francisco.

TV Store Looted

Burglars stole $410 worth of merchandise from the showroom of Silva's Appliance Center, 402 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, sometime Monday night. Taken were two transistor radios, two portable television, a stereo tape player and a record player. Police said entry was made by breaking two large rear windows.

Prescription Forgery Probe

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of attempting to pass a forged prescription at Long's Drugs in the Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, police said.

Police said the pharmacist, Edgar P. Filippetti, was suspicious of the hippie-type youth, Eugene Richard Rudnick, 103 Greenfield Avenue, and called the physician named on the prescription.

The doctor said he had not written the prescription and reported a similar incident had occurred a few minutes earlier at the Disco pharmacy in Larkspur.

Rudnick was held on bail of $2,500 to oppear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Tachometer Stolen

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Witch Doctors Had Knowledge In Common With Psychiatrists

VAN DELLEN

Witch doctors and native healers knew a few psychiatric principles a thousand years before Sigmund Freud was born. Their savvy centers about abreactions, a form of mental catharsis.

It is a technique that creates an intense state of excitement followed by a temporary nervous collapse or trance. During abreaction, there is a release of powerful emotions that might help the victim.

FREUD IS USED in this analogy because he repeatedly stressed that an emotional release had to occur if treatment was to be successful. Among witch doctors, this information had been handed down from father to son or via preceptorships for generations.

These primitive healers knew that this was necessary "if the spirits are to leave the victim." Dr. William Sargant, a British psychiatrist, studied witch doctoring, zar, and voodoo in many parts of the world.

IN KENYA, witch doctors referred persons with organic illnesses, such as malaria, to the Western physicians. Local neurotics were drummed into a trance and state of collapse twice a week. The majority got well, except the severely depressed who are beyond this type of help.

Modern shock therapy has some similarities in creating abreactions, but this form of treatment is stronger and more likely to be successful. Drugs also are available for depressions.

GROUP ABREACTION proved to be a powerful remedy in the early church. Faith healers deliberately induced an ecstatic state using their "gift of tongues." All the drumming, dancing, and other methods effected a release of repressed fears and tensions.

In these instances, talk cures. Primitive healing methods also utilize the "acting out" of many repressed emotions, such as fear, anger, and even sexual deviations and desires.

The native practitioners play an important role in treating mild psychiatric disorders. The more serious conditions leave much to the imagination. Today hospital care is available for some. The depressed and confused may just sit about their huts "possessed or spellbound."

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

OUTLOOK IN PSORIASIS

A reader writes: Has any person with psoriasis ever been cured?

REPLY

Yes. Some sufferers are seemingly cured in that the rash has not recurred. Others are relieved for months or years. A high percentage of psoriasis victims always have some evidence of the disease varying from a single lesion to extensive involvement. Furthermore, medicine that helps one person may be ineffective for another.

SURGERY AFTERMATH

A reader writes: If a person in her 30s is operated on for ruptured disk, will she develop arthritis in that area later in life?

REPLY

Possibly. Most of us will have arthritic changes in the spine later in life. I doubt if persons who have had this type of operation will be bothered more than anyone else.

THYROID OVERDOSE

A reader writes: What are the symptoms of an overdose of thyroid extract?

REPLY

Nervousness, tremor, and palpitation are the most common manifestations.

BOYS PRIME STUTTERERS

REPLY

Yes, in a ratio of 4:1.

MAGNIFYING GLASSES

N. S. writes: I have seen advertisements for magnifying eyeglasses for older people. I wear bifocals for work only, to read fine print. Do you think magnifying glasses would interfere with my ability to see?

REPLY

No, these appliances are just another aid for the eyes.

Eel River Group Wins New Look At Diversion

A southerly routing of Eel River waters has been endorsed by the Eel River Flood Control and Water Conservation Association, in direct opposition to the state's planned easterly routing.

The association, of which Marin is a member, favored a routing through Clear Lake in Lake County because "it appears to offer distinctly more prospective benefits," the group's resolution said.

Lake County, which wanted the conveyance from the proposed Dos Rios Dam to pass through Clear Lake and hopefully clear up algae there, hired Kaiser Engineers of Oakland to study the problem.

The Kaiser report indicated Eel River water would have such an effect on Clear Lake and the state has agreed to re-evaluate its proposals in view of the Kaiser report.

Larkspur Racial Problems Panel

"Guess who's coming to school" will be the topic of a panel discussion sponsored at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Clemente School by the four parent-teacher associations in the Larkspur School District.

Panelists for the session, to deal with basic interracial communications in the home, school, and community, will be Libby Byers of the Head Start program; Arturo Baca, Terra Linda High School teacher; Dr. William L. Clark, Mill Valley School District board member; Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Department, and Dr. James Hirabayashi, San Francisco State College professor.

Moderator will be Milton S. Cohen, district superintendent.

By the year 2000, farmers will use computers to determine when to plant, fertilize, irrigate, spray and harvest their crops.

Ginger Rogers Becoming The Darling Of London

LONDON (UPI)—One of the events of the London theatrical season has brought Ginger Rogers to town, and she's a hit before having a chance to take her first curtain call.

Miss Rogers, at 57, is making her debut on the London stage as "Mame" in the long-running Broadway show of the same name. More than a month before her opening night—Feb. 20 at the Theater Royal, Drury Lane—advance bookings already have covered the quarter million pounds ($600,000) Miss Rogers is getting for a minimum 54-week run. The fee is a British record high.

The star's entrance into Britain was a grand one, reminiscent of the publicity-staged hooplas of the 1930's when Miss Rogers was the dancing darling of Hollywood paired with Fred Astaire.

First, at dockside, there was a 55-piece brass band to welcome her. Then she travelled to London's Waterloo Station in a special flower-filled train which served a luncheon capped by her favorite chocolate mint ice cream. During the run, there was a showing of the Astaire-Rogers hit, "Top Hat."

From the station, Miss Rogers rode to her hotel in a horse-drawn carriage after a welcoming scene so hectic that one press photographer fell into the carriage in the crush.

Miss Rogers took it all in happy stride (she called the unhappy photographer "a darling little man") and didn't seem to think the whole affair was the least overdone. Asked if she didn't think the press agentry was a bit much she replied, "You have a view of it I don't. That would be your opinion, not mine. I think it's just wonderful to see people looking enthusiastic."

Much of the questioning had to do with how Miss Rogers kept herself "so young looking" and so shapely. To one such query she replied sweetly, "Thank you very kindly. If there is such a thing as keeping young, I think it's due to the fact I'm quite active. And I eat quite simply."

Did she have any movies on the horizon? (Her next movie would be her 71st). Perhaps, she said. She was accompanied to England by her fifth husband, movie producer William Marshall, and she said she and Marshall owned several movie scripts and might do one, perhaps even in London.

Doctors Urge X-Ray Chang For Dentures

NEW YORK (SS) — Nine months after a 24-year-old New York man was in an automobile accident he was admitted to a Bronx hospital coughing and vomiting blood. After his death a denture with a single tooth connected to a broad plate was found in the upper throat. The tip of the plate had perforated the trachea.

Dr. Barry M. Sherman and a team of three other physicians at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine report the case in The New England Journal of Medicine as an illustratio of the Medicine as an illustration of the need for dentures that can be seen in X-rays. An editorial in the same issue says:

"It is surprising that the potential hazard of radiotranslucent denture-base materials has evoked less comment in this country than in England. . . . The case report by Sherman et al. . . . may stimulate work to correct the deficiency." The editorial points out that radiopaque markers were attached to surgical sponges only a little more than 25 years ago.

The editorial goes on to say that "when high-velocity auto crashes occur so frequently and inflict massive trauma there is always real danger that radiotranslucent denture-base material will become embedded in soft tissue or block respiratory or alimentary tracts without being detectable by X-ray examination. The additonal hazard of swallowing or aspirating pieces of boken dentures increases the need for producing and using radiopaque resins."

The St. Charles streetcar in New Orleans is still in operation after 133 years of unbroken service.

Royal Family To Make Bow On Television

LONDON (UPI) — On the screen, sometime this year, television viewers will see a slender handsome man serving steaks at a family barbecue while his wife sits by with a smile and their son carefully mixes the salad.

Sounds like any ordinary home movie, but this will be a precedent-setting look at Britain's royal family which for the first time is permitting a filmed closeup of their life, formal and informal.

TV DOCUMENTARY

The television documentary—reminiscent of and yet much different from the former Jacqueline Kennedy's conducted tour of the White House—is scheduled for domestic and worldwide release during this spring or summer. No date has been set but there has been speculation it may coincide with next July's investiture of Prince Charles, 20-year-old heir to the throne, as Prince of Wales.

Richard Cawston, head of the British Broadcasting Corporation's (BBC) documentary film section, which is producing the special, has spent months with a camera crew following royal activities, sometimes inside hitherto forbidden preserves of Buckingham Palace.

Queen Elizabeth, her husband, Prince Philip, their daughter, Princess Anne, 18, and Prince Charles will sit down soon in the blue and beige private screening room at the palace to watch the first full-length rough cut. If the queen does not like any shots, they will be snipped out and burned.

INFORMAL SIDE

On the informal side, the camera crew has taken sequences of the queen feeding carrots to her horses, talking to her two younger sons, Prince Andrew and Prince Edward, out riding with her children at Windsor Castle, and on vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Balmoral's wooded grounds were the setting for the barbecue where Prince Philip served the steaks and Prince Charles prepared the salad. Heather, Whisky and Sherry, the family's pet corgi dogs, were frisking around.

What has never been shot before is the queen at work at Buckingham Palace, either at her desk or giving audiences. One scene in the documentary will show her receiving an ambassador on a formal call.

Viewers will not see the private rooms at Buckingham Palace but they will get glimpses of the state rooms.

These are the throne room with its single throne on a dais, the white and gold Georgian ballroom used for state banquets and investitures, the 12 great state apartments which open into each other through 12-foot-high mirror glass doors to give a dazzling panorama into the far distance under the light of a hundred crystal chandeliers.

CONSULTANT — Nancy Cozzo, a 16-year resident of Marin, is the new in-home decorator consultant for J. C. Penney, located in the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

25 Enterprise Crewmen Killed, 17 Missing In Carrier Inferno

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The U.S. Navy counted 25 dead, 85 injured and 17 missing today after a series of explosions and fire swept the flight deck of the nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise on a training exercise.

The 85,000-ton carrier, world's biggest warship, made it back to port yesterday under her own power from the scene of the disaster 75 miles southwest of Honolulu.

A Navy source first attributed the initial explosion to a bomb falling from an airplane landing on the carrier. Later this was officially retracted and a Navy spokesman stated that the cause of the blasts was unknown and under investigation.

The ship's nuclear power plant was not affected.

Planes from the Enterprise were taking part in an exercise at Kahoolawe, an uninhabited island used as a bombing range, pending redevelopment to the Western Pacific. It has been in action off Vietnam several times.

The Enterprise, known to her 5,000 men as the "Big E", had launched one flight of planes and was preparing to send off a second group armed with live bombs and rockets.

Sailors on the flight deck said the first explosion apparently occurred in or near an F4 Phantom jet parked about 75 feet from the stern of the ship.

At a dockside news conference following the arrival of the Enterprise, Navy officials said there were at least 10 explosions. Most of the missing apparently were blown off the deck into the sea.

A search of the disaster scene for possible survivors was carried on by the Navy picket ship Stoddart, the destroyer Rodgers and by Navy and Coast Guard aircraft.

The blasts tore three large

Radarman 2/c Michael Walraven of San Rafael, a crewman of the carrier Enterprise, escaped unhurt in yesterday's explosions aboard the carrier.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Walraven of 316 G Street, were enabled to talk with him by radiophone last midnight through a system set up by Hughes Aircraft Corp.

The company used some 20 radio channels to permit all uninjured men aboard the Enterprise to call their parents, at no cost to the men or their families, the Walravens were informed.

Rookie Cosmonauts May Link Ships

MOSCOW (AP) —Four rookie Soviet cosmonauts, riding Soyuz 4 and Soyuz 5, began maneuvering in space today for perhaps the world's first crew transfer in orbit.

A telecast from aboard Soyuz 5 reported about an hour after its launching today that the "splendid" craft was functioning normally and the three-man crew was feeling fine.

Earlier cosmonaut Vladimir Shatalov, flying alone in Soyuz 4, reported all was well aboard his craft. Shatalov was launched about 24 hours before his companion ship.

There were unconfirmed reports in Moscow that the two ships would link up, and one of the men from Soyuz 5 would climb aboard Soyuz 4. As usual, space officials kept silent on plans for the four-man mission.

The cosmonaut transfer would give the Soviets another "first" in space, and also would mark the first time they matched the U. S. feat of manned docking in orbit.

Ship commander Boris Volynov reported in the telecast from Soyuz 5 that he and his two fellow crewmen withstood the launch "very well" and had begun unspecified "joint experiments" with Shatalov's craft.

The telecast, relayed by videotape on Moscow television, showed Volynov and research engineer Yevgeny Khrunov smiling and relaxing in the cabin. The third man aboard, Alexei Yeliseyev, was not within camera range and might have been in the spacecraft's other compartment.

Shatalov radioed to ground controllers that he had seen the fiery launch of Soyuz 5 from his position in orbit.

Volynov later was reported using manual controls to adjust the inclination of his craft.

This was the first time since June 1963 that the Soviet Union has attempted a space feat involving two manned ships.

The United States put up four astronauts on a rendezvous mission in December 1965. Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., were lifted into orbit and stayed aloft 14 days in Gemini 7, successfully rendezvousing with Gemini 6 piloted by Navy Capt. Walter M. Shirra Jr., and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford.

State Senate Speeds BART Rescue Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has authorized a committee hearing as early as next week on a proposal to boost the sales tax by one-half per cent in the three counties of Bay Area Rapid Transit to wipe out the district's $146 million debt.

The Senate yesterday voted 30-3 to suspend the constitutional provision requiring a 30-day delay before a hearing could be held on the measure by Sen. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Berkeley.

Marks Seeks To Extend Bay Fill Duties Of Commission

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend indefinitely powers over bay fill by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission was introduced yesterday by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

Marks' bill would eliminate the termination date from the act that created BCDC in 1965. Under that act, the commission would go out of business this coming fall.

Marks noted that the Joint Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization, of which he is a member, is expected to recommend formation of a regional government in the Bay Area in 1971—if approved by the voters in 1970—thus bay fill controls would lapse for at least two years if BCDC's life were not extended.

Marks said that his bill, submitted in skeleton form, also would amend the 1965 act to include recommendations in

Rogers Pledges Saigon Shove On Paris Round

Shape Of Table Is Scoffed

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — William P. Rogers told senators today that as secretary of state he will urge the Saigon government to proceed with the Paris peace talks regardless of disagreement over the shape of the negotiating table.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., quoted Rogers as telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a closed session that regardless of the differences, "these talks ought to be moved ahead."

Fulbright added his own estimate that the prospective Republican cabinet appointee is "not dogmatic—he hasn't made up his mind that we can't negotiate with the Communist countries."

BACKS ROGERS

"My feeling is that he is a broad-gauged man, not doctrinaire, and capable of adjusting to change," Fulbright said.

He said that Rogers felt there was some substance in the argument that the shape of the table would involve some recognition of the Communist National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

Rogers himself said after the closed session that the new administration's aim will be to get an "enforceable agreement" at the Paris talks.

OTHER VIEWS

"We desire a negotiated settlement on an honorable basis that satisfies our commitments in Vietnam," Rogers said.

Fulbright announced that he intends to support confirmation of Rogers and Elliot L. Richardson, Massachusetts attorney general, as under secretary of state.

He said the committee will hear Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, designated by President-elect Nixon as the new administration's chief negotiator at Paris, in a closed session.

Fulbright seemed to accept the Republican position that no confirmation is needed for

LBJ Sends $195.3 Billion Budget—His Last—To Hill

By JAMES L. RHODES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lyndon B. Johnson today proposed a $195.3 billion budget that was both a proud valedictory to his presidency and a challenge to his Republican successor "to press ahead for freedom and justice at home and abroad."

His final budget foresaw a $3.4 billion surplus in the 12 months starting July. But it was pegged to the risky assumption that Congress will approve $12.6 billion in proposed taxes, including a one-year extension of the 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes. The levy now is scheduled to expire June 30.

Without the taxes, Johnson's budget would show an $8.7 billion deficit. Like all recent federal budgets, it set a new record for both spending and income.

The President said the surcharge was necessary to keep the government in the black and to help check inflation. However, he asked Congress to give incoming President Richard M. Nixon discretionary authority to reduce or end the surcharge if peace in Vietnam should cut military outlays enough.

Johnson also proposed raising the cost of a first class letter from six to seven cents, abolishing airmail as a separate category.

He likewise called for increases in social security withholding taxes on workers and their employers to pay for a 13 per cent hike in benefits; maintenance of the present 7 per cent excise tax on new autos and phone calls and higher taxes on truck fuels, aviation gasoline and airline tickets.

Here's how Johnson's fiscal 1970 budget compares with the current fiscal year (all figures in billions of dollars):

Revenues	186.1	198.7
Outlays	183.7	195.3
Surplus	2.4	3.4

Although "optimistic" about the Paris peace talks, Johnson based his military budget requests on the assumption that U.S. troops will be fighting in Vietnam throughout the fiscal

Another Raid At Olompali

By DAVID DIETZ

The law returned last night to the unfettered and unflinching commune at Rancho Olompali.

"This is getting boring," said Donald C. McCoy Jr., leader of the hippie colony, as nearly 30 narcotics, juvenile and Marin district attorney's investigators searched the rambling rancho north of Novato for more drugs.

It was the law's second visit to the place in five days. This time, carrying a search warrant issued earlier in the day by Marin Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth, they found only a small quantity of marijuana and LSD.

Last Thursday, officers confiscated hashish, methamphetamine (speed) and a substance suspected to be heroin in addition to marijuana and arrested McCoy himself on suspicion of possessing pot.

McCoy, free on his recognizance, was not arrested last night. But five other residents of the colony were, including Carol Lee Garret, 30, a former television performer, and a man with long, strawberry blond hair who identified himself as Gandolph and reported his age as "infinite — I'm born every day."

McCoy is the 37-year-old former businessman said to have spent about $300,000 in eight months on the commune, whose headquarters in an historic 19-room mansion that dates to the 1840s.

"There isn't really any reason for this," he said last night, his eyes closed in seeming meditation. "The first time I expected it, but not this time."

"Both times I was doing the dishes," said McCoy, whose voice competed with the sound of dance music from a fancy stereo. "And they won't let me

State Of Union: LBJ Gives Parting Advice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has advised the Democratic majorities of House and Senate to give a sympathetic hearing to President-elect Nixon's program but to push ahead resolutely with legislation for social reforms.

Johnson said in a sentimental farewell to the nation last night that the prospects for peace in Vietnam are better now than they have been in the four years since Hanoi sent regular troops into the South.

But Vietnam was quickly passed over in Johnson's 44-minute final report on the State of the Union, a prosperous nation that sorely needs, he said, to repair urban blight, end racial discrimination, improve educational opportunities and guarantee the safety of its streets.

While reminiscenses of his 38-year attachment to Capitol Hill were the order of the night during his nationally televised and broadcast statement at a joint session of Congress, Johnson had some cogent advice to his fellow Democrats and supporters who led the applause that interrupted his speech 53 times.

Up in the gallery on his left, Lady Bird Johnson stood with her daughters, tears in her eyes, acknowledging the applause—for the last address her husband would make before a joint session of Congress. She had been there for the first one, when he pleaded for unity and asked that "God shed His grace on thee and crown thy good

Poll Shows One-Third S.F. Faculty Supporting Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A poll shows that about a third of the teachers at San Francisco State College say they support the teachers' union strike at the school, now in its 11th day.

Student militants and union teachers marched in front of campus entrances and often taunted students crossing the picket lines to go to their classrooms. Police guarded the entrances and campus buildings.

John Webb, 20, assistant speaker of the Associated Student Legislature, was arrested on charges of malicious mischief shortly after classes began for the day. Police said Webb attempted to plug toilets in the education building.

Tucker To Bow At La Scala

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Tucker will perform for the first time at La Scala next May in a new production of Verdi's "Luisa Miller."

He will sing Rodolfo, the part which he sang at the Metropolitan Opera last season when "Luisa Miller" was revived after being out of the Met repertoire for 37 years.

Tucker also sings this season in Verdi's "Il Trovatore," opening the season at Florence's Teatro Communale in December, and in Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" as his debut at the Teatro Dell'Opera in Rome.

Marines Tighten Viet Cong Noose

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Marines participating in an 8,200-man amphibious operation on the Batangan Peninsula got their first taste of action today as they tightened their noose on a Viet Cong stronghold 340 miles northeast of Saigon.

Rear Adm. W. W. Behrens Jr. of Harrisburg, Pa., reported the Leathernecks repulsed an enemy attempt to break out of the cordon, suffering two dead and seven wounded in a fierce exchange of small arms fire. Enemy casualties were not known.

Earlier, four Viet Cong were killed in another small skirmish and two guerrilla soldiers defected to the Americans, said Behrens. He also reported the Marines destroyed several tunnel complexes, captured 600 pounds of rice, corn and flour, and rounded up 700 suspects for interrogation by a South Vietnamese pacification team.

Behrens said the aid is to separate the peninsula's Viet Cong "activists" from the general population, estimated between 5,000 and 10,000.

Two Marine battalions swept ashore on Batangan Monday in what the U. S. Navy said was the biggest seaborne assault since the 1950 Inchon landing of the Korean War. About 5,200 troops of the U. S. Americal Division and the South Vietnamese 2nd Infantry Division joined up with the 3,000 Leathernecks yesterday.

Navy patrol boats have ringed the peninsula, sealing off the enemy's last escape routes as the ground troops push seaward. They hope to trap an estimated 800 North Vietnamese regulars and an unknown number of Viet Cong guerrillas.

"We want to minimize Viet Cong influence in the area and neutralize his efforts," said Behrens. "We will do everything in our power during this operation to protect the villager, and we intend to offer him enough support to remove his fear of Viet Cong domination."

Closer to Saigon, the allies claimed killing 306 enemy in five engagements yesterday east, west and south of the capital.

The sharpest action occurred near Tay Ninh, 48 miles northwest of Saigon, when enemy troops tried to ambush a U.S. supply convoy. Armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and jet fighters repelled the attackers in a seven-hour battle, killing 122. U.S. losses were seven killed, 10 wounded and two trucks damaged.

Another 169 enemy were reported killed by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops, supported by American air power, in three fights in the Mekong Delta, ranging from 54 miles southwest to 72 miles west of Saigon. Allied casualties were five Americans and one South Vietnamese trooper wounded.

Paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division killed another 15 enemy in a clash 100 miles east of Saigon, at a cost of three wounded.

Owls feed extensively on rodents and are therefore very beneficial to farmers.

LBJ Endorses Pay Hikes For Congress And Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson set in motion today legal machinery to give a $25,000 a year raise to members of the Cabinet, and a $12,500 increased to senators and representatives.

Along with his final budget, Johnson sent to Congress a formal recommendation for increases in executive, legislative and judicial salaries based on the report of a special commission created by Congress in 1967.

Under the law establishing the commission, Johnson's recommendations will become effective in 30 days unless one branch of Congress disapproves them in whole or in part.

The President heeded the advice of many members of Congress in cutting back the $50,000 salary recommended for them by the commission. They now receive $30,000. There was much sentiment on Capitol Hill that $50,000 was too high, and even the $42,500 figure may be opposed by some senators and house members who argue that any raise is inappropriate at a time when the government is trying to control inflation.

The 12 Cabinet officers, who now receive $35,000, would get the biggest increase under Johnson's proposal.

Johnson suggested smaller raises for the other executive levels.

Johnson recommended $62,500 for the chief justice of the United States, who now gets $40,000, and $60,000 for the eight associate justices, now paid $39,500.

For judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals and similar tribunals, he recommended $42,500; they now get $33,000.

France Seeks Mideast Talk

PARIS (AP)—France will formally propose within the next few days a Big Four foreign ministers' conference under U.S. auspices to seek a solution to the Middle East crisis, French government sources said today.

They reported the foreign ministers of the United States, France, Britain and the Soviet Union should consider how to put into effect the U.N. Security Council's resolution calling for Israel's withdrawal from territory occupied in June 1967, and a general peace settlement.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville told a Frence television interviewer today it was too much to hope for peace in the Middle East through direct negotiations between Arabs and Israelis, and, for this reason, the Big Four should intervene to put an end to the crisis.

In another development, Iraq announced its rejection of the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution for a Middle East settlement. That Arab nation maintains 20,000 troops near the Jordanian-Israeli cease-fire line.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Driver's Revenge

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Protesting the city's insistence they continue to wear jackets, ties and long pants in summer, Montevideo's bus drivers refused yesterday to allow passengers in shorts to board their vehicles.

Air Fare Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board is favorable to "a modest increase" in airline passenger fares, says the board's chairman, John H. Crooker Jr.

A 7 per cent increase has been requested by Eastern, Trans-World, Braniff International, United and Northeast Airlines, Crooker said, and, he saied American Airlines indicated it might ask for a boost.

Committees Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over Republican protests, the Senate has reduced the size of two key committees, Appropriations and Foreign Relations.

By a vote of 56 to 35, Appropriations was cut from 26 to 24 members and Foreign Relations from 19 to 15. This followed the defeat, 51 to 36, of a GOP effort to keep both committees at the previous level. The Democratic majority had decided in caucus to make the reductions.

Prince Flies Solo

BASSINGBOURN, England (AP)—Prince Charles, who began flying last summer and has logged 14½ hours in the air, made his first solo flight yesterday in a small trainer aircraft over eastern England.

His fatherm, Prince Philip, has flown more than 2,000 hours in more than 40 types of aircraft.

U.S. Seeks Guides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Information Agency said yesterday it is looking for 60 personable young Americans who speak Japanese to serve as guides at the American pavilion at Japan's world exposition in Osaka next year. The job will pay a minimum of $5,742 and will provide travel expenses and housing in Japan

Afro-American Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to establish an 11-member national commission on Afro-American history and culture was introduced yesterday in the House by Rep. James H. Scheuer, D- N. Y., and 22 co-sponsors. Scheuer said Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., is sponsoring a companion proposal in the Senate.

Renewal Voted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A $64 million redevelopment project, designed to provide jobs and housing for impoverished residents of the run-down Hunters Point area, has been approved by the Board of Supervisors.

The project, covering 125.5 acres, would provide 2,500 new homes in Hunters Point and an industrial park in nearby Butchertown, capable of increasing the current 1,500 jobs to 3,900.

Dock Pact Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Agreement on a three-year, contract between striking dock workers and the New York Shipping Association was reached yesterday. The move was expected to set the pattern for agreement in other ports. Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports shut down by the strike that began Dec. 21.

A spokesman for the shipping association said the new contract includes a $1.60 an hour increase in wages, fringe benefits and a new clause dealing with containerized cargo.

Rice Wanted

RICE (AP)—South Vietnam will purchase is 1969 an additional 100,000 tons of American rice valued at $18.5 million, the U.S. mission announced today.

LBJ Proposes Budget With Surplus Clause

However, the recent de-escalation of the fighting was reflected in a decline of $3.4 billion—from $28.8 billion to $25.4 billion a year—in estimated costs of the Vietnam conflict. It was the first such decline since the United States got involved in the Asian war.

Even so, total defense spending would rise by $500 million to $81.5 billion because of increased allocations for missiles, fast new nuclear submarines, the development of a high-performance jet fighter for the Air Force, more Cheyenne gunship helicopters for the Army and other improvements in weapons systems.

Spending for space exploration would drop by $300 million. But Johnson said the $3.9 billion remaining would finance further manned moon explorations after the planned Apollo landing later this year. It would also finance development of a nuclear-powered space rocket engine.

Overall spending would be boosted mainly by increased outlays for health, education and welfare programs.

Johnson proposed a new "urban development bank" to aid decaying cities; stepped-up housing and highway expenditures; and more money for air safety.

The President also proposed turning the post office into a non-profit corporation, requested higher outlays to fight crime and racial discrimination and called for bigger allocations for federal aid to education.

Besides laying out the government's fiscal requirements and program goals for the coming year, as he sees them, Johnson used his last budget message for an accounting of his five-year stewardship of the White House. He said:

"In my first budget message five years ago, I stated: 'A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures.'

"With this budget, I leave that kind of government to my successor."

Johnson virtually dared Nixon to propose major cuts in his spending proposals, which he described as "minimum requirements to fill urgent needs at home and abroad."

He said that under the past eight years of Democratic rule, "we have achieved an increase of 45 per cent in the nation's output of goods and services . . . the creation of more than 10 million new jobs . . . a reduction in the rate of unemployment to 3.3 per cent of the labor force . . . a decrease of over 17 million in the number of people living under poverty."

In an implicit challenge to his Republican successor to match this "impressive record," Johnson said:

"We have come far in our journey, but we are still a long way from our destination . . .

"I have faith that America will not now fail in its resolve, nor founder in its responsibility, to press ahead for freedom and justice at home and abroad."

To meet Johnson's goal of a fiscal 1970 surplus, the Nixon administration either nust persuade the Democratic Congress to follow a high tax policy or try to force through cuts in domestic programs which might touch off a legislative rebellion.

On the defense front, Johnson noted with pride that "our military forces today are the strongest in the world, capable of protecting the nation against any foreseeable challenge or threat."

Most of the praise for his five years in office however, went to what he called the "impressive" progress made by his administration in the domestic area.

In that five year period, Johnson said, government spending on social programs has more than doubled, aid to education has more than tripled, health outlays have increased four-fold and federal funds for job training have risen five times.

To continue that progress, Johnson recommended raising social security benefits an average of 13 per cent starting next Jan. 1. Some 2 million elderly citizens now getting the minimum benefit of $55 would be raised 45 per cent ot $80 a month.

To pay for the increases, the President recommended that the social security tax paid by employers and workers be increased from 9.6 per cent to 10.4 per cent of income with the taxable wage base increasing from $7,800 to $9,000 a year.

The nation's problem-ridden cities also came in for their share of stepped up aid. Johnson sought $750 million to continue the "Model Cities" program and urged establishment of a government-supported "urban development bank" to finance suburban and inne-city government programs.

Other city-oriented proposals would increase funds from $165 million to $206 million to help local and state governments fight crime in the streets.

Calling federal registration and licensing of guns an "urgent next step," Johnson also called on Congress to pass a stronger anti-gambling law and to improve prison rehabilitation programs.

The budget also would boost federal health program outlays by $1.6 billion to $13 billion with part of the addition going for increased medicare and medicaid payments to the elderly and disabled.

Johnson called on Congress to offset some of the spending increases with reductions in some other existing programs, in addition to the $300 million slash in space funds. They included:

Foreign aid allotments would also be cut $120 million to a $2 billion level with one-fourth of the funds earmarked for reconstruction in Vietnam. The aid request was the lowest since the program was started after World War II.

Shoreline Trustees Study Policy

West Marin's new Shoreline Unified School District board last night received another chapter in the book of policies and procedures that will guide its operation, starting July 1.

The section on administration, submitted for trustees' study by Supt. Charles E. McCully, will be followed by others on personnel, business administration, instruction, students and the community.

Policies adopted will be similar to those of other Marin school districts, according to McCully, who said those being presented to the Shoreline board are a distillation of exisiting policies of Tomales High School and the elementary schools that comprise the new unified district.

Trustees Roy A. Parks and Robert W. Giacomini, who met with the Bodega Bay Elementary School District board on Jan. 8, reported that the Bodega Bay district has plans approved by the state for a one-room addition to its three-room school and is ready to go to bid on the project. The cost was estimated at $20,000, McCully said.

The Bodega Bay district will become a part of the Shoreline district on July 1, at the same time as West Marin, Tomales and Watson elementary and Tomales High School districts.

with brotherhood from sea to shining sea."

Last night brotherhood still seemed an elusive target in a land so divided four years after Lyndon Baines Johnson won the greatest landslide in history—that he renounced in the name of unity further claims on the White House.

"Most of my life as a public official," he said, "was spent in this building. For 38 years—since I worked here as a doorkeeper in the House of Representatives—I have known its halls and most of those who walk them."

"I hope it may be said, a hundred years from now, that together we helped to make our country more just for all its people — as well as to insure the blessing of liberty for our posterity. I believe it will be said that we tried."

At the end Johnson urged the national bipartisanship that he practiced as Senate majority leader when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president but which the Republicans gave him on a hit-and-miss basis.

"President-elect Nixon will need your understanding, just as I did," he told his former colleagues of the Capitol. "He is entitled to have it. The burdens he will bear will be borne for all of us. Each of us should try not to increase them for the sake of narrow personal or partisan advantage."

Johnson, who was said to have consulted Nixon the major points of his speech, called for:

A 13 per cent over-all increase in Social Security benefits, with attendant increases in payroll deductions. During the campaign Nixon called for linking benefit increases with the cost of living.

Funds to build 500,000 homes for needy families, with establishment of an urban development bank to make low interest loans on such dwellings.

Reorganization an revitalization of the antipoverty program.

A full $300 million appropriation to carry out the Safe Streets Act and legisation to require the licensing and registration of firearms.

As forecast, Johnson also asked for continuance of the 10 per cent income surtax to permit the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to show a $3.4 billion surplus.

Nixon said in a statement that the tax should end "as soon as requirements for the war, the budget outlook and economic conditions will permit," and added:

"However, until the new administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts we face justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced, I will support the President's suggestion that the surcharge be continued."

Some Republicans were complimentary; others were not.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who has been chummy with Johnson, called it a fine speech and added that beyond that "I'm inarticulate."

But Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., one of the architects of the Southern contribution to Nixon's electoral victory said he doesn't agree that the nation ought to continue the policies and progress of the last five years.

"We need a change," Thurmond said. "The people want a change and we expect to get a change."

a mailed poll by the Association of State College Professors said they opposed the walkout. The other 38 percent backed it.

The association said support was stronger among the part-time faculty members than among the fulltime members. There are 1,462 faculty members.

Most of the strikers belong to the American Federation of Teachers, Local 1352.

Action was delayed until Friday on a motion to make permanent the temporary injunction barring the teachers' strike. Victor Van Bourg, the teachers' attorney, said he would subpoena acting-president S. I. Hayakawa for Friday's hearing.

Black Students Union leader Bridges Randall, 22, was among five persons arrested yesterday in an incident which broke a calm which had prevailed Monday.

The arrests came when students tried to hustle Randall and others from the scene of a campus confrontation.

Randall was charged with inciting to riot, disturbing police and failure to disperse, and released on $2,500 bail.

One companion, Bruce Hartford, a student, was held for the probation department on felony counts of possessing brass knuckles and assaulting a policeman.

Fifteen aircraft on the flight deck were destroyed, including eight F4 Phantoms, six A7 Corsairs and an A3 Sky Warrior. A number of others were damaged.

Helicopters from Honolulu took 16 medics to the Enterprise to help care for the wounded. Those most seriously injured were taken to Tripler Army Hospital near Honolulu

Doctors at Tripler ordered 10 men suffering from serious burns airlifted to Brooks Army Hospital in Texas, which was a special burns treatment center.

Capt. Kent L. Lee, skipper of the carrier, said, "I can't emphasize too much the heroism and courage of the crew in fighting this fire."

Lee, who has commanded the Enterprise since January 1967 was nominated for rear admiral by President Johnson last June.

BCDC

The Legislature must act this year, declared Marks in a press statement, "to ensure that unrestricted bay filling is not allowed to resume."

Other Bay Area legislators also plan to introduce bills to keep tight controls on filling the bay. Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, and Assemblyman John T. Knox, said they would introduce bills to extend the life of BCDC for two years, to adopt the commission's proposed master plan, and to incorporate the commission's powers in the regional government proposed for 1971.

Lodge since he already holds ambassadorial status.

In another hearing Walter J. Hickel told senators that as interior secretary in the Nixon Administration he would assume major responsibilities for the wise use, management, development, and conservation of our entire nation's natural resources."

The Alaska governor also told the Senate Interior Committee at a hearing on his appointment by Richard M. Nixon that he would dispose of any interests that senators felt might conflict with his post as head of the interior department.

Hickel is one of the president-elect's more controversial appointees as a result of a recent statement saying he saw little sense in "a policy of conservation just for conservation purposes."

He also has had oil interests in the past and there have been allegations that his former close ties with the oil industry might conflict with his duties.

"I'm not in the oil business," Hickel answered firmly when Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee, questioned him about the allegation.

Also on Capitol Hill, David Packard urged the Senate to permit him to become deputy defense secretary and still keep his $300 million interest in an electronics firm he helped to found.

Packard proposed to place his shares in the Hewlett Packard Electronics Co. of Palo Alto, which produces measuring equipment for the government, in a trust whose profits would automatically be distributed to designated charities.

He told the Senate Armed Services Committee that under the plan, the trustees would be specifically prohibited from buying or selling the stock and he and his wife would be barred, while he was serving as No. 2 man at the Pentagon, from any dealings involving the funds held in trust.

And Nixon's selection for secretary of commerce, Maurice H. Stans, headed toward approval by the Senate Commerce Committee after he gave assurances that his personal affairs had been placed beyond conflict with his public duties.

Stans, who was former President Eisenhower's last budget director and earlier served as deputy postmaster general, testified that he signed a "blind trust" yesterday that would take over all of his financial holdings.

Stans said he had resigned all of his business directorships and assigned his partnerships to his trustees who have authority to handle his investments and interests without consulting or even informing Stans.

Leaking Butane Sickens Children

Two children were rushed to Marin General Hospital form their Lucas Valley ranch home today when they became ill from inhalation of butane gas which was leaking from a furnace.

Manuel Gonsalves, 35, owner of Big Rock Ranch on Lucas Valley Road, told the sheriff's office that his son, Kevin, 3, awakened him about 7 a.m. today and complained of not feeling well.

Another child, Suzanne, 1, also seemed unwell, Gonsalves said, and was taken to the hospital. Gonsalves said that the furnace in his home had recently been repaired and apparently was leaking gas.

The children were sent home after treatment.

OBITUARIES

Henry Lee Chenault Dies At 73

Henry Lee Chenault, 73, who operated a shoeshine stand in Petaluma for more than 42 years, died yesterday at his home at 32 West Street after an apparents heart attack.

A native of Athens, Ky., he moved to Petaluma in 1926 and opened a shoeshine stand on Main Street, now known as Petaluma Boulevard. In 1945 Chenault relocated his stand to the front of the Arcade Barber Shop on Western Avenue.

He served in the Army for five years prior to World War I and later reenlisted during the war years. He abandoned his business during World War II and worked at the naval shipyards at Mare Island.

GEORGE SKILLMAN

George V. Skillman of 161 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, died in a local hospital yesterday after a short illness.

Before retiring in 1960, Skillman, 75, and his wife, Lillian, operated the Fairfax Variety Store at 61 Broadway. He was also in charge of stock for Sterling Furniture Co. in San Francisco for 29 years.

His father, the late Theodore Skillman, owned the 160-acre Magnolia Stock Farm in Sonoma County and his mother was a typesetter on the old Argus newspaper in Petaluma.

The Skillmans, who were married 52 years, liked hiking and fishing and once climbed the 14,494-foot Mount Whitney, the highest peak in the United States, excluding Alaska.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

FRANCES CONFETTI

Frances Confetti, 84, of 346 Wilson Street, Petaluma, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Born and educated in Austria, Mrs. Confetti moved to San Francisco in 1907. In 1921 she and her husband, the late Emilio Confetti, moved to Petaluma, where they operated a dairy and poultry ranch for many years.

She is survived by a son, Frank Confetti of Petaluma, and four daughters, Mrs. Jaye Brick and Mrs. Frances Hoke of Petaluma; Mrs. Mary Springer of Sebastopol, and Mrs. Eleanor McKenna of San Francisco.

Requiem Mass will be said at 11 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Petaluma.

Intombment will be at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

WILLA RONNEBERG

Private funeral for Willa Ronneberg, 86, long-time Inverness resident who died at a local hospital Monday following a short illness, has been held at the Sunset View Mortuary in Berkeley.

Mrs. Ronneberg was born in Chicago, Ill., but lived in Berkeley for many years. Her late husband, Trygve Ronneberg, who died in 1942, was a structural steel engineer who was associated with Willis Polk in the construction of many large Bay Area buildings.

In 1938 when Ronneberg retired, the couple moved to Inverness, where Mrs. Ronneberg lived until she entered a convalescent hospital in Greenbrae about five years ago.

She is survived by two sons, Warren A. Ronneberg of Walnut Creek and Terres A. Ronneberg of Corte Madera; a daughter, Mrs. Janet Sedgwick of Los Angeles; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

JOHN M. PETERS

Requiem Mass for John M. Peters, 75, of 62 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael, retired gardener at Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, will be offered at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Name of Jesus Church, San Francisco.

Peters, a former amateur baseball player in the Bay Area, died Monday at a local hospital after a four-month illness.

A native of San Francisco, he lived there most of his life and had been a resident of Marin for the past two years.

He served in the Army in World War I and was a member of the California Grizzlies regiment. He also was a member of the Powell Street Cowboys, an informal social group in San Francisco.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Orville Houghton of San Rafael, with whom he lived, and a brother, Henry S. Peters of San Rafael.

Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Currovan's Chapel of the Sunset, San Francisco.

GRACE GILES

Funeral will be held for Grace B. Giles, 79, mother of Dan A. Giles of Fairfax, tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Harry Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Private inurnment will follow.

Mrs. Giles died Tuesday in an Oakland convalescent home after a long illness. The wife of the late Daniel W. Giles, a dentist, she was a native of Oregon, where she was a life member of the Elgin Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star in Myrtle Point. She lived in California for 41 years.

She is also survived by two brothers, George Black of Napa and Elmer H. Black of Phoenix, Ariz. and two grandchildren.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, says he may be making headway in trying to abolish what he calls the "buddy-buddy system" in the Senate and to restore "conscientious voting" by Democratic members.

THE GOVERNOR

Says there is too much stress on the so-called new left philosophy in the state's higher education system and more conservative views are needed to achieve a balance.

THE LEGISLATURE

Final Action

Meeting—Postpones legal date of the Republican State Central Committee meeting from this Sunday to Jan. 26 to avoid conflict with President-elect Nixon's inaugural and inaugural events; AB 8, Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks.

Bills Passed

Tax — Allows the state to return to Los Angeles the local sales taxes inadvertantly paid to the state under 1968 law permitting the city to assess an extra one cent sales tax for its own collection and use; AB 22, Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

Bills Introduced

College — Establishes seven-man local board to govern San Francisco State College; AB 103, Burton, D-San Francisco.

Economy — Prohibits state civil service employees from being laid off on grounds of economy; AB 110, Powers, D-Sacramento.

ID — Authorizes Department of Motor Vehicles to issue identification cards to any person 18 years or older rather than 21 years or older; AB 109, Briggs, R—Fullerton.

Bullet — Requires notification of authorities within 24 hours of time an auto is struck by a bullet; AB 108, Briggs.

Mental — Requires boards of trustees of state hospitals to elect a chairman and meet at least once every three months; requires state meeting of all trustees in Sacramento in January; AB 107, Duffy, R-Hanford.

Marijuana—Makes new marijuana penalty law retroactive, permitting felony or misdemeanor determination for those convicted before new law went into effect Nov. 13, 1968; AB 112, Z'berg, D-Sacramento.

Resolution Introduced

King— Requests Gov. Ronald Reagan to proclaim April 4 as Martin Luther King Day in California, ACR 15, Warren, D-Los Angeles.

THE SENATE

Resolutions Approved

Miller — Expresses sorrow over the death of Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, on Jan. 4, Teale, D - Railroad Flat.

Beek — Memorializes Joseph A. Beek, secretary of the Senate, who died late last year; SCR 3, Schmitz, R-Tustin.

Students Invade Trustee Talks; Fight Follows

STANFORD (UPI)—A brief scuffle broke out yesterday after about 30 demonstrators burst into a meeting of Stanford University trustees to demand a halt to school economic and military research projects on Southeast Asia.

The demonstrators, students and non-students, were organized by Students for a Democratic Society and circulated a demand for the resignation of three trustees.

Stanford President Kenneth S. Pitzer said disciplinary proceedings would be initiated against students who took part in the scuffle, which broke out between administrators and the demonstrators.

Destroy Depot

VIENTIANE (AP)—Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas destroyed a government munitions depot about 8 miles east of Vientiane early this morning, government sources reported.

Speaker Announced For Drath Benefit

Alan Watts, a writer-philosopher on Oriental religions, will speak at a benefit for Phillip Drath, unsuccessful candidate for Congress, at 8 p.m. Jan. 22 at Campbell Hall, Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito.

Watts will speak on the subject, "Two Worlds, Colored and Discolored."

Bank Extends Branch Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wells Fargo expanded its bank branches to 245 by acquiring the three Ventura County members of the Channel Islands State Bank yesterday, exchanging 1.1 share of its stock for one of Channel.

It also prepared to expand into related financial fields by organizing a holding company, Wells Fargo & Co. That's the name under which the bank and express firm was founded in 1852.

Dru g To Infant Just Too Strong

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) —A doctor put a decimal point in the wrong place and a 2-week-old infant died of a drug dose 10 times too strong.

Sheffield City Coroner Herber Pilling ruled yesterday the death of baby David Watkins was an accident after Dr. Kenneth Allen admitted making an "arithmetical" error in calculating a dose of the drug Digokin.

Pilling said, "There may be danger of a similar incident in the future" and urged the government to forbid the use of decimals in drug calculations.

Earthquakes Hit Towns In Turkey

ISTANBUL (UPI)—An earthquake shook Kalkan and Finike, two small towns on the southernmost tip of Anatolia, 120 miles from Antalya, early today, officials said.

Reports from the area said there were no casualties, although about half the houses in Kalkan were badly damaged and eight collapsed completely.

The wild mink is active both day and night and equally at home on land or in water.

Federal Aide Bares Error On Tax Forms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service has disclosed an error in its income tax instruction booklet that would have let Uncle Sam collect an extra $4 million from Californians on their 1968 returns.

Charles E. Kingman, acting district director, said yesterday the mistakes were printed on page 15 of the booklet in the optional sales tax tables used by persons who itemize their deductions.

The IRS table was based on a sales tax rate lower than California's 5 per cent. The difference in deductions ranged from $1 to $6 for persons making up to $20,000 and would have affected about 4 million Californians.

The average California wage earner would have lost $4 in deductions and paid about $1 more in federal taxes than necessary. Slightly more than half of California's 7.5 million federal income tax payers itemize their deductions.

Kingman blamed the error on last fall's hassle between Gov. Ronald Reagan and the State Legislature over property tax relief. The IRS, facing a printer's deadline, assumed no agreement would be reached and the sales tax would automatically drop to 4.5 per cent in October.

Kingman said the government was printing up new charts which may be obtained at federal tax offices.

Newton Asks Out On Bail For Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court was asked yesterday to release Black Panther Huey Newton on bail, pending his appeal of a manslaughter conviction.

Newton, presently held at Los Padres State Prison, was convicted last fall of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Oakland policeman John Frey.

Alameda County Superior Judge Monroe Friedman refused to grant bail during appeals, so Newton's attorneys asked the Supreme Court to grant a writ of habeas corpus setting "reasonable" bail.

The petition said Friedman unjustifiably denied bail because "of a bias against the petitioner because of his race and role as the founder and leader and the minister of defense of the Black Panther Party."

The attorneys said the primary purpose of bail was to guarantee court room appearances and that Newton was entitled to bail because he had always appeared previously.

The petition said Friedman had ignored the court appearance function of bail and considered only whether Newton "would be a danger to the community."

Meeting Not Held

The meeting of the San Rafael Elementary School District's steering committee for a bond election Feb. 18 was not held Monday night as scheduled because the chairman, Paul McMullen, could not be present. It was rescheduled for 8 p.m. Monday the the administration building.

Unruh Gives Reagan Pledge On Majority

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — Assembly Democratic leader Jess M. Unruh said today he'll oppose any efforts by his party to depose lower house Republican leadership if the slender GOP majority is lost through emigration to Washington.

The Inglewood Democrat said he was announcing his position "because of reports Gov. Ronald Reagan has asked several Republican legislators not to join the (president-elect Richard) Nixon Administration because if they did so, Democrats would seek to regain control of the Assembly."

The GOP won control of the Assembly, 41-39, in the November election and elected Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, Tracy, as speaker, replacing Unruh.

But there are reports the Nixon Administration will offer Washington positions to Assemblymen John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, and William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

(Bagley is in Washington this week on legislative business and said he also would meet with members of the Nixon administration.)

"The Nixon Administration needs the best men it can get, and it should feel free to draw on the talents of Republicans in the California Assembly," Unruh said.

"Governor Reagan should not use the possibility of a change in Republican leadership of the Assembly as a pretext for denying to the new national administration the manpower it needs and wants.

"The Republican Party has won a slim majority in the state Assembly and they should be allowed to shoulder the full responsibility of running the state government for the 1969 legislative session," he said.

Bethel Baptists Plan Dinner, Church Election

The annual dinner and business meeting of the Bethel Baptist Church will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the church at 1929 Novato Boulevard, Novato, according to Rev. Wilbur J. Bullard.

The budget for the year and plans for a building expansion program will be presented. Officers also will be elected.

The nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Verna Dulin, will present the following officers for election: Milford W. Carroll, chairman of the board of deacons; Melvin C. Jensen, vice chairman; Lee R. Smith, finance chairman; William H. Crowell, worship committee; Philip E. Dickinson, maintenance; George Van Diepen, missions, and William J. Olsen, home interest and building and planning.

Deaconesses to be presented are Mrs. Gerald E. Barnett, Christian education chairman; Mrs. Philip E. Dickinson, treasurer, and Mrs. Hubert Cole, church clerk.

Gross National Product Up But Boom Seen As Slowing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department reported yesterday that the gross national product (GNP) for 1968 rose to $861 billion in the last three months of the year, a 9 per cent gain over 1967.

The GNP, the sum of all goods and services produced in the country without compensation for inflation, rose by $18.8 billion during the last quarter of the year, the department said.

Because the areas in the economy where growth took place in the final quarter are substantially different from the areas of growth six months ago, some economists speculate that the hoped-for abatement of the business boom may be taking place.

Of the 9 per cent rise in the 1968 GNP, 4 per cent reflected higher prices, the department said, but the balance of 5 per cent — an unusually high amount—represented real growth of output.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that industrial production continued to rise in December, by about 1 per cent. Over 1968 as a whole, industrial production averaged 4.6 per cent higher than in 1967.

The most striking change in the fourth quarter, compared with the third quarter, was a slowdown in the spending increase for personal consumption. This rose $13.2 billion in the July-September period, but $5.2 billion in the final quarter.

This lower rate of increase in consumer spending is an indication that the President's income surtax may have taken effect in slowing down the business boom, some economists said.

Enrollment Policy Will Be Considered

The Marin Junior College District board will consider setting a maximum enrollment of 5,000 full-time students at the College of Marin at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in Room G-1 of the physical education complex.

College officials said the present enrollment includes 4,355 full-time students.

Radio Panel Set On Marin City

Problems facing Marin City will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be Rev. Samuel Banks, chairman of the Marin City Council; Charles Story, executive director of the community services district; Donald Stutsman, executive director of the housing and redevelopment agency, and Richard Adams, attorney for the California Development Corp.

Questions will be accepted during the broadcast tomorrow. The program will be repeated by tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

83 Strep Cases In Marin Last Week

Eighty-three cases of streptococcus, including 54 in Novato, were reported last week to the Marin County Health Department. San Rafael reported 17 cases, San Anselmo, 5; Mill Valley, 4, and Corte Madera, Ross and the unincorporated area, one each.

There were also five cases of mumps, one of salmonella and one of infectious hepatitus, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said.

More than 178.4 million tires were built and sold by the tire industry in the United States in 1967.

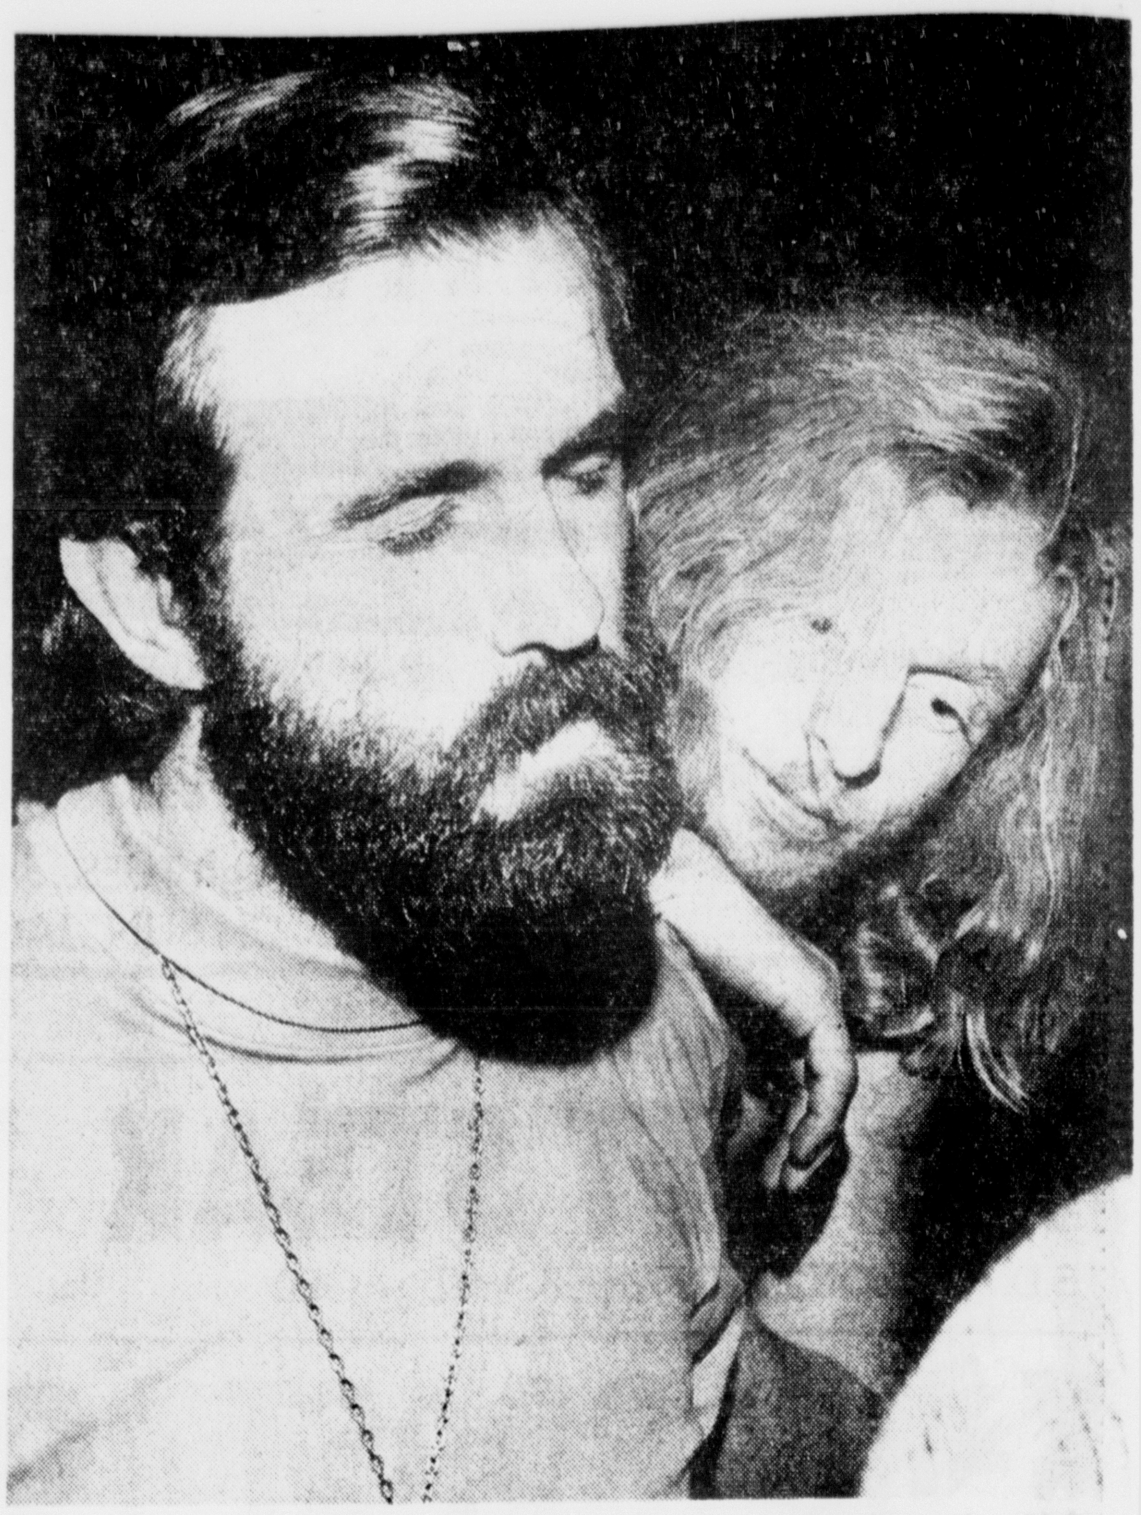
FUN GOES ON—Law officers were back at Rancho Olompali last night, but most of the residents of the commune could hardly care. The party went on as a deputy sheriff (left) took names. Five persons were arrested and a small quantity of marijuana and LSD confiscated.



BOSS IS BORED—"This is getting boring," said commune leader Donald C. McCoy Jr., 37, as officers raided his rented ranch for the second time in less than a week. McCoy spoke to reporters with eyes closed as a commune resident, who identified himself as Gandolph, leaned over his leader's shoulder.

"It's boring. I've got better things to do than sit around here. Why do we stand for all this? There are no criminals to catch here. But I'll have to say they didnt' bust in here like the last time.

"They didn't get a case this first time, so they came back to get it. I told them, 'You blew your whole case,' so they came back to build a case.

"I wish them luck," the lanky, bearded McCoy said. "Wait until we get to court. They'll have their hands full."

A dark-haired man broke in. "You're taxpayers," he said to reporters. "They're getting paid time and a half for this. Why aren't they out looking for criminals?"

When someone wondered how soon, McKendrick grinned, looked down at a silver matchbook between two fingers of his manacled hands and said airily:

"As soon as I call this man." The name and phone number of a bail bondsman were on the matchbook.

There were other light moments.

Shortly after officers arrived at 8:30 p.m., one of the members of the commune telephoned the Novato Fire Department to report a blaze in one of the rooms. Three trucks and some 50 volunteers responded to the false report.

Lt. James Schwedhelm of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau said officers were greeted upon their arrival by a melodic voice from the woods behind the mansion.

The hippie's message: "Jesus loves all you people." Later: "You'll never find us."

Officers said they interrupted an attempt by residents to flush a quantity of marijuana in a towel down a toilet.

Besides the arrests, officers took to Juvenile Hall six girls and two boys, ages 7 to 16, who were the children of arrested parents or whose parents could not be found at the rancho.

McKendrick was booked on suspicion of possession of LSD after allegedly handing over some capsules to officers, while James Edward Bartee, 23; Miss Garret, and Kris Anthony Stenz were booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana. Gandolph, booked as John Doe, was held for refusing to identify himself to an officer and for investigation of being in a place where narcotics were being used.

Six other members of the commune, besides McCoy, are awaiting court disposition of narcotics charges arising from last week's raid.

CLUTTER—This was a typical scene greeting officers as they searched the rambling mansion for narcotics. Tambourines, posters, and beads were more common than contraband, however.

MANACLED SMOOCH—Carol Lee Garret, 30, and Robert Gregge H. McKendrick, 35, were busted, but undaunted.

COMMUNE HEADQUARTERS—It was cold and clear when the law raided Rancho Olompali again last night, and residents looked outside to see this armada of police vehicles drawing up.

WHERE'S EVERYBODY? — The bedroom of Robert Greege H. McKendrick—who was arrested on suspicion of possession of LSD—was deserted as officers gathered residents downstairs in the mansion. Empty bottles of wine and an aerosal can of furniture cleaner were left behind.

Mill Valley Seeks Joint North Ridge Streets Pact

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has urged cooperation by Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur and the county in developing a street system in the North Ridge area off of Camino Alto. (See another Mill Valley Planning Commission story, page 44.)

A major street plan for North Ridge, prepared by engineers Bala and Strandgaard of Corte Madera, has been presented to the two other cities and the county for review in preparation for a joint workshop session the commission hopes to hold, according to Harvey E. Bragdon, planning director. A date for the workshop has not been set.

The planning commission, meeting Monday night, urged the other jurisdictions to delay approval of developments on North Ridge until the street plan is adopted, Bragdon said.

Commissioners noted the urgency for a formal plan for the ridge, coordinated and agreed to by all four jurisdictions, Bragdon said.

The plan, presented Monday by Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala, calls for a major arterial from Camino Alto on the Corte Madera side of the ridge to the Old Mountain Railroad right-of-way on Mount Tamalpais. The arterial, designated as North Ridge Road, would wander along both sides of the ridge in and out of the city limits of Mill Valley, Corte Madera and Larkspur.

Mill Valley street connections to the road would be made off Sarah Drive, East and West Glen drives, Tartan Avenue, Cushing Drive, Upland Avenue, the Blithedale Trail Road and the Mountain Railroad grade. Summit Avenue in Corte Madera also would connect with the road on the north side of the ridge.

In a related action, the commission urged Corte Madera not to approve a proposed Redwood Heights subdivision on the Corte Madera side of the ridge pending approval of the street plan.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission also:

SYCAMORE AVENUE — Recommended the city council approve plans for the first phase of the Sycamore Avenue extension project as soon as possible.

RECREATION CENTER — Delayed a recommendation on the future permanent site for the community recreation center pending a workshop session, to be held within the next two weeks, with the city's parks and recreation commission, the Mill Valley miniboard of the Human Rights Commission and teen-age representatives. Bragdon had recommended the center be relocated in the city's future marina and that it be built on piles extending into the yacht harbor area.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a request by L. B. Fleischman to divide property at Locust and Sycamore avenues into two lots, having a minimum of 6,000 square feet.

Board's Agenda

Acceptance of four portable classrooms already in use is scheduled for the Larkspur School District board's 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the district office, 20 Magnolia Avenue. The 1967-68 school audit will also be reviewed by the board.

Mill Valley Tavern Looted By Burglar

Burglars took an undetermined amount of money from the Old Mill Tavern, 106 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, between 2:15 and 5:30 a.m. today, police reported.

State Blasts NWP Abandonment Try

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Efforts by Northwestern Pacific Railway to abandon service in southern Marin have been blasted by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The commission argued the line from Larkspur to Sausalito is necessary for public convenience in a brief filed this week with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The utilities commission, answering arguments of the railroad, contended the branch line is operated at a profit: that repairs called necessary by the railroad exceed reasonable requirements; that rail shippers rely on continued service, and that the Marin County Transit District would be burdened if the line is abandoned.

Noting Northwestern Pacific Railway claimed losses on the South Marin leg of $86,520 in 1966; $57,758 in 1967, and $58,390 for the first nine months of 1968, the utilities commission pointed out the figures are "seriously overstated."

Included as "avoidable" expenses were the cost of annual interest on cash returns from nondeferred and investment portions of branch rehabilitation costs, the commission said.

"Such figures cannot be considered out-of-pocket expenses incurred from the operation of the line," the commission said. The brief called the expenses a return on investment.

The railway's expenses are also overstated by including items of capital expenditure within a claimed "deferred maintenance" expense, utilities commission attorneys said.

Testimony by the railroad "clearly reveals (it) has proposed a complete rebuilding and renewal of every major aspect of its branch far in excess of a standard required for normal maintenance and repair," the brief stated.

The brief pointed out the railroad had failed for nine years to do needed work and urged the Interstate Commerce Commission not to permit the railway to receive an advantage through "its own careless inaction."

Reducing the "deferred maintenance" expense by the amount attributable to capital improvement or rejecting it altogether would put the railroad in a profitable position for 1966 and the nine months of 1968 and increase its profit measurably for 1967, the utilities commission said.

The brief criticized the railroads attempt to justify abandonment on the basis of need of a new concrete lined tunnel, estimated at $1,061,905 "without having even studied the feasibility of repairing."

The utilities commission included engineering testimony given in the November hearings by Hawke Engineers that the tunnel could be repaired to last at least 10 years for $36,290.

The state of disrepair is due in part to the railroad failing to properly maintain the drainage system, the brief said.

The brief recounted testimony of five rail shippers on the Sausalito Branch, noting some face a move if rail service is abandoned. Abandonment would also affect the future commercial and industrial development of Sausalito, the utilities commission contended.

The commission maintained the railroad's decline in shipping is exaggerated and that the railroad has never done anything to promote shipping on the branch.

"It is no exaggeration to suggest (the railroad) has been intent upon abandoning Northwestern Pacific Railway property for at least nine years and has done everything possible while running its branch to see that this end came about," the brief stated.

Outlining testimony by Seymour Kashin, manager of the Marin Transit District, the commission reported he said studies so far indicate serious consideration to use the right of way for either rail or bus purposes.

Kashin also said he understands the railway plans to develop the line for commercial purposes financial, practical and legal handicaps to acquiring the right of way, the brief said.

The brief and one filed by the railroad are now in the hands of ICC examiner Samuel C. Shoup who said it would take 60 to 90 days to issue his recommendation.

In 1960 an ICC examiner ruled in favor of abandonment but was overturned by an ICC subcommittee.

Granada School Dedication Set

Omego, the fifth and final classroom cluster of Granada School, will be dedicated at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school on El Camino Drive in Corte Madera.

Omega students will participate in brief dedication ceremonies and then host an open house until 9 p.m. Corte Madera City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher and Suzie Morse, an Omega student who won a contest to guess the building's completion date, will cut the ceremonial ribbon.

The cluster will house 120 students, ages 9-11.

Researchers' Building Plan Given Nod

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved plans for a testing and research building, an office building and a 19-unit studio apartment complex.

The research building of the Schlienger Engineering Co., to be located at 41 Mark Drive, will conduct testing to develop new techniques for producing the metal, titanium. The building will be constructed in two phases, with the ultimate area totaling 4,800 square feet. The windowless structure will stand 36 feet high.

Nipper and Marchant will build a T-shaped two-story office building containing about 1,800 square feet at 1475 Second Street. City Planner Hebert G. Hotchner told the commission that the building's driveway should be wider and have fewer parking places than proposed in the applicant design. The commission agreed with the staff's recommendation after they were told cars might be "clobbered" because of a lack of space to turn in the driveway.

The Aldersly Senior Citizen Building owned by Rex Allen and Associates and located at 326 Mission Avenue, will add 19 studio apartments under their master plan approved in 1963.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

SANITARY BUILDING — Approved a request by the Marin Sanitary Service, Inc. to make an addition to existing carport walls of the Marin Sanitary Service Building, 112 Front Street.

TEXT AMENDMENT—Sent a request to the city council for amendment of a zoning ordinance to delete circuses and carnivals from those uses for which a permit is required.

Reports Car Taken

Robert S. Carlsen of 21 Portofino Road, San Rafael, reported yesterday his 1967 red Volkswagen, license UAR 240, was taken yesterday while it was parked in the lot at San Rafael High School, police said.

Trades Council Backs Torget For Board Jobs

The Marin County Building and Construction Trades Council last night endorsed Henry M. Torget of Novato, a member of the carpenters' union, for vacancies on the Marin County Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority boards.

Council members will ask the Board of Supervisors to appoint Torget to replace Herman J. Hale of Larkspur, who has announced he does not wish to be reappointed to either board when his terms expires.

Hale's housing authority term expires Jan. 24 and his redevelopment agency term expires April 17.

Council members last night also learned that the carpenters' and laborers' unions have had rather high unemployment rates this month because of the weather. The carpenters reported 120 men unemployed yesterday and the laborers, 105.

Streisand Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—Entertainer Barbra Streisand has been named "Entertainer of the Year" by the Friars Club, the famous all-male theatrical organization. She is the second woman to be so chosen in the club's 65-year history. Dinah Shore received the honor in 1960.

Hub Park-Rec Winter Program Now Under Way

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department's winter program, now under way, includes a tiny tot program and creative dancing, according to Frank L. Quinn, director.

The tiny tot sessions are held Mondays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to noon at the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church. Creative dancing instruction, for children four to six, will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturdays at the Isabel Cook School auditorium.

Playground programs are at Wade Thomas School Mondays and Fridays, at Yolansdale School Tuesdays and Thursdays, and Isabel Cook only when there is sufficient attendance.

Folk guitar classes will be from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays starting Jan. 29 at Wade Thomas School. Story hour is held Thursday afternooons at the San Anselmo Library.

Radioactivity Called Mistake

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese scientists admitted today they had mistakenly reported increased radioactivity in Yokosuka after the nuclear-powered U.S. submarine Plunger arrived in the Japanese port Monday.

The Science and Technology Agency said it was not the Plunger but static from a radar installation on a Japanese defense vessel that caused indicators on nuclear monitors to shoot up 2.5 times above normal.

The Plunger's four-day visit is the first time a U.S. nuclear'powered submarine has visited Yokosuka since May. The government claimed a visit by the nuclear sub Swordfish caused increased radioactivity in Sasebo harbor, and asked the United States to halt such visits until monitoring equipment was installed.

Biafran Benefit Fair Next Month

A benefit fair for Biafra will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 8 at the Little Theatre of Sir Francis Drake High School.

The show will include a program of dancing, skits and music, as well as an exhibit of arts and crafts. Proceeds of the event will go to the Bay Area Committee to Save Biafran Children.

ARREST SCENE VISITED

Judge Harold J. Haley (right) of Marin Superior Court visits the Richardson Bay retreat of nightlife entrepreneur Frank Werber, accused of possessing and cultivating marijuana. The judge, accompanied by lawyers and court attaches, inspected the showplace home yesterday for a first hand view of scenes testified about in a hearing on Werber's motion to suppress evidence. The hearing was continued until Tuesday for arguments by the lawyers. (Independent-Journal photo)

Peace March Trial Postponed At Base

The court-martial of Airman Michael Locks on charges of wearing his uniform in the Oct. 12 military men's peace march in San Francisco has been postponed from tomorrow to Feb. 4. according to Hamilton Air Force Base officials.

The court-martial was originally to start on Dec. 16. Lock's attorney said he needs more time to prepare his case.

Electric Golf Cart Takes On New Status

The Novato City Council struck a blow for country club living last night, making it legal to drive electric golf carts on some city streets.

The unanimous vote was a special favor to the dwellers of the Marin Golf and Country Club tract, whose streets were the only ones set aside for electric cart use.

The action really brings the golfers within the law. according to Clifford Temps. acting public works director. They have been driving the carts on the streets. anyway. he said.

The city has winked at this in the past. he said. but state law now authorizes the council to allow such vehicles on public roads within a half mile of a golf course.

Tne Novato City Council Also:

CATV — Instructed representatives of General Telephone and Electronic Communications Co. to do all within their power to provide cable television service to city residents, despite a Federal Communications Commission freeze on some installations.

MAYOR — Scheduled for Jan. 28 a council decision on a citizen recommendation that they call an election to determine if the city should chose its mayor separately from the council.

FREEWAY —Amended its freeway agreement with the state to realign Alice Street, making it intersect Franklin Avenue 140 feet north of the present intersection.

PLANNING — Referred to the city staff and planning commission for review a proposed law to allow creation of an area planning commission, composed of city and county representatives, to plan growth on the fringes of the city.

PARKING — Introduced an amendment to the zoning ordinance, requiring two offstreet parking places for each single family home. At. least one of hhe spaces must be covered.

SIGNAL — Approved a $49,788 contract for traffic signals at Lamont Av Avenue and Highway 101. with the city to pay $11,400 and the state the remainder. Winning bid was from Steiny and Mitchell of San Francisco.

ROAD — Approved agreements with Santa Rosa Savings and Loan and Ben Ostlind, requiring them to install an access road behind their vacant lots between the savings and loan building and Denny's restaurant on Highway 101.

TRAFFIC — Restricted to two-hour parking the spaces on the north side of Vallejo Avenue from First Street to the highway and on the west side of San Marin Drive, in front of the administrative offices of San Marin High School.

COLLEGE — Approved a letter to the trustees of the Marin Junior College District, opposing accommodations for 5,000 students at the Kentfield campus. They fear this would delay for a year construction of the northern campus.

RESIGN — Received the resignation of Richard W. Caldwell from the Novato Ambulance Service Study Committee.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to recommend the appointment of James H. McCown of 17 Truman Drive to the Marin County Flood Control District board and appointed Planning Commissioner Robert Lagle to the city county planning council, with James Quesada to act as his alternate.

Booking Made On Bad Checks

David Allen Dewees, 41, of the San Rafael Inn, 865 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, was booked intto Marin County Jail on suspicion of passing worthless checks yesterday.

Police said Vandie Louise Price, an employee of the inn, reported Dewes had given her 10 checks and they were beginning to come back from the bank where his account was closed.

He was held in lieu of bail of $625 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Final Nod To $45,000 Ferry Study

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A $45,000 study of ferry transportation between Marin and San Francisco cleared its last hurdle yesterday with approval by the board of supervisors of a contract with Arthur D. Little Inc.

The study is to be financed jointly with the Marin County Transit District, and transit district directors yesterday also approved the contract. Both boards voted unanimously to approve the contract, which gives the firm four months to make the study.

Of the $45,000 fee, $15,000 is to be paid by the transit district and $30,000 by San Francisco.

Later yesterday, San Francisco City Atty. Thomas M. O'Connor issued an opinion that special legislation would be needed to allow the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to subsidize ferry service. His opinion confirmed that of the bridge district's attorney, Jerome B. White, who has ruled that bridge funds can be used for a bus system, but not for ferries.

If the ferry study finds that water transportation is feasible, then it is expected to be followed by a detailed — and more costly — study.

The San Francisco naval architectural firm of Morris Guralnick Associates Inc. will participate with Arthur D. Little Inc. in the study.

Archeological evidence indicates human beings inhabited California as long as 34,000 years ago.

Bel Marin Keys Wrestles Extra Dredging Problem

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District directors and the representatives of the Hydraulic Dredge firm of Oakland were unable last night to reach a decision on the amount of material to be dredged from the lagoons, according to publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

They tentatively set 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the community center for another meeting to try to resolve the question, she said.

The directors on Nov. 15 awarded a $53,775 contract to the dredging company to dredge the lagoons and waterways in the district.

"Since the company started dredging, it found that there was more material to be dredged than they originally figured," Mrs. Wrightsman said.

No estimate on the amount of additional materials or any additional cost has been made, she said.

The district has obtained a 17-acre site, in addition to the 40-acre site already prepared, for the dredgings, she said. Both sites are owned by Jack D. Kinney, she said.

William C. Hanson was elected chairman of the board, replacing James Zoeller, and Mrs. James Zoeller was reelected secretary, according to Mrs. Wrightsman.

Larkspur Chamber Leader Is Renamed

Neil R. Brixon yesterday was re-elected president of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce.

Sirhan's Plot Capability Could Be Key For Defense

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The defense strategy at the trial of Sirhan B. Sirhan emerged today as a contention the Arab immigrant did not have the intelligence to plot and deliberately carry out the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sirhan was in almost a jolly mood when he entered the courtroom today. He glanced to the back of the courtroom and saw Detroit attorney Abdeen Jabara, who is of Arabian descent and who is helping the defense.

"Abdeen, how is your health today," Sirhan called out in Arabian. Jabara, also in Arabian, replied, "fine."

Shortly after today's session began computer programmer Lawrence K. Morgan was taken into the judges' chambers for executive questioning which all prospective jurors undergo about whether they have formed an opinion of the trial based on publicity.

A lawyer for the 24-year-old Sirhan told newsmen yesterday the "main posture" of the defense would be that his "diminished capacity" precluded the premeditation necessary for a conviction on first degree murder charges and the death sentence.

Emile Zola Berman, a New York attorney, revealed Sirhan had undergone hypnosis, ink blot tests and other psychological and psychiatric examination by experts which would be introduced as evidence of his lack of "intellectual content."

Four jurors, all of them women, were tentatively seated by late yesterday. Among them were a widow, a single girl, a married woman and a divorcee.

Piggy Banks Taken At Petaluma Home

Four piggy banks were stolen from the home of David Delk, 560 Ely Boulevard South, Petaluma, sometime late Monday afternoon. The contents of the children's banks totaled between $15 and $20. A rear sliding door had been pried open, police reported.

During the same time period, prowlers' footprints were discovered at the home of Thomas Dearborn, 501 Ely Boulevard, South. No entry was made.

Hub Councilmen Vote Apartments Approval

Approval of a 22-unit apartment development at 84 Madrone Avenue was unanimously given following a public hearing last night by the San Anselmo City Council.

Applicant Emily Merriman, seeking the rezoning of the property from single family to planned development, originally had asked for 24 units, but agreed before the planning commission on Dec. 16 to eliminate two units, and to dedicate frontage on Madrone and Center Boulevard for possible street widening.

The project involves 33 off-street parking spaces.

At a second public hearing, the council denied by a 4-1 vote an appeal by the U.S. Franchise Corp. to construct and operate a sandwich shop at 275 Greenfield Avenue. Councilman Robert M. Scott voted for the request because, he said, the area is zoned commercial and the plan was acceptable.

The planning commission denied the request Dec. 2, on arguing it would create an additional traffic hazard. The motion to uphold the denial came from councilman James F. Reed on the same grounds.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

VARIANCE — Upheld the appeal of Ralph W. Mihan, 58 Yolanda Drive, of a planning commission approval for a four-foot side yard setback by Dennis K. Shine to add a room on a home at 54 Yoland Drive. Mihan said the addition would deprive his home of natural light.

SIGN — Approved a request by the Union Oil Co. for a free-standing sign at 930 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

CLAIM — Denied and referred to its insurance carrier a $2,000 damage claim by Dr. Robert L. Edelstein, 891 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, for alleged damage to his property Sept. 27 when a water line broke.

PARKING — Approved two-hour parking for two spaces in front of the Sunnyside Nursery, 130 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

SOLICITING —Granted permission to Synanon foundation to solicit funds in San Anselmo for a rehabilitation program.

APPROPRIATIONS — Approved spending $16,307 from reserve funds as supplemental appropriations for street repair work including a slide correction on Woodside Drive.

HEALTH — Approved a request from the county health officer that the food sanitation ordinance be amended to require the approval of the department of building plans for construction or remodeling of food establishments.

SIDEWALK — Approved spending $1,850 for sidewalk repair on San Anselmo Avenue near Redwood Road.

ATTENDANCE — Agreed that a laxity exists in attendance by some members of the city's various commissions and boards, deciding that any member who in the future misses three meetings a year without good reason should be replaced.

Commission To Study Cost Of Fire Protection

A committee of the Marinwood Fire Commission will review the fire department budget and see how much Upper Lucas Valley should pay for fire protection, commissioners decided Monday night.

Commissioners Ron Marinoff and Dale R. Schmid were appointed to make the study and report back at the next commission meeting on Feb. 10.

Acting chairman Robert J. Cawley announced that the commission will meet hereafter on the second Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the community center. Until now, it met on the second Tuesday at the firehouse.

Cawley said the commission will also begin working on the 1969-70 budget at next month's meeting. The fire department budget this year is $72,000.

Hearing Held On Marijuana

Three persons arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Monday on charges of marijuana possession live at 79 Live Oak Avenue, Fairfax.

Council Asks Tam District Split Caution

The San Anselmo City Council last night urged the Marin County Committee on School District Organization to make a fuller study before adopting any proposal for Tamalpais High School District unification.

In a unanimous vote on a resolution by Councilman James F. Reed, the council opposed any plan that would split up the district, which includes the Sir Francis Drake High School area, until the committee "has studied all reasonable alternative proposals submitted in order to best serve public education in Marin County."

The resolution also asks that the committee eliminate any proposals that create new districts which are not approximately equal in educational opportunity "as well as assessed value per student," and that the committee make public at least one month prior to making any tentative unification proposal the tax that would be required in each proposed district.

Purpose of this, according to the resolution, is to assure each proposed new district the same education level that the whole Tamalpais District now has.

The resolution also asks for figures on the bonding capacity of each proposed new district.

It resulted from the possibility that the committee may recommend to the state Department of Education that the district be divided into smaller districts. The Drake High School area has a lower assessed valuation than Tamalpais or Redwood Highs, and San Anselmo area residents have expressed fear that a division would result in a lower quality of education.

The resolution was passed after a three-way discussion between Reed, Mary Olive, San Anselmo resident and active foe of splitting the district, and Mrs. Rachel Conner, school district organization committee chairman who said she attended the meeting last night at the request of Mrs. Olive.

Mrs. Conner told the council that the committee, when it meets at 8 p.m. today at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, plans to adopt a tentative proposal of unification study in the Tamalpais District and the San Rafael High School District.

he said the council was unduly upset, that the tentative proposal can include any of about 10 suggested unification plans, but that the plan can be abandoned by the committee after a study and that an entirely new tentative plan can then be taken up.

She said state law requires that a tentative proposal be adopted before a serious study can be undertaken. According to Mrs. Conner, the figures on tax rates and bonding capacities are not yet available but would be available before the county committee's public hearings on the tentative proposal are held.

Probation Ordered

Morrison Smith, 19, of Marin City, has been sentenced to a year in jail for his part in the burglary of the San Geronimo Golf Course clubhouse June 13. He was placed on three years of probation by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

Drake Widening Plan Rejected In 3-0 Vote

A proposal that a portion of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard be widened to four lanes with no parking and with only a three-foot planter strip on each side was rejected by the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The council is seeking a means of increasing the traffic capacity from the Hub to Fairfax city limits.

The 3-0 vote came on a motion by Councilman James F. Reed, who termed the plan "unfeasible and unacceptable." Councilman Robert M. Scott abstained from voting because, he said, he felt the issue was not properly included on the agenda, although Mayor Duane C. Ragan held that it was proper. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro also abstained, blaming insufficient time to study recommendations of the planning commission and City Engineer Charles L. Leitzell.

The proposal, made by the traffic consultant firm of Whitlew, Hoffman and Albritton on Dec. 5, also was opposed by the planning commission. John F. West, commission chairman, told the council that the proposal would not provide adequate screening for adjacent homes.

It also would eliminate all curb parking, said he, and would create traffic hazards when vehicles attempted to use driveways.

The rejection is for the specific plan, and does not eliminate the possibility of having a four-lane widening project for the boulevard, West said.

The council agreed to ask Paul C. Zucker, county planning director, to help make a study of the widening problem and the need for improving the Hub intersection area, and to attend a public hearing at a date to be set.

Oberlin College in 1841 became the first to grant a Bachelor of Arts degree to women.

Demo Party Set At Muir Beach

The Muir Beach Democratic Club will hold a membership meeting and fund-raising party at 3 p.m. on Saturday at the Muir Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian F. Knox, Seascape Drive.

Hans Schiller of Mill Valley, chairman of the resolutions and issues committee of the California Democratic Council, will speak about the council's program for 1969. John Collier of Muir Beach, assistant professor of anthropology at San Francisco State College, will lead a discussion of the strike at the college.

Dr. James Bakhtiar, a director of the Muir Beach Community Services District, will discuss the community's water problems.

Refreshments and a potluck dinner will follow the program.

Funds raised will be used to send delegates to the CDC convention March 7, 8 and 9 in Monterey.

The normal diet of the field cricket is grass but he will eat holes in clothing and paper.

Aviation Advisers Unable To Meet

The Marin County Aviation Commission did not meet last night because terms of four commissioners have expired, leaving only three commissioners legally in office.

Marin County Board of Supervisors must reappoint or name new commissioners to the four posts now held by Tris M. Coffin, Benjamin R. Ostlind, Douglas M. Christensen and Melville Dickson. Coffin, who was chairman last year, will not seek reappointment.

Supervisors announced that anyone interested in serving on the aviation commission should contact the clerk of the supervisors at the Civic Center before Jan. 21, when the appointments will be made.

Window Vandalism

Three windows were broken in the First Methodist Church, 9 Ross Valley Drive, San Rafael, during the past week, Earl W. Burt of the church reported yesterday. Damage was estimated at $112.

Sausalito Waterfront Plan Again Reviewed

Sausalito's proposed central waterfront plan was reviewed again by the city council and planning commission last night but consultant George Mader said he would have to bring in more specific figures on use densities and parking before major policy questions could be answered by the council.

The plan reviewed last night differed little from the version shown the council Dec. 17, but was in two forms—development plans proposed by property owners, and development suggested by the consultant firm of William T. Spangle Jr. and Associates.

The firm must answer these policy questions before the preliminary plan is worked up into a final general development plan for council approval, Mader said:

1. What concessions the city should make in allowing greater development of "inboard parcels bayward of Bridgeway to compensate owners for keeping "outboard" parcels in open water.

2. How replacement parking should be established for present parking on the Sandspit which is to become a public park.

3. What compensation should be made to Madden and Lewis to keep in open water an area the firm leases from the city between the Spinnaker and the ferryboat Berkeley.

4. What intensity of use should be allowed in the plan north of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor.

The council also must decide whether a proposed park and lagoon should be created outboard of Humboldt Avenue between Litho and Bee streets.

Mayor Earl N. Dunphy objected to the plan's proposal to block jarts of Caledonia Street to vehicles, and said one laundry in business since before the turn of the century would be put out of business by such a move.

No residential uses in the area, houseboats to be a possible conditional use, streets running bayward from Bridgeway to be developed for water access and views, the Sausalito Yacht Club building to be moved from the end of Johnson Street, and a planting strip to be installed on both sides of Bridgeway.

Carl W. Spring of the Sausalito Citiizens Council read several plan points the council wanted included:

Continuous public access along all the waterfront, minimum filling outboard of Humboldt, no closing of Caledonia Street, the Sandspit road or the park plaza area, protection of the Humboldt right of way for future street development, definitions of "high density" and "waterfront" in the plan, and notification of property owners on lower Princess Street, Caledonia Street, and Bridgeway of proposed plans for their areas.

A bitter comment came from Elmore Hutchison of Sausalito Properties, which has sold part of its extensive offshore holdings. The master plan has taken so long, he said, that the firm is selling most of its property and development will be in small parcels. For 10 years the firm had plans vetoed by the city, Hutchison said, and finally gave up and started selling

Another member of the audience of 20 called a proposal to turn Parking Lot No. 1 into a park "nothing short of insanity" that would strangle downtown business.

The plan proposes to replace that parking with a parking area on the Sandspit and with increased parking space further north. Sausalito Yacht Harbor also would fill an area to provide 150 parking spaces for its 450 berths. The yacht harbor would expand into two underwater blocks bounded by Dolphin and Johnson streets and Donahue and Railroad avenues.

North of the yacht harbor, new development would be held close to the present shoreline with minimum fill, and the city could grant concessions to developers to maintain open water on the bay side.

Such concessions might take the form of decreased parking requirements, increased lot coverage or increased height limits, Mader said.

The plan calls for a pedestrian boardwalk along the shore for the entire length of the central waterfront, Vina Del Mar Park to Napa Street.

Spangle said his firm will present the preliminary study plan to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, the Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Department of the Interior before returning to the city with more advanced plans.

Tam Rec Program Helped 600 Children In Eight Days

Directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District last night reviewed the recreation program started during Christmas vacation and found it highly successful, board member Gale E. Bishel reported.

Six hundred children took part in eight days despite bad weather, Bishel said.

The board hired John Aspiris, College of Marin student, as recreation director at $3 an hour, and Susan Rocha, a Tamalpais Valley girl, as assistant director at $2 an hour.

The program will continue at Tamalpais Valley School after school hours and during summer vacation.

The board approved in principle a proposal by Aspiris for weekend back pack trips into the Sierra during summer months. Minimum age for the trips would be 12.

The board also discussed its parks and recreation master plan, but was told plan maps will not be ready until the end of the week. The plan is to be discussed by the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at its Feb. 6 meeting.

Trio Is Named To Investigate Land Purchase

A three-man committee of the Bolinas Harbor District board was named last night to discuss with Marin County officials joint purchase of the 35-acre William Albright property on the west shore of Bolinas Lagoon.

The county parks and recreation department asked the district to help buy the land, which was earmarked for eventual public ownership in a joint agreement two years ago. Commissioners Thomas J. Barfield, Archie A. Goldsberry and John H. Middleton were named to the committee.

In election of 1969 officers, Barfield was named president of the board; Thomas R. Tawns, vice president, and Mrs. Frances Stewart, secretary.

The board approved in principle district participation in a six-month wave gauge study in Bolinas Bay to be conducted by Prof. J. W. Johnson of the University of California at Berkeley. The district would contribute $6,000 to the program's cost.

Program approval is subject to clearance by Marin County as part of the district-county joint studies program.

The wave gauge equipment will be lent without charge by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Transit Committee Chairman Is Named

The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday named Belvedere architect Allan Steinau chairman of a committee to study a transit system between downtown Tiburon and Highway 101, Ben A. Farlatti, president, reported.

Chamber members at their monthly general meeting also endorsed board recommendations that the group develop a cleanup and beautification program and a safe pedestrian path for school children along Tiburon Boulevard during 1969, Farlatti said.

Twin Brothers Cited For BB Gun Assault

A neighborhood argument among four boys yesterday resulted in 14-year-old twin brothers being cited to juvenile probation department for assault on the other two with BB guns, according to Novato Police.

Stephen C. McKamey, 12, of 1098 Simmons Lane and Gary L. Miller, 14, of 18 Kristin Lane, both Novato, were playing at the Novato Creek bridge on Simmons Lane about 4 p.m. when the brothers rode by on their bicycle.

Miller was hit on the left arm by a shot from a BB gun fired by one of the brothers as they rode by, according to police reports. Miller was not injured.

When the brothers returned a few minutes later, McKamey pulled one of them off the bicycle and held his gun hand on the ground with his knee, according to police. The other brother then shot McKamey six times in the back of the head with a BB gun, police reported. McKamey was treated by his doctor for the wounds, according to police.

Cited to juvenile probation department were Robert L. and Richard M. Clark, of 12 Nova Lane, Novato, according to the report.

Larkspur Planners Approve Quarry Plan

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night granted a use permit to the Hutchinson Co. for a quarry operation and mixing plant at 65 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and approved the company's architectural plan.

Application by Robert Busse for a lot split at 160 Locust Avenue was approved. The commission recommended to the city council that an amendment be made to the subdivision ordinance to require all new subdivisions to have underground utilities.

Teen-Center Location Is Still Pending

The Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission last night heard that the Northwestern Pacific Railroad has not yet given permission for a coffee house for teen-agers to be located on its property opposite the Tiburon ferry dock.

Secretary Wendy Buchen said representatives of Belvedere and Tiburon youth groups have asked the railroad for permission to place the ark, The Mermaid, donated by Mrs. Harry B. Allen of Belvedere to the city for a youth center, on the railroad property.

Commissioners also discussed the city's proposed master plan for park and recreation facilities with San Francisco landscape architect M. Carlisle Becker of Tiburon, Mrs. Buchen said.

Becker agreed to prepare a master plan report with policy recommendations, a basic schematic plan and additional conceptual sketches, she said. The city has budgeted $2,000 for the project.

Cotati Trustees Request Program On Drug Abuse

The Cotati School District board made plans last night to develop an educational program on drug abuse.

Board members agreed with President Lester H. Peterson that information about the dangers of drugs must be presented on the elementary school level. Superintendent Duncan Coleman was directed to prepare a curriculum.

The Cotati School District board also:

BUILDING REPORT — Heard a report that recent heavy rains have slowed construction at the Thomas Page School, but all structual steel is in place.

NEW SITE — Scheduled a meeting of the building committee for sometime next month to study new school sites.

TRIPS — Changed policy on field trips to require that students be transported in buses rather than by private automobile to meet changing insurance regulations.

U.S. Supreme Court Justices are appointed for life and are removable only for "high crimes and misdeamenors."

Seven Enter Competition For Orators

The annual American Legion high school oratorical contest, plagued in the past with few entries, will have seven contestants tonight in the board of supervisors chambers at Marin Civic Center.

The event, at 7 p.m., is cosponsored by the Marin County American Legion posts and the county schools office. Robert E. Spain, director of administrative services for the county schools office, said the seven entrants are from San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato high schools.

He said a revision of rules this year to permit more than one student to enter from each school probably is responsible for the improved attendance. Last year, only one entrant appeared. The contestant, Ronald Engel, then a sophomore at Terra Linda High, was awarded a gold cup as first prize.

The previous year also saw only one finalist.

The theme is the U.S. Constitution and obligations of the citizen to the government. The winner will compete in the Legion's District Five contest Jan 26 in Napa. The national contest will follow in Boise, Idaho.

College Seat Ballot Asked For April 15

The Petaluma Board of Education last night called for a trustee election April 15 for representatives to the Sonoma County Junior College District and to the Sonoma County Board of Education.

Lesly H. Meyer, district superintendent, said that Brand D. T. Johnson whose term expires June 30 has filed for reelection to the board of education.

Also expiring is the term of John Lounibos on the junior college governing board. Lounibos, who serves as chairman of the board, has not yet declared his candidacy.

Meyer noted that if no others file by Feb. 20, the county elections clerk can declare the men elected.

The election for members of the Petaluma Board of Education will be part of the June 10 municipal election. The terms of Dr. William H. Kortum, Clay Thompson and Sol Fishman will expire.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

PROGRAMS — Approved resolutions to continue participation in federal and state financed programs in the field of counseling, reading, in-service training, libraries and vocational education.

TITLE — Considered and delayed for further study the elevation of business manager George T. Castleberry to title of assistant superintendent for business and classified services. If approved, Castleberry would serve as acting superintendent in Meyer's absence.

BUDGET — Approved budget transfers made necessary by salary raises approved Nov. 12. Fishman suggested negotiations with teachers' groups should begin earlier so a more realistic budget can be prepared. Meyer agreed, saying steps are being taken in that direction.

FUTURE — Heard report from Meyer that his recommendation on the showing of the "Time of Your Life" film in conjunction with family life classes will be given at the Jan. 28 meeting.

Novato Employee Officers Picked

John Perry, an engineering aide with the public works department, has been elected president of the Novato City Employees Association.

Police Sgt. Maurice D. Lafferty was elected vice president and Mildred Isom, steno-clerk with the public works department, secretary-treasurer.

THE PENNEY STORY

Why make such a big deal out of quality?

By ROBERTA NASH

I asked a Penney store manager the question once and when he finally decided I was serious, he said, "If I could use only one word to describe the phenomenon of Penney's, I'd pick the word, quality.

"Mr. Penney has always been a fanatic on the subject," he continued. "They say the only thing that still makes Mr. Penney angry is when someone suggests we compromise Penney quality to make a lower price."

Bus Lanes Legislation In Assembly

IJ Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to reserve freeway lanes for buses—long proposed as a solution to Marin's transportation problems — has been introduced by a Southern California legislator.

The bill (SB 43), by Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando authorizes the State Department of Public Works to permit "exclusive or preferential use of freeway lanes for mass public transportation" by both public and private agencies.

It stipulates that an agency getting a reserved freeway lane must "give adequate assurance" that it will continue its service and "agree to maintain a satisfactory level of service in terms of comfort, convenience and fare structure."

The department would retain its power to determine how the reserved lane would be used.

Proponents of bus transportation long have maintained that buses will not have a real chance to succeed without a reserved lane to free them from automobile congestion.

Carrell has had similar bills in the past two legislative sessions, but they were defeated by highway interests who oppose any proposal to use highway funds or facilities for the advantage of public transit.

School Traffic Signs Approved

The Kentfield School District board has approved installation of traffic signs on the Wolfe Grade campus to restrict traffic to school business.

Location of the signs was left to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

The board, meeting Monday, also renewed a student teaching agreement with San Francisco College for women, accepted the resignation of Richard Millikan as Spanish teacher, and hired Betty Clair as a business office secretary at $480 a month.

Battle Seen On Garbage Franchise

Several garbage collection firms indicated yesterday that a battle is developing for exclusive franchise rights in West Marin.

The board of supervisors postponed discussion until 1:45 p.m. Feb. 4 at the request of the low bidder and the residents of West Marin.

The low bidder, West Marin-San Geronimo Valley Garbage Disposal Co., offered to collect at the basic rate of $1.25 per month per 30-gallon container. County Administrative Analyst Michael A. Chrystal recommended that the low bid be rejected because this is a firm which suspended service last May and caused a garbage crisis.

Next low bidder was Larry's Sanitary Service of Petaluma, which offered service at $1.50 per 30-gallon container.

Then came the third low bidder, Joseph J. Garbarino, who offered the service at $2.24 per contained. Garbarino's attorney, Albert Bianchi, served notice yesterday he will fight the other two bids on grounds that no garbage firms in various cities in the county now collect at less than $2 per month.

Seven bids were submitted for the exclusive garbage franchise in Inverness-Point Reyes Station, San Geronimo Valley, and developed areas of Drake's Bay. The highest bid was $2.75 per month.

Bare-Bones Budget Gets Board's Nod

The new Marin County Board of Supervisors will try to hold the line at the present $2.27 tax rate and lower if possible, just as last year's board pledged a $2.30 rate and managed to drop it by three cents.

A policy statement promising a bare-bones budget for 1969-70 fiscal year won unanimous approval yesterday on a motion by William A. Gnoss and a second by Louis H. Baar.

The statement, prepared by the County Administrator, calls for a budget that results in a tax rate not exceeding $2.27 and less if possible, and an emphasis on avoiding any increase in net county employment.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

COMMITTEES — Appointed Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Louis H. Baar to the City-County Planning Council and Michael Wornum as alternate; and asked Arrigoni to see if meeting conflicts can be eliminated so that he can represent the supervisors on the Economic Opportunity Council.

MENTAL HEALTH—Asked for background information on two nominees tto the Mental Health Adivsory Board. Supervisor Gnoss nominated former Supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, and Supervisor Arrigoni nominated Dante Vagnani of San Rafael. Vagnani is a wine distributor in San Francisco, past president of Marin Aid for Retarded Children, and active in MARC for years.

TOMALES BONDS—Sold $46,000 in Tomales Joint Union High School District bonds to Bateman Eichler-Hill Richards of San Francisco at 5 per cent interest, minus a $23 premium which brought the interest to 4.984 per cent. Bank America bid at a straight 5 per cent.

BEL AIRE ESTATES—Voted unanimously to set up a county service area at Bel Aire Estates to finance improvements on a half-acre neighborhood park surrounded by Karen Way and Claire Way. Eight residents spoke in favor of the service area. Two opponents, armed with petitions signed by 140 residents, said they don't want tto pay for improving and maintaining the park.

WORKABLE PROGRAM—Asked the county administrator to set up a workshop session to thrash out the question of who should serve as the official advisory committee for the "Workable Program for Community Development", a document required annually before the county qualifies for federal housing grants. The Marin Council for Civic Affairs now serves as advisory committee.

LANDSCAPING — Awarded a $19,382 contract tto Christner Plumbing Co. of Berkeley to landscape the interior of the Hall of Justice. Christner's was the lowest of three bids, which ranged to $23,203.

COURTHOUSE SALE — Approved a $1,000 outlay to join San Rafael in a study of parking and traffic problems in the downtown area in the hope that this would facilitate sale of the courthouse square.

LEGISLATION — Agreed to push for new legislation which would permit the state gasoline tax, which can now be used for roadways, to be used for various forms of transportation. The suggestion came from Mrs. John F. West of San Anselmo.

MICROFILM—Contracted with Remington Rand Office Systems, lowest of six bidders, to furnish microfilming for the Department of Public Works at $7.44 per thousand images.

CLAIMS—Rejected two claims alleging brutality by sheriff's deputies. Daniel J. Kelleher of San Francisco seeks $50,000 for groin, head and face injuries allegedly suffered in county jail last Nov. 16. Paul LeDonne of Pinols seeks $10,000 for alleged assault by Deputy Sheriff R. C. Russell of Stinson Beach last Oct. 18.

Marin Gives McNear's Fire Station The Ax

The one-man county fire station at McNear's brickyard serving Bayside Acres, will be disbanded and transferred to the Lucas Valley substation, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided in a bizarre 4 to 1 vote yesterday.

Chairman John F. McInnis, who declared he can no longer justify keeping the one-man station at McNear's, cast the lone dissenting vote to the surprise of his colleagues.

McInnis said the had fought for retention of the one-man station as long as possible but now finds that rental space for the truck is not available, and the equipment is not suited for protection of residential areas like Bayside Acres. He explained that Bayside Acres should improve its water lines and get protection from San Rafael.

Louis H. Baar, San Rafael city councilman until last year, reported that fire hydrants at Bayside Acres are two-inch standup pipes that cannot be used by modern fire trucks. "If hooked up, the pumper would suck up the whole pipe and all," said Baar.

Since Bayside Acres is in his area, McInnis said he would not move to disband the fire unit, "but I won't oppose it."

Michael Wornum moved to discontinue the fire unit at McNear's, and Arrigoni seconded the motion. Chairman McInnis called for a voice vote and got four ayes. Thereupon, McInnis announced: "For the sheer technicality of it, I'll vote no."

Stereo Is Stolen From Marin Firm

Tim R. DeYoung of D and D Car Stereo, 1417 Fourth Street, San Rafael, reported yesterday a demonstrator stereo valued at $50 had been taken from the store.

Police are seeking an 18 to 22-year-old man, about 6 feet tall and weighing 160 pounds who was reportedly seen carrying the stereo from the store.

Pair Returns Girl, But No Ransom Cash Received

WHITTIER (AP) — "Two bed men" who kidnaped Paula Ann McGinnis released the two-and-one-half-year-old girl unharmed last night without receiving any ransom.

Her father, Frank McGinnis, said he received a telephone call demanding $200,000 ransom a short time after two men, posing as telephone repairmen, abducted the tot earlier in the day. The left the housekeeper bound.

"Two bad men took me," the girl told her parents after she was found wandering along a street in nearby LaMirada less than 12 hours after her abduction.

"They apparently chickened out," said McGinnis, owner of a small tool and machine company.

McGinnis was at work and his wife was shopping when they learned of the kidnaping.

He said the first phone call came soon after he returned home.

"They told me the baby was all right, and to get $200,000 together," he said. "They called back three or four times, but didn't reply when we said, 'hello.' "

He said he received no instructions on how to pay the ransom. News of the abduction was carried widely but nothing was said of a ransom.

"They must have panicked when they heard nothing about the ransom," said McGinnis.

WATCHES TOW JOB—An unidentified girl riding along the Malibu beach watches as the wreckage of the SAS jetliner gets towed ashore. However, before the wreckage was brought in safely yesterday, it sank. (UPI Telephoto)

Height Of Doomed Jet At Crash Puzzle To Probers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Sverre Viking, proud ship of the Scandinavian Airlines fleet, should have been flying at 1,500 feet when it skidded into the Pacific.

Why wasn't it?

That was the big question facing federal investigators today as they pressed their inquiry into the Monday night crash of the DC8 jet as it approached International Airport in the rain.

Four were known dead; 11 missing and presumed dead. There were 30 survivors, plucked from the rainswept sea by small boats. Twenty-nine of them were injured.

The Sverre Viking, an $8 million plane, ended its 8,000-mile flight over the North Pole from Copenhagen in the Pacific shallows off Malibu Beach.

It sank finally in 60 feet of water yesterday afternoon at the edge of the surf as the Coast Guard tugboat Pendant tried to tow it ashore for investigation and salvage.

Agents for the National Transportation Safety Board and for the airline studied whether to try to lift it with a crane and barge.

The back half of its fuselage, carrying the plane's flight recorder, sank in 600 feet of water where it broke off when the plane hit the sea eight miles offshore.

Investigators said there was no way of knowing whether the missing were entombed in the tail section. They said it apparently sank immediately.

The chief investigator, William L. Lamb, said his team might use sonar and underwater television to locate it for raising.

Several survivors agreed there was no warning the plane was going down. One said he felt no dive. The pilot called his approach routine.

He did mention, however, "some difficulty with the landing gear." Investigators will have to determine whether that played a part in the tragedy.

Weather also might have been a factor. It was raining. There was overcast at 3,500 feet and scattered clouds at 1,700 and 1,200 feet.

Painting Classes Start Next Week

Painting classes for beginners and intermediates in all media will begin next Wednesday, sponsored by the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Classes will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday for six weeks at the center.

Advance registration is required and may be made by calling the center.

Hayakawa To Talk

S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College, will be guest speaker at the Mill Valley Lions Club at 7:45 p.m. Jan. 28 at the Mill Valley Golf clubhouse.

Music Teachers To Meet Monday

The monthly meeting of the Marin branch of the California Music Teachers Association will be held at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the home of Margaret Davis, 209 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael.

For the program Mrs. Davis and Trudi Sorensen will play Mozart's Two-Piano Concerto.

Choral Concert At Sonoma State

The Sonoma State College collegiate chorale and madrigal singers will perform at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Ives Hall, under the direction of E. Gardner Rust, the new director.

Rust, a Petaluma resident, is working on his doctorate at the University of California at Berkeley while a member of the Sonoma State music department.

Included in the chorale program will be "Modern Music" by William Billings; "The Three Peoples" by Joanne Feldman of the Sonoma State faculty and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson. Miss Feldman's composition is a setting of three poems from "Lord of the Rings" by J. R. R. Tolkien.

The madrigal singers composed of 14 students, will present a group of songs by American composers as well as Bantu and Hungarian folk songs.

Tickets will be available at the door or at the campus bookstore.

Catholic Service To Seat Officers

The Catholic Social Service of Marin will hold its annual installation dinner at 8 p.m. Friday at Lin Fa's restaurant in Terra Linda.

John R. Maurer has been elected chairman of the board of directors; Mrs. John T. Purcell, vice president; Mrs. Donald Kreps, secretary, and Alan D. Shattuck, treasurer.

The dinner will follow a 7 p.m. Mass at the Maurer home.

San Quentin Is Obsolete, Prison Overhaul Due, Lawmaker Says

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—San Quentin Prison was labeled "an obsolete institution yesterday by a member of an Assembly committee considering an overhaul of California's penal system.

Such large prisons should no longer be built, he said, noting Gov. Ronald Reagan's new budget is expected to include $26 million for another maximum security prison at San Diego.

San Quentin, said Vasconcellos, simply serves to deplete a person's self-esteem, and puts him down further. All we get is a more expert criminal under the present system, which reinforces the same weaknesses that led to the criminal act in the first place."

The prospect of reforming the penal system, however, is remote in the present Legislature, he said, terming it "more repressive than positive in its attitude toward law and order."

The criminal procedure committee, of which he is a member, is studying the penal system in the hope of gaining "a much greater understanding of why people commit crimes," he said. "One thing is certain—I'm satisfied the present system isn't working."

Criminals are not much different than the rest of us," said Vasconcellos, "they've just got bigger hangups.

"Prisoners are part of society—we can't just lock them up—so the selfish need for survival of our own society coincides with the humanitarian need to treat them as members of society," he said.

Vasconcellos likened the prison to the state's university and college institutions. "The lack of personalism in both doesn't do anything for people," he declared.

Conceding California's penal system has a good reputation for being "progressive," Vasconcellos said "it may have been resting on its reputation for too many years."

An attorney, he was particularly critical of the Adult Authority for failing to provide for judicial review of its decisions on whether to parole prison inmates. The authority "is secretly administered and accountable to no one," he said.

The result is that inmates never know how they stand, and whether they will be paroled. But inmates "have to have safeguards against arbitrariness," said Vasconcellos.

"There are such things as due process and judicial review that never ought to be taken away from a man," he stressed.

The criminal procedures committee plans to meet with inmates at San Quentin, perhaps next month, to discuss the problems of present laws.

Original Compositions Due Friday Discussion

Original compositions by five members of the Sonoma State College Student Composers Forum will be presented at noon Friday in Ives Hall.

Works to be discussed and performed include "Sex Life Songs" for bass voice and five instruments by Richard Lemmon; "Images" for flute, piano and percussion by Jeffrey Bush; a composition for brasses by Eugene Gillespie; a composition for trumpet and piano by William Sache and "Quartet for Saxophones" by Charles Garzoli.

POTATO PUFF MEAT LOAF is an easy recipe that's given an attractive appearance with a topping of Cheddar cheese-flavored mashed potatoes and a tomato sauce glaze.

Midas Touch For A Meatloaf Standard

How many times a month do you serve meat loaf? Several, we bet. And, if you're like most homemakers we know, you're always on the lookout for simple tricks that make the popular ground beef main dish look and taste just a little bit different.

Potato Puff Meat Loaf is a pretty standard recipe for a meat loaf; some canned tomato sauce goes into the loaf to give cheery tomato flavor to the beef. Bake the loaf awhile then pour on more tomato sauce to glaze it nicely.

Finally swirl on fluffy mashed potatoes. Give the potatoes a Midas touch by folding in golden Cheddar cheese. If you have one, a pastry tube makes the potato topping look extra fetching. Finally, bake the loaf a few minutes more to brown the topping.

Serve the loaf on an attractive platter surrounded with a favorite green vegetable; we chose lima beans. Serve with carrot and celery sticks, biscuits or cornbread (from a mix) and fresh fruit for dessert.

Be sure to keep a generous supply of canned tomato sauces on hand. Their tomato brightness contributes so much flavor and color goodness to ground beef main dishes.

Food Page

POTATO PUFF MEAT LOAF

1½ pounds lean ground beef
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 medium onion, finely chopped
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
2 cups unsalted hot mashed potatoes

Combine beef, 1 can tomato sauce, onion, bread crumbs, egg, salt and pepper. Shape into loaf in shallow baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove fat from pan; pour second can of tomato sauce over loaf. Bake 15 minutes more. Fold cheese into potatoes; swirl over top of meat loaf. Return to oven for 15 to 20 minutes more or until potatoes are lightly browned. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Casserole Ideas Using Veal And Cooked Ham

Let the main dish bake while you set the table and put your own personal party finishes. That's one of the many advantages of having a casserole as a luncheon entree or buffet main dish.

These ingenious baked dishes may use leftover meat as the ham and asparagus one does, or start with fresh meat like the Pineapple Veal Almondine.

Casserole dishes free you of last minute fussing and save fidgeting over the food. Place them in the oven and set the table prettily, slip into a dress and adjust makeup so you can greet luncheon or dinner guests, cool, smooth and assured that everything is going according to schedule.

What's more, casseroles will keep hot at the table since they're in heated containers with food oven-hot. That takes care of seconds nicely.

Either of these entrees may be served with hot rice or parsleyed noodles, fresh fruit or molded salad, broiled tomatoes, crescent rolls and chocolate parfaits for dessert.

HAM AND ASPARAGUS CASSEROLE

2 cups diced cooked ham (1-inch cubes)
1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut asparagus
¼ cup grated American cheese
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup coarse dry bread crumbs

Cook asparagus until tender. Drain thoroughly and arrange in 1½-quart casserole. Combine ham, cheese, tapioca, green pepper, onion, parsley and lemon juice. Cover asparagus with one half of ham mixture. Combine milk with mushroom soup and pour over casserole. Mix melted butter or margarine with bread crumbs. Sprinkle over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F) 25 to 30 minutes, or until crumbs are lightly browned. 5 to 6 servings.

PINEAPPLE VEAL ALMONDINE

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) sliced pineapple
½ teaspoon mixed herbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¼ cup chopped green onions
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons sliced almonds, toasted

Cut veal steaks into 6 servings. Dredge meat in flour drippings. Drain pineapple and save syrup. Place meat in baking dish and top each serving with a pineapple slice. Combine mixed herbs, parsley, onions, mushrooms, salt, garlic salt, pepper and ¼ cup pineapple sirup. Pour sauce over meat. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 1 hour or until tender. Sprinkle with toasted almonds. 6 servings.

Chicken-And-Dumplings Makes One-Dish Dinner

CHICKEN WITH DUMPLINGS

2 pounds chicken parts
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 cup water
4 small carrots, cut in 2-inch pieces
2 large stalks celery, cut in 2-inch pieces
1 medium onion, thickly sliced
Dash pepper
1 cup packaged biscuit mix
⅓ cup milk

Put chicken, soup, water, vegetables and pepper in large heavy pot. Cover; simmer 40 minutes or until chicken is tender. Combine biscuit mix and milk; stir lightly with a fork. Drop dough by spoonfuls onto pieces of chicken. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover: cook 10 minutes more. 4 to 6 servings.

A Sardine-Tomato Broil For Luncheon Or Supper

Here is a savory hot luncheon or supper dish that can be prepared in a jiffy with no fuss, no bother. Decidedly easy on the food budget, it will add variety and zest to your meatless menu fare and the family will applaud its unique flavor.

3 medium-size tomatoes
2 (3¾ oz.) cans Norway sardines
2 tbsp. grated cheese
small boiled potatoes or steamed rice

Decorate with green olives and watercress

Cut the tomatoes in half. Drain the olive oil from the Norway sardines and make a puree of contents of one can. Spread puree over tomato halves. Top each with 4 or 5 whole sardines from second can. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in oven or under broiler until the tomatoes are tender. Serve piping hot with small boiled potatoes or steamed rice. Decorate with green olives and watercress. Yield: 6 servings.

Liver Parmesan

When thin slices of calves or baby beef liver get dredged in Parmesan cheese and sauteed gently and quickly in butter, you already have something to rhapsodize about. But follow that one step further and top with a spoonful of lightly salted dairy sour cream and a few chopped green onion tops and you will have something really good to serve family and guests.

Pizza Spaghetti A Tasty Dish

Watch your gang go for this recipe. Pizza Spaghetti was designed to please kids of all ages as well as to provide you with a good-tasting, nourishing main dish that takes practically no preparation time.

Make a spaghetti sauce by simmering canned tomato sauce with mushrooms with onion, garlic and Italian-style seasonings. The best spaghetti sauces are always the ones you make yourself. Even though this one takes only 15 minutes of cooking time, it tastes like you simmered it for hours. The mushrooms in the canned tomato sauce taste good and add interesting texture as well as dressing up the sauce for pennies.

While the sauce simmers, cook spaghetti and make ready the pizza toppings. You might brown sausages (any kind from brown and serve to garlicky Italian sausages), slice pepperoni or other luncheon meats or fry tiny meatballs.

Shred cheese, too, (almost any kind you have in the refrigerator), and cut green pepper into strips or slice olives. The beauty of this recipe is that you can use whatever you have on hand. You could use canned tuna instead of meat or cooked chicken or leftover roast.

Pile the spaghetti on an ovenproof serving platter, pour on the marinara sauce and artfully arrange the pizza toppings over all. Bake briefly to melt the cheese. Serve with carrot and celery sticks, hot rolls and milk. For dessert canned fruit or ice cream and cookies.

PIZZA SPAGHETTI

½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon salt
8 ounces spaghetti, broken, cooked and drained
1 cup shredded Mozzarella, Swiss or mild process cheese
Spaghetti Toppings: Sliced salami or pepperoni, cooked link sausages, olives and/or green pepper strips

In skillet lightly cook onion and garlic in oil. Stir in tomato sauce with mushrooms, water, basil, oregano and salt. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Place spaghetti on an oven-proof platter; spoon tomato sauce mixture over and mix gently. Sprinkle with cheese, then arrange any or all the suggested toppings over the cheese, pizza style. Bake at 350 degrees for 5 minutes or until cheese melts. Makes 4 servings.

Beefburger Suggestions With Pickles, Potatoes And Bacon

Ground beef which all of the following recipes require is best when the lean makes up about 75 per cent of the meat with 25 per cent fat, or suet as the fat of beef, is called.

With these percentages, the beef patties do not shrink too much nor is there too much dripping into the charcoal to cause smoke signals to upset neighbors.

The following recipes use novel ideas in the patty mixture. But don't let the family stop there. There are many ideas they might like to try as toppers. What about cooked, crumbled bacon mixed with chopped chives and dairy sour cream? Or corn relish on one 'burger and green tomato pickles on another?

GRILLED DILLBURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3 dill pickles
6 bacon slices

Combine ground beef, salt, pepper and onion. Cut dill pickles lengthwise in half. Shape seasoned beef around each dill pickle half. Wrap each with a slice of bacon and fasten with wooden picks. Grill on one side until brown, then turn, cook on the second side. Total cooking time will be from 10 to 12 minutes. 6 servings.

Flavorful

Orange marmalade adds sweetness and flavor to orange-lemon tea treat. Place 2 family size tea bags in a prewarmed 6-cup teapot. Pour over 5 cups of boiling water and stir in ½ cup of orange marmalade. Cover and steep 5 minutes. Remove tea bags, stir in 2 tablespoons each of lemon juice and sugar. Serve in cups or mugs with garnish of lemon or orange slices. Makes 8 servings.

BEEF-POTATO BURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
2 medium-sized potatoes, unpared and grated
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Shape into 6 to 8 patties. Place on broiler rack, so that the top surface of patties is about 3 inches from heat. Broil on one side until browned about 10 minutes. Turn and broil second side about 8 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

BACON BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
1 egg
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup bran flakes
10 slices bacon

Combine egg, salt, pepper, onion, parsley and bran flakes. Mix until moisture is absorbed. Add ground beef. Mix thoroughly. Using a generous tablespoon of meat mixture shape into 10 patties. Cut each slice of bacon lengthwise into 2 strips. Arrange 2 strips bacon crosswise on waxed paper and place a patty on each bacon intersection. Bring the strips of bacon together on top of each patty, fastening with wooden pick. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so that top surface of patty is about 2 inches from heat. Broil 8 to 10 minutes on each side. 5 servings.

Stuff Olives

Pimiento-stuffed olives lend color and flavor to fried potato cakes. Combine 2 cups of seasoned mashed potatoes, 1-3 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives, 1 egg, and ¼ cup of minced onion. Blend well and chill, if necessary, to shape into 8 patties. Coat potato cakes with dry bread crumbs. Heat 1-3 cup of solid vegetable shortening in heavy skillet, add potato cakes and saute until browned on both sides. Makes 4 servings.

Friends Discover Cookery

By CAROL MARVE

CHICAGO (UPI) — Take two friends who enjoy cooking. Add a dash of inspiration. Discuss, plan and let simmer for several months. Serve to the public a new type of cooking school.

When Mrs. James Gordon and Mrs. Bruce Hunt, Chicago housewives, discovered that a common interest in cooking could draw together people of varying backgrounds, they decided to go into business.

The result, The Melting Pot, concentrates on ethnic cookery by "neighborhood" cooks — those known by relatives and friends to possess a certain skill with spoon or spatula.

The school offers sessions of six weekly classes in a cook-along-with-the-chef vein. A dish is chosen because it is too hard to make without a demonstration, because it is representative of a culture and because people enjoy eating it.

"We investigated various cooking schools," Mrs. Gordon said, "but found them very dilettantish. One would offer a course in Chinese cooking, another in French cooking and so on."

The two women decided to concentrate on the cooks and their backgrounds instead. An Italian neighbor of Mrs. Hunt was the first demonstrator chosen. From her offer to come into Mrs. Hunt's kitchen and show her how to prepare spaghetti sauce grew the idea of The Melting Pot.

Other cooks were found by chance. When Mrs. Hunt chanced to mention the project to a Czech hardware store owner, he volunteered the services of his mother-in-law — "the best Bohemian cook in Chicago."

Spiced with reminiscences, family jokes and ethnic tales, the informal sessions permit students to try their hand at tricky procedures — from chopping celery fine enough to "melt" to stuffing a manicotti noodle — while learning about different cultures and traditions.

The directors stand with cup in hand during test runs to translate the handsful and pinches into standard measures. Students then receive printed recipes, information on where to buy special ingredients and cookware and a suggested wine list.

Marin Women

Garry Cecil Marries Suzanne Mary Allin

St. Rafael's Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Suzanne Mary Allin and Garry Leonard Cecil.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Maher Allin of San Rafael and the sister of Philip W. Allin. She is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

Mrs. Ronald B. Hecht of San Anselmo was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Christina M. O'Kane and Janice E. Pieri, both of San Rafael.

A reception at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base followed the ceremony.

Garry is the son of Mrs. Charles L. Cecil of Kailau-Kona, Hawaii. He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and College of Marin and is stationed with the Navy at the Naval Air Station in Seattle, where the couple will live. The bridegroom is the brother of Dennis L. Cecil, stationed with the Navy on Guam. His grandmothers are Mrs. Audrey Cecil of San Rafael and Mrs. H. L. Oliver of Mill Valley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mini-Skirts Will Be Followed By Beard-Growing Males

DEAR HELEN:

Last summer vacation my husband grew a beautiful beard. I loved it, but the bumble-headed idiots known as "the bosses" felt it would offend someone coming into the office, and possibly encourage other employees to grow one, so "it would be in the best interests" to shave it off.

I was absolutely wild to think that anyone could be so ridiculous. Isn't this dumb, Helen? Sideburns are allowed, beards, no. How can we fight it?—MRS. T.J.

DEAR MRS. J:

Try again next vacation. If office managers accept mini-skirts, can beards be far behind?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Beards may have started (this go-round) with the hippies, but they are definitely "hair to stay" with many successful businessmen as well as professors, doctors, etc. And why not?

As a male, it seems quite natural to me that a man should want to look like a man, just as most women prefer to look feminine.

The beard is a real status symbol—a status of independence, of individualism in a world of conformism. It is also one male trait which women can't adopt.

The social dictate of being smooth shaven is relatively new in the long history of man, and may well be less accepted hereon than it was for a few recent decades. Many women prefer males to look their part and, therefore, many men are becoming hirsute, at their urging.

Also, contrary to supposition, it is the daily skin scraping and five o'clock shadow which itches, not a natural beard.

Lastly, the men and women I admire most seem to like me best with my facial foliage. That's the "clincher." — HIRSUTE HARRY

DEAR HELEN:

I think more men would grow beards, but they are afraid they might embarrass their children, who are conformists at heart and can't stand to see their fathers "different." — RIGHT?

DEAR RIGHT:

Wrong—more often than you think. My husband Bob grew a real hairy beard at the insistence of his children, their friends (and, mildly, his wife). Now they won't let him shave it off.

(But if he doesn't stop pulling those, "I get all my advice from Dear Whatchacallem" jokes, I'll tell everybody he uses my mascara to touch up!)—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You said there "are many things worse than adult unmarried sex and only when it is mixed up with meanness, cruelty, hurt to others, etc., can it be really called immoral." Please, you must retract Sex outside of marriage is always a vice. Don't ever condone illicit affairs.—SOUTHERNER.

DEAR SOUTHERNER:

I neither condone nor condemn. If two consenting adults cause no one unhappiness by living together, then it's nobody's business but their own. —H.

Hotel, San Francisco.

A NUMBER of tables for large parties were reserved for the women's auxiliary luncheon featuring "A Century of Fashion" theme at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere today.

Hostesses for the luncheon groups included Mmes. Darwin Bryan, David Sheldon, Charles Fleischman, William Johnstone, Basil Knauth, Bruce Jacobs, Tyler Seely, William Clum and Ben Hirsch. The afternoon event honored the yacht club's centennial year with a showing of authentic period styles of Fashion Collectors, Ltd.

BACK IN Belvedere after traveling in Mexico are Dr. and Mrs. William J. Ferguson and their daughter, Betsy. They drove 7,000 miles visiting Mexico City, colorfully lighted and decorated for the holiday season; went south to Oaxaca where they visited architectural ruins of the Mayan culture; then traveled through the tropical jungle to Veracruz.

In Tasco they met Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Farley and their son, Tom, of Belvedere. The Fergusons also stopped at Acupulco and Mazatlan. They were gone a month.

DEBORAH ARMSTRONG

ON THE AGENDA

Salable Items Are Needed For Sunny Hills Auxiliary's Drive

Mrs. Robert Conway, Bargain Box chairman for the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, announces Jan. 21, 22 and 23 as the dates for the auxiliary's annual drive.

Clothing, bric-a-brac, furniture and appliances may be brought to the Bargain Box, 607 Irwin Street, San Rafael, or arrangements may be made for pick up of larger items by calling the Bargain Box.

Profits from the sale of donated goods help support the Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo.

THE SECOND session of the beginner folk dance class will start tomorrow at the San Rafael Recreation Center. Instructor will be Mrs. Scott Tilden of San Rafael, assisted by her husband.

Jointly sponsored by the Marin Dance Council and the San Rafael Recreation Department, the class begins at 8:30 p.m. Registration is open to adults and students over 16 years of age.

IDEAS FOR dealing with tensions of modern life will be discussed by Dr. William Pemberton of Mill Valley in a program entitled "Antidotes to Pressures" for tomorrow's meeting of the Tamalpais Valley Parent-Teacher Association. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school.

A lecturer in communications, semantics and human relations at the University of California and College of Marin, Dr. Pemberton is a member of the Juvenile Justice Commission of Marin County and conducts management training programs for governmental and private agencies.

MARIN BOTANIST Dr. Bargyla Rateaver will be the guest speaker for the Tamalpais Centre Women's Club program Friday at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Kentfield. The program is presented by the Garden Section of the club, headed by Mrs. Roy D. Bailey.

Dr. Rateaver, who lives in Kentfield, is an advocate of using natural methods of growing foods, avoiding the use of what she calls "poison sprays" to retain food values and flavors of fruits and vegetables, and she has started a demonstration farm in San Diego County.

She has taught vocational gardening at the College of Marin and holds a degree from the University of California and the master's degree and Ph.D from the University of Michigan.

THE SAUSALITO Woman's Club announces cancellation of the California history and landmarks program that was to have been presented tomorrow at the clubhouse by Oakland Museum director J. S. Holliday.

"WHAT IF CALIFORNIA Were a Separate Nation?" is the question to be answered in a film being shown at the Lu Sutton Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the school multi-purpose room in Novato.

The film illustrates the fact that California would rank fourth as a nation in the world in the value of its agricultural products. Its standing as a producer of lumber, minerals, individual food crops, oil and other consumer products is also explored in the film and compared with that of other countries.

Mrs. Keith Bayer is program chairman.

Mrs. Ken Pool, P-TA president, will also announce the name of the chairman of the honorary life member selection committee.

"INTO EACH Other's Worlds" will be the topics to be discussed by Dr. Roy Fairchild, professor of Christian education at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, for the Youth Ministry of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon at a dinner program at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. Fairchild, a marriage and family counselor and a professional consultant in family therapy, will address the youth group and their parents, emphasizing the need for communication between adolescents and their families.

The Youth Ministry, composed of 30 sixth to eighth graders, will prepare the dinner. Members of the Junior High Fellowship from Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon, have been invited to the dinner and discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, adult leaders for the Youth Ministry, are chairmen.

Diana Robfogel Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Diana Lynn Robfogel and Gary Lee Gibbs has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Robfogel of Petaluma.

Both the couple are graduates of Petaluma High School. Dee Dee, as the bride-elect is known, is the sister of Charles Robfogel of Petaluma and Mrs. James Maestri of Santa Rosa. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. King of Santa Rosa are her grandparents.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Gibbs of Petaluma and the brother of Linda Gibbs. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gibbs of Petaluma. He is serving with the Navy aboard the USS Iwo Jima at Long Beach.

Catfish

Catfish live in communities where each fish recognizes others as individuals by smell. And they can recall individuals after up to two months separation. This individual recognition is the basis for territoriality and social status within a community, report University of Michigan scientists. Aggressive behavior between strange catfish is different from that among members of the same community, they add. This, and all other social organization and behavior, is based on the sense of smell and is lost when the fish are deprived of this sense.

Summer Wedding Planned By Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paul Hollenbeck of Novato are announcing the engagement of their daughter Lisa Ann to Gregory Wayne Umphenour of Woodacre.

Lisa was presented at the 1967 Marin Debutante Ball. She is the sister of Robert Paul Hollenbeck of San Francisco. The future bride was graduated from Westmoor High School in Daly City and attended College of Marin.

Gregory is the son of Mr. an Mrs. Maurice Umphenour of Woodacre. He is the brother of Mrs. Philip Daniels of San Anselmo and Michael Umphenour of Woodacre. He was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and also attended College of Marin.

The couple plan to be married this summer.

BEAUTIFUL, UGLY CALIFORNIA

The Freeway: Praised By Many, And Condemned

By BILL STALL
(Last of three articles.)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The freeway. It is viewed by some as a monumental achievement; condemned by others as a self-perpetuating monster.

The freeway system has changed the face of California, led to creation of entirely new cities and established patterns of living for millions.

What should be the freeway's role in establishing California's future? What has been wrong in the past?

Here are some views:

William Bronson, conservationist-author, writes: "Parklands have been torn, cities have been shattered and agricultural lands have been invaded in the process of building tthe widely heralded and anxiously awaited 12,500-mile California freeway system... without doubt the largest boondoggle in history."

The state Chamber of Commerce's Freeway Support Committee believes that "as a matter of individual freedom, Californians must be provided with, and are willing to pay for, a system of free-flowing freeways which will permit them to use private automotive transportation if and when they choose to do so."

The new state Development Plan Program says, "California's highway building record is truly spectacular. However, it has not accompanied this remarkable record with a corresponding advance in its ability... to use highway expenditures as a means of positively influencing or guiding the use of land to improve the conditions of urban life."

"From Sea to Shining Sea." the report of the President's Council on Recreation and Natural Beauty, notes that "strip development of the land adjoining highways is perhaps the most obvious example of man's disregard of urban and rural beauty."

California's resources agency chief, Norman B. Livermore Jr. --whose pet peeve is billboards--says California faces "a tremendous challenge" in construction of the new Interstate 5, the Westside Freeway, down the western San Joaquin Valley. Due for completion by 1972, the 237 miles of road will cost roughly $210 million and eventually carry most of the San Francisco-Los Angeles traffic.

The 1963 Legislature foresaw possible strip development, considered it undesirable, and directed the counties to zone the land along the right of way to preserve the natural beauty of the area.

Fresno County has zoned a mile-wide strip on each side strictly for farm use, with no billboards. It limits commercial development to the area around two of the dozen interchanges planned in the county.

But even before the highway and interchanges are completed pressures are being brought on county officials to make changes and exceptions, says Donald Gouge, an associate county planner. He said some other counties are not living up to the legislature's mandate.

"One thing is certain," Gouge said, "the real intent of the legislature is not being carried out...There was a sort of vacant threat in the law. The state's bluff has been called and nothing has been done about it."

In his controversial book, "How to Kill a Golden State," author Bronson predicts, "there will be no sentimental ballad written for Interstate 5."

While planning experts speak of the need for alternate forms of transportation--primarily urban rapid transit--most Californians have failed to agree on a way to pay for them. The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District is having trouble finishing its 75-mile system--short of money. Los Angeles area voters rejected a $2.5 billion rapid transit bond issue last Nov. 5.

The state's legislative analyst, A. Alan Post, criticizes the legislature for failing to develop a general statewide transportation policy.

"The fundamental problem," Post says, "is to reconcile the conflict between transportation needs and community values."

The state registers more than 12 million motor vehicles, including some 10 million passenger cars. The fumes they spew mingle with California's fabled sunshine to produce an infamous California product: photochemical smog.

As it has pioneered in freeways and creation of smog, so California has pioneered in smog control, beginning with a statewide law in 1960 for control defices on vehicles. But again a California problem had blossomed virtually out of control before it could be dealt with effectively.

John Maga, the state's smog control chief, describes the situation this way: "I think the problem isn't getting any worse. We've leveled off."

The 1968 Legislature adopted the nation's strictest controls over smog-producing emissions from all types of motor vehicles.

By 1980, the smog produced by each auto will be only a fraction of today's levels. But, he adds, "We'll have more motor vehicles. We'll have increasing industrial activity."

Such problems involving the state's natural resources are extremely complex. There are no easy solutions.

But author Bronson argues, "Nothing is impossible; if we can go to the moon we can recreate a decent environment."

It's East Over West As Big 'O' Leads Way

BALTIMORE (AP) — "It's still a thrill to win this one," Oscar Robertson said after he had led the East All Stars to a 123-112 victory over the West in the 19th annual National Basketball Association classic.

"Not the biggest thrill," he added, "but one of them."

Robertson provided plenty of thrills for the fans, though, as he turned in a brilliant all around performance which earned him his third Most Valuable Player trophy in the eight All Star games he has played in since breaking into the league eight years ago.

Gene Shue, who coached the victorious East squad, attributed his side's victory to the East's greater height. "The West team was really small," the Baltimore Bullets coach said.

Asked if he agreed with the selection of Robertson as the game's Most Valuable Player, Shue replied:

"Of course I do. Oscar is the greatest. He can do so many things. We had a lot of great players out there, but Oscar is the greatest."

Shue said the East cinched the game in the final quarter "when our fast break was working to perfection with Oscar getting a couple of three-point plays. . ."

The East led comfortably at the quarter, 35-9, on the twisting jump shots of the Bullets' Earl Monroe, and the team work of Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas and the agressiveness of Boston's John Havlicek.

But the West, on the springy play of little Lennie Wilkens of Seattle and Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles closed the margin to seven at the half and finally pulled even midway in the third period. After the team passed the lead back and fourth for a time, they stood knotted, 77-77, with 3:39 left in the period.

Within two minutes, Wes Unseld rang up seven of his game total of points and the east had an 86-83 bulge to carry into the last 12 minutes.

Things got tight again in the last five minutes, but Gus Johnson, Monroe and Havlicek pulled the East out of reach. Robertson was high scorer of the game with 24 points. Monroe got 21 for the East. Baylor led the West with 14.

The East's rally from the big first quarter deficit was a slow one, closing to 60-53 at the half and then into the third.

Wilt Chamberlain, who finished second in the voting for the center spot to rookie Elvin Hayes, didn't enter the game until seven minutes had gone and the San Diego rookie had scored only two field goals.

In the early going Boston's John Havlicek and Bill Russell worked like partners on the offence while Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas and Robertson did the same. And the other East starter, Monroe, played by himself.

When East Coach Gene Shue and his coaching counterpart Richie Guerin started to substitute, the brand of basketball became more of the playground variety.

Johnson tried especially to please, twisting and cavorting as always, letting out a Tarzan yell while hoarding a rebound. Helped off the floor after a collision with 3:15 to go in the game, Gus limped back to sink two foul shots and make it 112-104.

Novato Blasts Trojans

In case anybody had any doubts, Novato High School's basketball team is a bona fide contender for the Marin County Athletic League title.

Just ask the Terra Linda Trojans.

Terra Linda, another title hopeful in what is basically a four-cornered race, was matched up against the Hornets at Terra Linda in a key league collision yesterday and came away with a convicing thrashing and its first league loss, 67-54.

By winning, the Hornets pushed into a share of the league lead with upstart San Rafael, also 2-0 after a 62-56 win over Drake.

The contest had all the making of a good bash for a quarter and a half when the bottom dropped out for the Trojans—nothing went in and everything went wrong.

From a slim 24-21 edge, the Hornets reeled off 12 straight points for a 36-21 half-time lead, built it up to as much as 20 points and didn't even need to get worried about a much-too-late 22-point Trojan flurry in the final period.

A bespectaled, string-thin 6-7 sophomore and a cool-shooting veteran plus almost total control of Terra Linda's wooden backcourt did the trick for the Hornets.

Dana LaFerrier came off the bench to pop in 18 points, mostly on tip-ins and follows while all-leaguer Steve McNally whipped in 21 points before fouling out for the Hornets. Ed Herrnberger contributed 12 points.

That was more than enough to offset Terra Linda's two-man show of Pat Purcell and Mike Timmel, who split up 40 of the Trojans' 54 points between them.

McNally's total came after a 24-point spurt against Drake Friday, giving him 45 points in two league games.

The Trojans never recovered from that disastrous second quarter, missing easy shots in key situations for most of the game until Purcell, Timmel and Byron Sakanari led the late, futile charge in the final period.

The win gave Novato an impressive overall mark of 13-4 on the season. The Trojans dropped to 8-5.

San Rafael Grabs Loop Lead Share

San Rafael High School's basketball team is sitting on top of the Marin County Athletic League standings alongside Novato after a 62-56 conquest of outmanned, outboarded but plain stubborn Drake at San Anselmo.

A flailing commandeering of the boards by 6-3 Bill Sleezer sparked the triumph, which was never really put away until the final minutes.

Sleezer grabbed 17 rebounds and pumped in 11 close-in fielders for 22 points as the taller Bulldogs almost blew a fat lead for the second straight time.

The Bulldogs, who hung on for a 56-55 win over Redwood last week leading by 17 points, had a 17-point lead in the third quarter, but watched it dwindle in the fourth period against Drake, but never closer than the final margin.

Sleezer got help from Ray Taylor and Bruce D'Ambra , Taylor hitting for 14 points and D'Ambra pumping in 11 points.

Guard Clark Jamison paced Drake with a 20-point showing, with help from Bob McLean's 13 points.

The loss was Drake's second in league play without a win.

The win pushed the Bulldogs over the .500 mark in season play at 7-6.

Colt Safety Volk Recovers

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — Baltimore Colts safety Rick Volk was recovering yesterday in Holy Cross Hospital after suffering convulsions following the Super Bowl football game in Miami Sunday.

Volk was rushed to the hospital Sunday night after he went into convulsions of an undetermined origin. He was put in the intensive care ward, but yesterday was moved to a regular room.

Attendants said his condition was satisfactory and that he would be released in a day or two.

Wildcats Grab First Win, Down San Marin

Marin Catholic's Wildcats, struggling against a tough schedule all season, won their first game of the year last night, downing fledgling San Marin, 64-58 in a Marin County Athletic League game in Kentfield.

But the win was scarce comfort for Coach Larry Fulton, despite the fact that his 'Cats, now 1-11 on the year, led convincingly until a last-period breakdown. "The way we played took a lot off our first win" he said. "We had 35 personal fouls, which is just ridiculous. We've got a long way to go."

Mike Murray had 16 points for Marin, followed by Steve Telender's 12 and Seamus O'Reilly's 10. San Marin ace Gary Howard was held to 13, seven of those points at the free throw line, as MC outscored the visitors 26-13 from the field, but gave up 32 points on 51 charity attempts.

No Sudden-Death Against Russians

TORONTO (AP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said yesterday that is a NHL team ever plays the Russians, it won't be in a sudden-death game.

"We'll never play the Russians in a sudden-death game," said Campbell. "It will probably be a four out of seven or something like that." Campbell, however, did not suggest that a series of games against the Russians is imminent.

Giants Grab 64-56 Win Over Indians

Redwood High School of Larkspur jumped back into the Marin County Athletic League basketball race last night by drubbing Tamalpais High School of Mill Valley 64-46 in Larkspur.

Coach Dick Hart's Giants raced to an 18-11 first quarter lead and were never headed, breaking open a tough contest with a 20-10 last quarter.

Hart praised John Boro, Roger Smith and Jerry Piro for their evening's work, noting that Boro and Smith led the Giant scoring with 16 points each.

ACTION TOMORROW

Rain Big News In Kaiser Tourney

NAPA (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Lee Trevino were the big names but rain was the big subject today on the eve of the $135,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament.

Tourney play gets under way tomorrow over two lush but soggy courses in the Napa Valley A pro-amateur event, with a $5,000 first prize, opened the big show — second stop on the winter PGA tour — today.

Play originally was set on the North course of Silverado Country Club. But rain early in the week and a storm forecast by the weekend caused sponsors to use Silverado's South course as well until the field is cut after Friday. Both courses were flooded by more than eight inches of rain the past week.

Two courses will be used to speed play, said Chairman Vernon Peak who noted, "it is doubtful the entire field could finish by dark on one course."

Qualifying for the 30 non-exempt spots in the 156 - man field was postponed until yesterday because of the storm. Then, one municipal course in Napa was playable over only 17 holes and scores were computed on that basis.

Palmer will make his first PGA tournament of the year and, as usual, will attract the biggest crowds. He arrived at Napa Monday in his private jet.

Along with Casper and U.S. Open champ Trevino there will be Los Angeles Open king Charlie Sifford, defending champion Kermit Zarley, Bruce Devlin, Dave Marr — in all 24 of the 30 leading money winners last year.

First prize in the 72-hold Kaiser will be $27,000, up two grand from the purse Zarley took home in the first Kaiser last year.

The pro-amateur will feature the 50 top pros — Palmer, Casper, Trevino, Sifford, et al — plus such as industrialist Edgar F. Kaiser and a former baseball player named Joe DiMaggio.

Tars Meet Solano Tonight

After last week's solid win over West Valley College of Campbell, the College of Marin Tars trek to Vallejo tonight hoping to continue the trend against the Solano College Falcons, a losing team that plays well at home.

Coach Cal Riemcke, whose Mariners are 1-1 in Camino Norte Conference play, must beware of a hot shooting spell by forward Rich McKee, Solano's top gunner, who can give a defense fits with his jump shot. While the Tars hope to get by tonight, and Riemcke worries about overconfidence, the example of the Tar JV's might help.

The Marin JV's beat their San Francisco City College counterparts 63-62 in the last four seconds on a 20-foot bank shot by Paul Leete, coming from 21 points down and making up ten points with a 12-1 spurt in the last two minutes. The JV's are now 6-5 on the year.

Tar Heels Come Up With A Cage Blitz

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nickname was born back in the days of the Confederacy, when a Southern unit held firm against a superior Union force and a Yankee officer observed "they must have tar on their heels."

But this band of Tar Heels from North Carolina is just the reverse—lightning quick. North Carolina, the nation's second-ranked college basketball team, used their fast break to advantage in a 101-76 blitz of Georgia Tech last night.

While North Carolina won as expected, a couple of teams in the lower half of the national rankings—No. 17 Northwestern and No. 19 Cincinnati—were upset victims.

Marquette, No. 15 and the only other nationally-ranked team in action—romped over Wisconsin-Milwaukee on Marquette's home court.

MANY FOULS

The Tar Heels, who have lost only once in 13 outings this season, wasted no time in racing past Georgia Tech. North Carolina built a 56-33 halftime margin to a lead of as many as 42 points.

Olympic standout Charlie Scott led the attack at Atlanta, Ga. with 30 points for North Carolina, while Bill Bunting had 22. Rich Yunkus topped Tech with 28 points in a game marked by a total of 42 personal fouls.

Marquette's 118 points against Wisconsin-Milwaukee set a school record in the cross-town game. The previous Marquette high had been 113 against Ripon in 1954.

Dean Memingerhad 31 points and George Thompson 20 in Marquette's 10th consecutive victory. Cecil Morries led the losers with 5.

Drake, led by Willie McCarter, improved its 30-26 halftime lead to 55-41 eight minutes deep into last half and held on from there in handing Cincinnati its first home court loss in 19 games.

FIRST VICTORY

McCarter hit 10 of his 19 points in the decisive burst. Don Ogletree led Cincinnati with 22.

Indiana, down 8-1 in the early going at Bloomington, Ind., reeled off 14 consecutive points against favored Northwestern and took it from there for its first Big Ten victory in four starts.

In some other major games, Wisconsin held off Minnesota 68-61, Iowa edged Michigan State 77-76, Texas A&M scored a 76-75 overtime victory over Southern Methodist, Rice beat Texas Christian 71-64 and Seattle edged Oklahoma City 75-73.

FORZANO NAMED NAVY GRID COACH

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Rick Forzano, offensive backfield coach for the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League this season, was appointed football coach at Navy today.

Capt. J. O. Coppedge, athletic director at the U. S. Naval academy, said the 40-year-old Forzano would have a three-year contract, but would not disclose the terms.

Forzano, an assistant coach for Navy from 1959 through 1964, replaces Bill Elias, fired Dec. 11 after the Middies lost eight of 10 games, including the all-important Army game.

Coppedge said Navy screened more than 200 applicants for the job. "We looked into each candidate thoroughly and arrived at the conclusion that no one fits our needs more adequately than Rick Forzano," he told newsmen.

NFL Defeats AFL In Golf

The old football league got even for the Super Bowl yesterday by taking four of the first five places in a golf tournamemt for players in both circuits.

John Brodie, the veteran San Francisco 49ers quarterback, was an easy winner. The former Stanford standout shot an even par 72 in the final round for a 54-hole total of 209, seven under par.

Baseball Umpires May Stage Their Own Revolt

Major league baseball is threatened on two fronts this year. Players are threatening a strike. So, too, are umpires.

Players are reluctant to refer to their action as a strike threat. Yet, if they refuse to sign 1969 contracts just mailed to them the action will amount to a strike. They are involved in a rhubarb with club owners over the amount owners are contributing to the players pension fund.

Umpires are not sensitive about labeling their action as a strike threat. Their threatened walkout involves dismissal of Bill Valentine and Al Salerno by Joe Cronin, American League president.

TWO WEEKS before the 1968 season closed Valentine and Salerno were dismissed. Cronin declared they were "inefficient and never first class at any time."

Salerno had eight years service in the American League, Valentine seven. They declared they were dismissed because they organized the league's umpires into an association, similar to the one that has been in existence for a number of years in the National League.

On Sept. 30 in Chicago umpires from both leagues met and formed a new Major League Umpires Association.

"The first order of business of our new association is reinstatement of Valentine and Salerno," said a spokesman. "If they are not reinstated there is going to be a strike."

LAST WEEK Valentine and Salerno filed a charge of unfair labor practices against the American League with the National Labor Relations Board in Chicago.

After the first order of business, the new umpires association lists a number of other items on its agenda, all aimed at equalizing working conditions, salaries, travel expenses and pensions in both leagues.

National League umpire salaries now start at $9,500, American League $7,500. Al Barlick, senior National League umpire, receives $24,500. Top salary in the American League is $17,000. The average difference between National and American League umpire salaries ranges from $3,000 to $7,500.

DURING SPRING training National League umpires receive $28 per day living allowances, plus $25 per game and 10 cents per mile travel expenses. American League umpires receive a flat $300 sum spring training expenses and two umpires work together, sharing 10 cents per mile travel expenses.

National League umpires qualify for pensions after five years. American League pensions don't start until after 10 years of service.

(UPI Telephoto)

IT'S NOT THE MONEY

A Really Happy Namath Arrives

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Joe Namath is happy and he says it has nothing to do with his $15,000 winner's share from the Super Bowl or other riches likely to follow this milestone in football history.

Namath reported in yesterday to the East squad for Sunday's American Football League All-Star Game in the Gator Bowl, along with 10 other members of the world champion New York Jets.

"I'm happy and monetary value is no part of it," Namath said when asked what he figured the AFL's first victory over the National Football League champs will mean to him financially.

"It isn't that I think I have enough money," the rough speaking but smooth throwing quarterback said, punctuating his remarks with a finger poked at his listeners.

"The way I spend it, there probably isn't enough," he said, "but I'm happy and my plan for the off season is to stay happy."

OPERATION

Namath rejected questions about his injuries—two fingers on his left hand taped together, a thumb on his throwing hand that he said got tired in the Super Bowl game, or his ever troublesome knees.

He was asked if it is true he wants a fourth knee operation which Dr. James A. Nichols, team doctor, believes unnecessary.

"Whatever Dr. Nichols says about it, that's it," Namath replied.

He arrived looking like anything but the successful businessman image his teammates reflected. Namath wore a black leather jacket over a green and black knit shirt, brown bell bottom slacks and dark suede shoes.

Ready to scoff at all newsmen because his team was so lightly regarded against the Baltimore Colts, Namath demanded to know if anyone present had picked the Jets to win the Super Bowl.

LIAR

When a writer said he saw some of the Jets quoted as saying they didn't think they would win, Namath pushed close and said: "You're a liar! Ask them. Ask any of them if they thought that! If they say they did and you don't punch them, I will!"

Namath is scheduled to share the east quarterbacking 50-50 with Bob Griese, in the All-Star Game.

At least, that's the way Coach Wally Lemm plans it right now. But he isn't giving any guarantees.

"Each of them will play half the game," Lemm said. "I think each of them will quarterback a full half, but I'll have to work that out with them."

Will he stick to that timetable regardless of the game situation?

NO PROMISE

Namath, who led the East to a 25-24 victory in last year's AFL All-Star Game here, was due to join practice sessions today along with 10 other members of the New York Jets who won the pro football title by beating the Baltimore Colts 16-7 at Miami Sunday.

Lemm said the fact they missed Monday and Tuesday practices won't curtail the effectiveness of his team because the Jets start in good physical shape while the All-Stars from Houston, Buffalo, Boston and Miami haven't played in four weeks and needed the extra work.

"Namath is a tremendous athlete and a great competitor," Lemm said. He is the best quarterback in pro football, and I think Griese is second best."

STRIDES

Lemm said the Miami Dolphins quarterback has made tremendous strides in his two years as a pro and has the potential to be great.

Even the West All-Stars, who will try their best to beat Namath Sunday and prevent a third consecutive East victory, talked mostly about Namath's skill and poise in leading the Jets to the AFL's first Super Bowl championship.

John Hadl, San Diego quarterback who will start for the West, said it was the best game he ever saw Namath play.

"I think he's the best in the business right now, by far," Hadl said.

West Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City said the result gave everyone in the AFL a big lift, proving to the public that the younger league is no longer inferior.

NFL Pros Prepare For East-West Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Players and coaches of the National Football League today got down to the serious business of preparing for the annual East-West All-Star Pro Bowl Sunday.

Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys is in charge of the East and George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams the West.

Pro Bowl participants were guests at the annual luncheon yesterday which precedes the game.

Understandably, there were some rueful back glances at the Super Bowl and the upset by the New York Jets of the American league over the Baltimore Colts, 16-7.

"You can't change the scoreboard. In the week coming up we've got to play a lot better. We're facing better material."

Morrall and Roman Gabriel of the Rams will guide the West, Don Meredith of Dallas and Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants the East.

Cracked Tarkenton, "I'll have a hard time getting back into New York. It's Joe Namath's town now." He referred, of course, to the Jets. flamboyant quarterback.

Water Polo Win For Giants

Redwood High School of Larkspur clinched at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League water polo championship by whipping Novato High, 10-6. The Giants are now 6-0 in the MCAL, 9-0 overall, and 15-0 over the two years the team has been in existence.

In othec action, Tamalpais of Mill Valley edged Terra Linda 8-6, while Drake of San Anselmo, ht fifth team in the MCAL's inaugural season of water polo, had a bye.

Greg Myers of Redwood hiked his goals total to 31 in league play by putting in five, while Dave Newman of Terra Linda had six. Laurie McFadden led Tam with four.

Stanky Coach Again. . At South Alabama

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Eddie Stanky will be nanaging again this season—in the college ranks.

Stanky, who was fired last season as manager of the Chicago White Sox, accepted a position as baseball coach at the University of South Alabama.

Stanky, who also was a former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, turned down offers from the Chicago Cubs and Cardinals along with another one to manage in the new international Global League but preferred a position close to his home.

"I couldn't be happier," said the former second baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants. "This gives me a chance to work with youngsters and that's what I enjoy most."

Platoon System To Be Tackled

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The National Collegiate Football rules Committee tackled the matter of two-platoon football again at its meeting Tuesday.

Nothing will be decided or announced until the sessions end today. but a spokesman for the 16-member group said it appears the present substitution rules will not be changed pending a thorough study of the costs of all athletics—not just college football—this year.

Fritz Crisler, former athletic director at the University of Michigan and a lifetime honorary member of the rules committee, is expected to offer a resolution today proposing such a survey.

It is no secret that college officials on the administrative level are deeply concerned with the rising costs of athletic programs.

The administrators, however, are well aware that college football enjoyed one of its most successful years. For that reason, the spokesman said, committee members don't want to tamper with the more basic rules at this time.

Van Wart Is Top Yachtsman

Jack Van Wart of Larkspur was honored as "yachtsman of the year" at last night's annual meeting of St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco.

The award is made by the club annually to the person who contributes most to yachting in the Bay Area and whose contribution to St. Francis Yacht Club activities is most noteworthy. Van Wart is a partner in Aero Portraits of Sausalito and a KNBR engineer.

T. L. (Ted) Schoonmaker, Sausalito industrialist and San Rafael resident, was installed as Commodore of the St. Francis Y.C., succeeding William L. Stewart III, also of San Rafael.

Salmon Anglers Urged To Stick To Good Book

Anyone having a pair of itchy feet to walk the shores of the Fort Bragg streams, including the Navarro Lagoon and River, the Noyo, Ten-Mile, Big and Little streams will find a good book in a warm room much more satisfactory. Skipper Bob Johnson, erstwhile builder of a commercial fishing boat to be used in quest of salmon in the aforementioned areas, as well as the deeper waters off that section of Coast, called Sunday to report all the waters mentioned above and inspected personally are in a very non-fishable condition. There has been suggested a plan to provide all salmon and steelhead entering the streams mentioned with mud-glasses, but all such former plans in days gone by have failed.

IT IS, I believe, reasonable to predict little or no success in trying for salmon or steelhead for at least seven days after the last storm muddies the waters. Time element is, of course, dependent on when the streams now swollen and dirty return to normal. So let us just wait as patiently as possible for conditions to better in the areas mentioned or contact a reliable source at such streams, and as the Trinity and Klamath where stream conditions are much better and ordinarily will furnish fishing days and tides sooner than the coastal streams.

Shifting the scene to the past, present and probable future of the rod and reel buffs, we are in receipt of a weekly report of action in Lake Berryessa, by Mike Drean, manager of Sports of Spanish Flat, which turns out to be a report of the second month of Lake Berryessa Fishing Derby for 1968-69, considered excellent — with many limits of trout and bass checked in, 266 fishermen took part in the December Derby.

Russians Won't Play

WINNIPEG (AP) — The Russians — leaving themselves an opening for reversal — have pulled out of a scheduled series of hockey games in Canada, just as they canceled the U.S. Russia track meets a few years ago.

The reasons, however, are entirely different.

The USSR canceled the U.S. track meets in protest over American participation in Vietnam.

This time they say they won't play because the Canadian opposition they're scheduled to meet is inferior. The Ottawa or Winnipeg team, or a combination of both was slated to represent Canada. The first game was to be played in Montreal Friday.

Diplomats and hockey officials worked desparately to determine whether the Russian decision was based on a misunderstanding that could be cleared up quickly so as to permit start of the tour on schedule.

If it can't be cleared up, council members of the International Ice Hockey Federation were in a position to act on a cable from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association asking "immediate and full suspension" of the Soviet Hockey Federation for its "unprecedented" action.

Further, international suspension would prohibit the defending champion Russian team from competing in the world hockey championship in Stockholm the last two weeks in March.

The Russians' coach, Anatoly Tarasnov has been angling to play National Hockey League teams. Gordon Juckes, executive director of the CAHA, expressed the opinion that the NHL has no appetite for becoming involved with the Russians.

Meanwhile, Maple Leafs Garden said a sell-out of the 16,485 seats had been anticipated for Friday's game. Cancellation of the game and the tour would represent a loss of $35,000.

Dallas Ends Streak, Oaks Keep One Up

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dallas Chaparrals' losing string has come to an end at 11, while the Oakland Oaks' winning string now has reached 13.

The Chaparrals ended an 11 game drought last night when they defeated Minnesota 102-101 with a basket two seconds before the overtime buzzer in their American Basketball Association game.

In other ABA action Indiana edged Houston in a thriller 116-113 and Oakland handily beat Los Angeles 132-106.

At Dallas the Chaparrals moved ahead in the third quarter and never again trailed until Steve Vacendak hit on a Pipers' free throw for 101-100 with 16 seconds left on the overtime clock.

Cincy Powell of Dallas then dumped in a 23-foot shot from the floor with two seconds showing. Connie Hawkins' 43 points for Minnesota was game high. Powell was second with 23.

At Houston Roger Brown tossed in a jump shot with two seconds left in regulation time and added two free throws after the clock ran out to pace the Indiana decision.

Willie Somerset of Houston topped all scorers with 35 points. Freddie Lewis and Brown led Indiana with 29 and 23 points each.

Oakland continued its winning streak with an easy victory over Los Angeles. The Oaks reeled off 10 consecutive points shortly after intermission and put it out of reach at 96-77. Doug Moe had 26 points and Gary Bradds 25 for the winners.

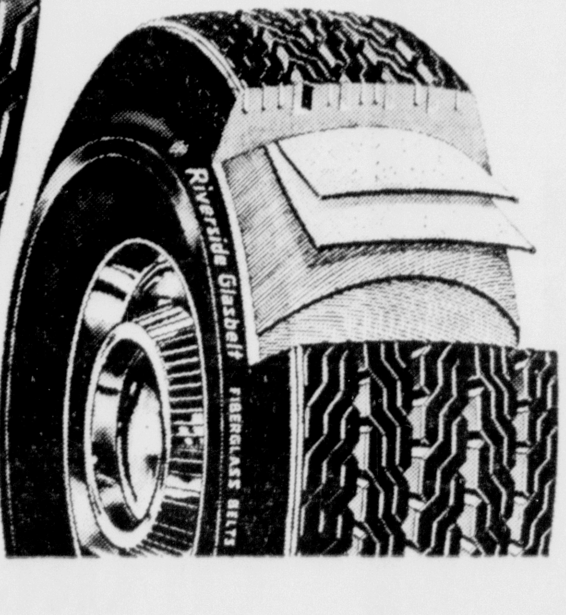
THE TIRE EXPERTS ASKED FOR:



"Looking at our results, it is easy to see why radial ply tires are so appealing. But the more we look, the more we feel that all the advantages are a result of the belt, which stabilizes the tread . . . and not the radial plies themselves. In fact, the areas where the radial tires show signs of weakness can be related to the radial plies, not the belt. We can't help but think that a combination tire—a cross ply with a belt—would be an admirable solution."

FUROR OVER TEEN — Nineteen-year-old Barbara Joe Rubin may become the first girl jockey to ride in a race when she goes on Stoneland at Tropical Park in Miami, Fla., today. (AP Wirephoto)

Teen Gal Jockey Adding Fuel To Battle Of Sexes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The battle of the sexes in the jockey ranks comes to a head in the fourth race at Tropical Park today when teen-ager Barbara Jo Rubin may ride a horse named Stoneland.

If she makes he ride, Barbara Jo will become the first female jockey to race at an American parimutuel track.

But she faces revolt from the male jockeys. And there's a chance Stoneland won't even make it to the post.

In the draw for the race, Stoneland wound up on the also-eligible list. That means at least one of the 12 starting horses must be scratched. Then Barbara Jo's horse might make it through the luck of another draw.

Several of the riders named on horses for the six-furlong fourth race said they would not compete against Barbara Jo.

Craig Perret and Carlos Berrera both said they would ride. But Mike Miceli and Gerry Gellitano said they would not.

"It's too bad," commented the veteran Ussery," that a man has to make a decision whether he's going to ride against a girl or not."

Most jockeys at Tropical are members of the Jockeys' Guild. The guild cannot organize a formal boycott without running the risk of violating anti-trust laws.

Barbara Jo, who has remained quiet throughout the fuss, qualified to ride by passing a test Monday before track stewards. She broke a horse from the gate and her filly outran two other horses ridden by male jockeys.

If she performs capably in her first race, she will be issued a riding license.

Tropical General Manager Elmer Vickers said: "I have every confidence the race will go if she is in it. We have no plans to move it from its present position as the fourth race on the program to the last, as done at Churchill Downs. Neither do I anticipate any sudden outbreak of sickness in the jockey's room before the fourth race. Because any rider who takes off for reason of sickness will forfeit his mounts the rest of the day."

The male-female jockey feud started when Penny Ann Early was granted a license to ride in Kentucky in November. She was named on three horses, one of which was scratched because of muddy conditions, another on which she was replaced by a male, and another where the male jockeys staged a boycott, causing cancellation of the race at Churchill Downs.

Meanwhile, Penny Ann Early and Sandra "Sandy" Schleiffers have applied for jockey licenses at Santa Anita in Arcadia, Calif. Penny Ann and "Sandy" must go through the same qualifying routine at Santa Anita as Barbara Jo did at Tropical Park.

Los Angeles Stops Rangers In NHL, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Kings scored twice in the final period yesterday to break a 1-1 tie and beat the New York Rangers 3-1 in a National Hockey League game.

Bill "Cowboy" Flett scored his second goal of the night with 4:48 gone in the period to put the Kings ahead for good. Less than three minutes later Gordon Labossiere scored the insurance goal.

With the victory the Kings regained third place in the NHL's Western Division, passing idle Philadelphia.

Czech Olympic Star Is Fired From Job

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) Emil Zatopek, one of Czechoslovakia's most famous athletes and a two-time Olympic gold medal winner, has been ousted from his defense ministry post because of his active support of progressive reforms, Reporter Magazine said yesterday.

The magazine of the Czech journalists union published a letter by Ludek Pachman, a mathematician and Czech chess champion, who was protesting to the defense ministry about the ouster.

He said Zatopek lost his position as an education officer in the defemse ministry and is now an assistant coach of the army track team in Prague.

"I think many people in this land will agree that such a status for a man who belongs to the most famous figures of the last quarter of a century is our joint shame and I don't intend to bear this shame without protest,"Pachman wrote.

Pachman said Zatopek is not an isolated case and that there have been "full scale" personnel changes in the army since the Soviet-led invasion.

British Ex-Champ Scores Knockout

Carney, 167, went down in the fifth from an overhand right. The New England light-heavyweight champion couldn't match Brennan's strength and edge in experience.

Fiery Pancho Still Creates Controversy

The fiery veteran tennis star stormed off the court in the middle of the men's open doubles championships of New South Wales yesterday with the comment, "I'm tired, I quit, there's too much tennis for me."

Gonzalez quit after the Spanish pair of Manuel Orantes and Andres Munoz won the second set of their match with Gonzalez and Spain's Andre Gimeno 15-13. Gonzalez and Gimeno won the first set 6-4.

The crowd booed as Gonzalez forfeited the match but he said afterwards that he would withdraw from all doubles matches during the remainder of the Australian professional tour. Gonzalez had spent nearly five hours on the court yesterday.

"I am going flat out to keep in the singles where the big money is and I can't afford to be mixed up in long drawn-out doubles matches. I have to win the big ones," he said.

In the exhausting second set, Gimeno had made a couple of simple stroke errors to enable Orantes and Munoz to tie the set 13-13. At that point, Gonzalez yelled at his partner, "for God's sake hit them, knock them off."

When Orantes and Munoz then won the next two games to take the set, Gonzalez walked off.

The so-called "Lone Wolf" of pro tennis, Gonzalez has always been one of the most controversial and outspoken players on the tour.

Veteran Condominium Builders Preparing Petaluma Project

A 72-unit condominium apartment complex is being planned for the former Rabben property of six acres on Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, by George Kaenel of San Rafael.

This type of development is nothing new to Kaenel, who with builder Arthur Nicolaisen and realty broker Scott Chandler, participated in the first condominium to be recorded in California. It was a 75-unit complex in the Canal Street area of East San Rafael, a few years ago.

Nicolaisen will also be the general contractor on the Petaluma project, on which site preparation and construction are slated to begin soon. Kaenel and his associates recently acquired the land, reported to have been in the Rabben family since 1883, and are forming a syndicate.

Tentative plans call for nine apartment buildings of eight low-maintenance units each, surrounding a community center. The project, to be known as Magnolia Gardens, will occupy four acres, with the remaining two acres of highway frontage to be developed with a motel, commercial and professional buildings.

MARTIN P. WISE of Petaluma has been appointed operations officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office. He joined the bank at this office in 1954 and was assigned to the Petaluma office the following year. He has been assistant manager in Petaluma since 1962.

PHILIP E. MERRIMAN of San Rafael has been elected a director of E. S. Merriman and Sons, San Francisco mortgage banking and real estate brokerage firm. He has been with the company since 1958 and was recently named secretary of the corporation.

IN ADDITION to the Marin County exhibitors at the San Francisco Boat Show mentioned in our column of Jan. 7, we are informed that Southeast Yacht Supplies of San Rafael is having a first public showing there of a battery-operated clock that chimes, manufactured by Time and Tide, Inc. Southwest is also displaying models of the Calmec auto pilot.

San Rafael distributor Bill Blackburn will man the Penn Fishing Tackle Manufacturing Co. booth and H. A. Calahan Co. will exhibit trim tabs for power boats and varnishes and paints. The show continues through Sunday.

MEETINGS: Architect Robert W. Hayes of Sausalito, partner in Hayes and Smith, San Francisco, was a featured panelist and speaker this week at the annual convention of the National Association of Homebuilders in Houston. He is reported to be the only West Coast architect to be invited to conduct a workshop program at the convention. . . . Silvio E. De Maestri of De Maestri Distributing Co., San Rafael, is attending the Anheuser-Busch, Inc. sales convention this week in Los Angeles.

H. M. ROWLAND of Ignacio has been promoted to manager of the San Francisco freight division for American President Lines. He entered the steamship business in 1931 with the Robert Dollar Co., APL's predecessor. After eight years at sea as a freight clerk, then freight agent and general agent in Hong Kong, Yokohama and Kobe, he returned to the San Francisco freight division in 1951 where he has been assistant manager for the past 10 years.

Wages lost as a result of motor vehicle accidents in 1967 totaled $6 million, says the National Safety Council.

Market On Plus Side Once Again

Carryover demand from the previous session—following an extended decline that carried most market indexes to their lowest levels in months—and a more favorable news climate helped bolster the list.

Among the major constructive news items were record industrial output in December reported by the Federal Reserve Board and a Commerce Department report the nation's Gross National Product reached a new high in December for the second month in a row.

Oils displayed scattered strength, with some issues adding a point or better. Chemicals were narrowly irregular.

Rails were an impressive group most of the day, with airlines also in good demand. Grumman held firm in the aircrafts after being awarded a Navy contract to build a new supersonic fighter plane.

Foreign Branch Set

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., has announced plans to establish its first branch overseas in Luxembourg, to be in operation by mid-year.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Report Form Appears Simple, But May Require Additions

Wikel

For 1968, we have a federal income tax Form 1040 consisting of only one piece of paper with two pages.

The new form sounds real good and it is if you have a very simple financial life.

If you have income other than a normal salary, dividends and interest, or any itemized deductions, you will have to attach to this form another one to explain the income or deduction.

For instance:

Schedule C for income from a personally owned business;

Schedule D for income from the sale or exchange of property;

Schedule F for income from farming;

Schedule G for income averaging.

Form 1310, Statement of Claimant to Refund Due—Deceased Taxpayer;

Form 2106, Statement of Employee Business Expenses;

Form 2120, Multiple Support Declaration;

Form 2210, Statement Relating to Underpayment of Estimated Tax by Individuals;

Form 2240, Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay;

Form 2241, Statement of Expences for Care of Children and Certain Other Dependents;

Form 3903, Moving Expense Adjustment;

Form 4136, Computation of Credit for Federal Tax on Gasoline and Lubricating Oil; and

You may also be reuiqred to use the following forms:

Form 936, Authorization — Joint Return or Declaration;

Form 982, Consent to Adjustment to Basis;

Form 2119, Statement Concerning Sale or Exchange of Personal Residence;

Form 2688, Application for Extension of Time; and

Form 2948, Medical and Dental Expense Statement.

You can obtain these schedules and forms as well as other supporting schedules from the IRS.

There are many other forms and statements that are required under certain circumstances and to be sure that you are fully reporting as required, you should purchase the book, "Your Federal Income Tax—1969 Edition for Individuals" from the IRS for 60 cents.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Food Fair's Outlook Is More Promising Nowadays

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What do you think of Food Fair? I own 300 shares at an average cost of 15; also seven of the 20-year 4 per cent debentures — total cost $700 — due in April, 1979, and convertible into common on or before April 1, 1969. What should I do? I'm retired with money enough to get along all right. — J.K.

A. I believe Food Fair common has good long-term potential, but for the past decade share earnings have been erratic, having yet to repeat their peak levels of $1.65 and $1.70 in 1959-60 when the debentures were offered. Net sales, however, have moved up each year since then and will show another boost for fiscal 1969 ending April 30. Profit margins now appear likely to widen, reflecting improved cost controls and new operating efficiencies.

Each of your seven $100 debentures is convertible into three shares of common, which I would take and hold along with the 300 you already own. Annual dividends will amount to $289 for a yield of 5.5 per cent on your total initial investment of $5,200. At current trading levels for the common, this investment shows a paper profit of 46 per cent. This situation offers you growth and moderate yield — a good combination.

Q. We're a married couple with no children or other dependents. We own our home, have $25,000 in savings accounts and enjoy a monthly income of $350 from a retirement annuity. Should we put part of our savings into another annuity to offset a possible lowering of bank interest? — B.A.

A. I suggest giving thought to the joint and survivorship contract, the new variable income contract that is now available on an individual basis, and another innovation — the annuity-mutual fund package being sponsored by a few insurance companies. Newspapers are carrying advertisements of these recent developments enabling you to send for information before you arrange an interview with an insurance representative.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Little Twist Of Opponent's Arm Can Get Favorable Lead

If life were really beautiful you could ask for whatever you wanted, and you'd get it. In real life, the only way you get it is in the neck. When you want a favor you must twist somebody's arm. If you're out of practice at arm-twisting, you might notice how South managed it in today's hand.

HEART LEAD

West opened the ten of hearts, and declarer won in dummy with the king. If neither opponent had bid South would have drawn trumps and taken two club finesses. This line of play would give South 3 to 1 odds on making his slam.

In view of East's vulnerable overcall, however, South feared that East had both of the missing high clubs. If so, it would be necessary to twist East's arm and make him give dummy a free club finesse.

The plan would have been easy if trumps had broken normally, but East threw a heart on the first round of trumps. South therefore continued with four more rounds of trumps, discarding two low clubs from the dummy.

NOTHING SAFE

No method of discarding was safe, but East made the natural discards of two hearts and three diamonds. South thereupon led a heart to dummy's ace and ruffed a heart, followed by the ace of diamonds and a diamond ruff. This reduced East to his three clubs.

East could not have saved himself by discarding four hearts and one diamond on the five trumps. South would lead a heart to the ace and ruff a heart, and East would have to part with two diamonds since a club discard would be fatal. South would then take the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond to reach the same position.

THE SLAM

South could now try a finesse with the ten of clubs. East won with the queen but then had to return a club, giving dummy a free finesse and the slam.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ None
♥ Q J 8 7 4
♦ Q 10 8 4 2
♣ K Q 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Despite the excellent distribution this hand is not quite worth an opening bid. Change each of the red queens to a king, and the hand would be worth an opening bid of one heart.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 15, the 15th day of 1969 with 350 to follow.

The moon is appreaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening start are Mercury, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1831 the first practical locomotive built in America made its maiden run over the Charleston and Hamburg Railroad tracks in South Carolina.

In 1922 the Irish free state was born.

In 1965 British Prime Minister Winston Churchill went into a coma fom which he never revived. He died Jan. 23.

In 1968 nearly 300 persons died in earthquakes in western Sicily.

A thought for the day: Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The highest compact we can make with our fellow man is 'Let there be truth between us forevermore'."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Demise Of The Post—Commentary On America?

The death of a magazine as much a part of American life as was the Saturday Evening Post should, we suppose, be occasion for mourning.

The Post traced its ancestry back to the Pennsylvania Gazette, founded in the early 18th Century by Benjamin Franklin. Even without this rather tenuous link, it has a history of 148 years of continuous publication. But the Feb. 8 issue will be its last.

FOR THE FIRST HALF of the present century, the Saturday Evening Post was the favorite magazine of that vast class of Americans between the semi-literates who cannot get beyond comic books or confession magazines and the few raised-nose intellectuals who snub everything that has popular appeal.

In its pages appeared some of the best work of literary greats ranging from Jack London to F. Scott Fitzgerald, from Stephen Crane to Stephen Leacock, from Theodore Dreiser to Sinclair Lewis, from Ring Lardner to William Faulkner.

Post editors had their pick of the cream of literary output. For appearance in the Saturday Evening Post was the imprimatur of writing success, accompanied by large checks commensurate with its prestige.

BUT THAT Saturday Evening Post died several years ago. The magazine that will date its last issue Feb. 8 resembles it only in carrying the same title — in the same Cheltenham bold italic type, restored following several years as just "the Post" after it went from weekly to bi-weekly publication.

The Post's growth into greatness came after Cyrus H. K. Curtis bought it for $1,000 in 1897 and installed George Horace Lorimer as editor. By 1936, when Lorimer turned over the editorial reins to Wesley Wynans Stout, there were nearly three million "Post families," most of whom renewed their subscriptions automatically each year. A million more were added under Stout's six-year editorship. And, despite vagaries which began to undermine the Post's reputation in the '50s, the list rose to six million during the 19 years with Ben Hibbs as editor.

IN THE PRESENT decade, though, the Post has had a succession of editors and publishers — "bright boys" from Madison Avenue, promoters, lawyers, "financial wizards," each with his own "magic formula" and none with much understanding of what built the Post or of the great mass of Americans who once read it. Although circulation remained high until the latest publisher, financier Martin S. Ackerman, arbitrarily halved it last August, it was bought at great cost. The automatically renewing "Post families" were gone.

For the last seven years, the Post has been neither fish nor fowl nor good red herring. And the 4,425 pages of advertising that in 1950 made it a fat and profitable bundle dwindled to about 950 pages last year.

This week, for 50 cents (the price was a nickel until April, 1942), one could buy a Saturday Evening Post containing such un-Post-like intelligence as "How To Publish Dirty Books for Fun and Profit," by Martin Mayer.

Only link to the Post's great past in this issue is a "Hazel" cartoon by Ted Key, a regular for over two decades. And Key is not so funny as he once was.

THE DECLINE of the Saturday Evening Post might be interpreted as reflecting a decline in American society, with good taste losing its importance and literary quality its esteem.

We suspect, however, that the case is the other way around. We suspect that the great American middle class — of which it is so popular nowadays to speak disparagingly — indeed has better taste and higher standards than the "bright boys" think. We suspect there are still as many "Post families" as ever — but they don't care to read the characterless, unpredictable hodgepodge that for several years has masqueraded under the old familiar name.

Democratic Caucus Memo Hits At Freedom Of Information

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A strange and almost unbelievable memorandum was sent to all members of the Assembly Democratic caucus, their secretaries and staff recently by Jess Unruh, Assembly Democratic leader and George Zenovich, Assembly Democratic caucus chairman.

The memo had to do with the Associated Press strike, which caused a picket line to be formed on the second floor of the capitol, where the AP office is located. It followed action of the Democratic caucus in voting to support the strike.

"Please inform your secretaries and staff members not to cross that picket line for any purpose whatsoever," the memo read, "nor should press releases be sent to the Associated Press.

"Members should not conduct news interviews with persons representing the Associated Press until the strike has been settled."

It is difficult to believe that nearly half of the representatives of the people of the state of California, numbering some 20 million, should take an action which in effect, denies the people of the "right to know."

The only source of information a good many newspapers and radio stations have from the capitol is the Associated Press. Thus, to deny these media public information from duly elected representatives of the people constitutes an act which is tantamount to fostering secrecy in government.

The issues involved in the strike are issues between the striking employees and the management of the Associated Press, and are no concern of legislators elected by the people to represent the people.

The caucus action harks back to the time many years ago when a governor of California closed his press conferences to a reporter because the governor didn't like what the reporter wrote. The ban didn't last long, because the rest of the reporters recognized the threat to freedom of information, and filled in the banned reporter with all that transpired.

Had the Democratic caucus enough votes in the Assembly to pass a resolution containing the orders in the caucus memorandum, it is in the realm of possibility that such action would have been taken by the Assembly, thus giving actual official recognition to the attack on freedom of information. Fortunately in this intsance the Democrats are a minority.

But even the caucus action is a road to withholding information from the public, and could have serious implications on the right of the people to know.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Council Attacks District's Bigotry

As temporary officers of the fledging Human Relations Council of the Dixie District Community (Lucas Valley, Marinwood and Terra Linda), we feel we owe Lanny Berry and our community a public summary of our informal investigation of bigotry, white racism and individual harassment that led to the formation of our council. We agree with Mr. Berry that the cancer of bigotry found here — and in all other communities in the nation as documented in the Kerner Report — shares blame for Mr. Berry's concealed (unloaded) weapon charge and conviction.

For it is indeed true, as we found during our investigation of discrimination charges made by Mr. Berry and nearly every other black family and several Oriental families living here, that petitions to keep blacks out — despite an open housing policy — name calling, spitting, bodily abuse and other forms of open and subtle discrimination had occurred in this community since its beginning. (We also found that another group — the physically handicapped — had suffered indignities.)

Minority families over the years have tried many quiet ways to combat discrimination here. Some have sought the aid of school personnel, others have tried talking to parents, a few have called in sheriff's deputies, and most have done community service work to gain community acceptance. The Berry family also tried these quiet avenues that, unfortunately, have had the effect of sweeping discrimination under the community rug. . . .

It is ironic that the Herbert Mooney family should be the one to have been involved in the concealed weapon charge against Mr. Berry. This family is dedicated to the fight against discrimination. . . . Indeed, the families have had long discussions since the incident. While the two families may never be close friends, they are communicating.

It is hoped by the Human Relations Council that something positive can be gained from this experience. . . .

Our next meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. at Miller Creek School Library will include the first election of officers.

Striking Teacher Defends Walkout

Your editorial of Jan. 9 is so clearly and demonstrably inaccurate that even a greatly prejudiced person will hardly believe it, if he knows the facts.

You state the "each teacher has signed an agreement for the school year ending in June," and that therefore "teachers are breaking agreements that each of them has signed." Both statements are totally false. I have taught at San Francisco State for 10 years, full time (Dr. Hayakawa has taught only part time for most of that period). I have never signed any contract or agreement, during that time, except for a loyalty oath — later declared unconstitutional — and a sabbatical leave contract, long since expired. Nor has any such agreement as you describe ever been offered me to sign. Nor, to my knowledge, has any colleague of mine ever been offered or ever signed such an agreement . . . Even Theodore Meriam, chairman of the board of trustees, declared explicity, less than a month ago, that teachers had no contract and therefore no contractual rights. Two years ago the trustees reduced our pay without our consent; they claim the right to increase our working hours without our consent, and to fire us at any time for any reason. Contract? Agreement? Ask any lawyer . . . You speak of agreements that we have signed. Such an agreement is a contract. We have signed no agreements; we have no contracts . . .

The rest of your reporting of this tragic situation has been about on the level of this editorial, with the single exception of Richard Boyle's article of Wednesday. Much that you have said is flatly false; much else has been managed so as to produce false impressions. To your readers I offer these points. I think I could easily prove their truth.

1. The AFT (of which I am a member) is striking for meaningful negotiations, over the problems that have gradually and — in recent months — very swiftly been eroding the quality of the college . . .

2. The Trustees have made this strike inevitable by refusing to negotiate. They say that they will not even consider negotiating while the strike is on. But they never considered negoiating before the strike began . . .

3. The AFT strike is separate from the student strike, although in one area the striking students and the striking teachers share common goals. Both are striking for an educational system and a financial support that can make it possible for San Francisco State to serve the needs of its community. The AFT has not endorsed the specific 15 demands made by the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front. It has demanded that the grievances represtned by these demands be satisfactorily resolved. The student strike, and the grievances behind it, are real facts in our real lives as teachers. We would be insane not to recognize that those grievances must be settled before San Francisco State can resume a peaceful educational program.

4. The AFT not only has never supported nor condoned violence, it has urgently tried to reduce the potential for violence on campus by defusing the confrontation between students and police. This is why the AFT picket lines are so important. The AFT strike is the only hope for avoiding mass violence on campus, for that strike is explicitly and solely a peaceful, legal method of protest. . .

5. The strike has closed down the college as an effective educational institution. No real education is going forward. The claim that the campus is open and functioning is a farce.

Until the demands of San Francisco's ethnic minorities for an education shaped to their needs, and the demands of San Francisco State's teachers for a decent working situation and an appropriate form of academic government are met . . . there will never be peace at San Francisco State — or it will be Hayakawa's peace, brought about by the sword, and the institution that survives will not be worth attending.

One last word. All the trustees and the governor have to do to end the situation at San Francisco State, to preserve that college and perhaps the entire state college system from destruction, is to enter into meaningful negotiations. That is all. But apparently that is too much to ask. No wonder that on the state college campuses men and women of good conscience are desperate. And no wonder that they resent such editorials as your last.

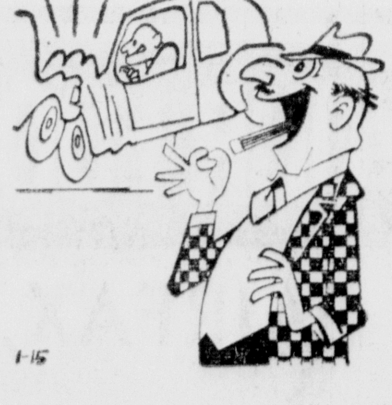
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE OWNER of a parking lot in the financial district called an emergency meeting of all his employees. "Boys," he announced, "there hasn't been a single complaint this week about a dented fender or scraped body. Now how can you expect me to pay you the wages I do if you leave that much space?"



AT THE children's hour: "Here's my report card, Daddy — and I'm sick of watching television, anyhow."

THE DRUMMONDS

Richard Nixon's Toughest Job: To Make Democracy Work Again

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is one thing Richard Nixon must do as President or he won't be able to do much else.

That's unite the nation in mutual trust.

He sees this as a foremost challenge and is facing it openly.

We must bring the country together again, he says, calm its angers, quiet its fears.

ON THE EVE of the Civil War Lincoln faced nothing more difficult. Neither did F.D.R. in the midst of the Depression.

Nixon's task is tough because:

1. He is a minority President leading a minority party which controls neither house in Congress.

2. Because his election was so close, Nixon must earn his mandate by governing, since the voters didn't give it to him on Nov. 5.

3. The people who most need federal help — the blacks, the very poor, the unemployed, the ghetto dwellers — voted against Nixon, and the people who will have to pay most of the cost voted for him.

WHEN NIXON SAYS that his first necessity is to "bring the country together again," he means that as President he must rekindle the climate of trust and good will among the American people and that in so doing recover government by the consent of the governed. This is the heart of his goal.

He knows that if he can do that, nearly everything will be possible. If he fails, little will be possible.

IT SEEMS TO US that what has brought the American government near stalemate is this:

So many Americans have become so impatient, so frustrated and disdainful at the slow pace of racial justice and other social progress, and so divided over Vietnam that they seek to substitute government by violent protest for government by consent of the governed.

They are aided by many others who, though not violence-prone, accept or condone violence because they fail to see that the end of that road is either dictatorship or chaos.

DEMOCRACY in the United States can be preserved only when it is allowed to function. It has not been allowed to function well recently because violence has become so pervasive as to partially paralyze orderly political life.

The need now is to let new national leadership start proving itself.

It has earned consent through election. It deserves and needs — if we are to continue to have a democratic government in the United States — to have that verdict accepted in good faith and good will by those who voted against it.

That is the democratic process. That is the heart of majority rule. That is the heart of the voluntary compact which makes democratic government possible; namely, consent by the minority to majority rule until the minority through peaceful uses of free assembly and free speech can create its own majority.

But it won't be achieved for the asking. It will take doing.

NIXON WILL NEED to demonstrate promptly that his is an administration which cares, that he is committed to bringing the long-deprived blacks and the very poor into the mainstream of the economy and dealing with urban problems effectively.

He must make it visibly clear that as he tries new approaches to welfare aid, he will not prematurely cut back federal programs until he knows that his new approaches are working.

Bucher Appears As Victim Of Bungling Higher Up

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —The Navy can expect lots more criticism as a result of North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo, but few of the brickbats will be tossed at Cdr. Lloyd Bucher and his 81-man crew.

That is the present reading at the capitol, where new information on the seizure is being circulated now that members of the crew are telling their stories to Navy authorities.

Data now available suggests that there were a number of errors of omission or commission. Generally speaking, however, they do not appear to have been made on board the beleagured ship but further up the Navy chain of command.

TO USE an overworked Pentagon word, it appears no Navy "scenario" ever accurately envisioned a determined attempt to seize one of the lightly armed electronic spy ships which cruise close to unfriendly shores. To a considerable degree, Bucher and his crew seem to have been the victims of mistakes made by others.

Butcher's basic orders, drafted by his Navy superiors, were ambiguous. It is clear that the Pueblo skipper was not ordered to scuttle his ship rather than let it fall into Communist hands.

ONCE THE NORTH Korean patrol craft began to harass the Pueblo, Bucher's radio have studied the radio exchanges say Bucher got no help.

In contrast, according to these informants, the senior North Korean officer was being prodded, in radio exchanges, to get on with the boarding and seizure of the Pueblo.

The response which could have helped Bucher would have been the arrival of U.S. fighter planes, but none was then stationed in South Korea and none had been assigned to cover the Pueblo's mission.

CONTRARY TO some published reports, efforts were made to destroy some of the ship's sophisticated radar and electronic gear with explosive devices. These efforts were unsuccessful, however, and Pueblo crewmen then tried to do the job with axes.

There was not time to complete that sort of job, and it is now clear that secret materials were seized for analysis by Russian experts.

Navy spokesmen will face intensive questioning on these points in about a month. That is when House and Senate Armed Services Committees will begin their annual hearings on U.S. military posture. reports to shore headquarters brought him no useful instructions. Informants who

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Part-Time Teachers Solve Schools' Problems

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

How some school districts tap local talent both to ease the teacher shortage and to improve the schools is described in a report just published by Catalyst, an organization fostering public service careers for educated women.

In a 1965 survey, Catalyst turned up 300 school systems in the United States that make some use of part-time teachers. Last year, it investigated their use in five cities: Detroit; Miami, Fla.; Framingham, Mass.; Cedar Falls, Iowa, and Niskayna, N.Y. The new report covers these five.

While Catalyst "has an axe to grind," since promoting public service careers for women is its reason for being, both its 1965 survey and last year's close examination in the five cities point up the fact that there are many able people, particularly women, who would welcome part-time teaching and could be of benefit to the schools.

MOST SCHOOL administrators, Catalyst reports, are averse to using any part-time teachers. They have preconceived notions that these people drawn from outside the education establishment will be "unprofessional," that use of part-time teachers will cause scheduling troubles, that they will not blend with the fulltime staff, etc.

These prejudices are so firmly held that in the two big cities investigated, central office administrators did nothing about hiring part-timers and often were not even aware of them — but principals recruited them to fill desperate staff needs.

None of the preconceived notions of the administrators proved true in practice, according to the Catalyst investigators. Of the 300 superintendents using part-time teachers who replied to the 1965 survey, 99 per cent reported these teachers were professional in their attitudes and were regarded as qualified professionals by their fellow teachers.

MOREOVER, the superintendents reported less absenteeism among the part-time teachers than among the full-time faculties. And administrators in the communities visited in last year's survey added another cogent comment: the part-time teachers, drawn from the community itself, "stay put" better than teachers generally. They also reported scheduling actually was made easier by the flexible hours of the part-time instructors.

In Framingham and seven other Massachusetts communities, part-time teachers are used in a variant of the team teaching idea. One teacher takes a class in the morning, another in the afternoon. These teachers partners, both part-time, work together well, principals reported. The pupils like having two teachers. And there is a fresh teacher for the afternoon session instead of a tired one.

In the other communities visited, part-time teachers are used for regular elementary school classes, to teach half-day kindergartens, and for special subjects in elementary and high schools. (In Miami, for instance, a local graduate of Taiwan University teaches Asian studies to high school students.)

AN OBSTACLE beyond resistance of administrators hampers wider use of part-time instructors in the schools, however: rigid and often unrealistic certification requirements.

For instance, Catalyst reports that in Niskayuna, N.Y., the high school science department has two teacher aides who set up experiments, etc. But they are not permitted to teach, although one has a master's degree and the other a Ph. D. They have not fulfilled New York's requirements for certification.

Since California's teacher credential requirements are among the most rigid and unrealistic in the nation, this would probably hamper wide use here of part-time teachers — even former teachers, which most of these women are.

One attribute of part-time teachers drawn from the local citizenry might be especially appealing right now, however: As established members of the community, they are not likely to be militants out to "destroy the schools to save them."

Nixon Will Support Extension Of Surtax

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla (AP)— President-elect Nixon, about to take charge of a war-swollen federal budget, has pledged to support President Johnson's recommendation that the 10 per cent income surtax be continued —until "the facts we face" permit repeal. (See U.S. budget story, page 1.)

"It remains my conviction that the surcharge should end as soon as requirements for the war, the budget outlook and economic conditions will permit," Nixon said last night. "It is my understanding that President Johnson shares this same view."

His understanding was carefully orchestrated.

The words Nixon used in a statement to describe his position, and those Johnson included in his farewell State of the Union message were virtually identical.

Said Nixon:

". . . Until the new administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts we face justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced, I will support the President's suggestion that the surcharge be continued."

And Johnson, before a joint meeting of Congress:

"The president-elect has concluded that—until his administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced—he will support my recommendation that it be continued."

Nixon and Johnson discussed the tax in a telephone conversation Sunday, and the President clearly received his successor's endorsement at that time.

Nixon's full statement:

"It remains my conviction that the surcharge should end as soon as requirements for the war, the budget outlook and economic conditions will permit. It is my understanding that President Johnson shares this same view.

"However, until the new administration and the Congress can ascertain that the facts we face justify permitting the surtax to expire or to be reduced, I will support the President's suggestion that the surcharge be continued."

Since his election, Nixon and his advisers had said repeatedly the tax should be repealed as soon as economic and budget conditions would permit.

As a campaigner, Nixon at one point said flatly he wanted the $15 billion levy to end on June 30, when it is due to expire unless Congress acts.

But generally, he linked its elimination with an end to the financial burdens of the Vietnam war. In Chicago, for example, on Sept. 4, Nixon said:

"I think that once the war is ended we should get rid of the surtax. It is a war tax and it should be ended because I think the tax level in this country rather than going up should be reduced."

The tax statement was Nixon's only public business yesterday—and it was prepared even before he flew to Key Biscayne Monday night. There were no announced callers on his schedule today, and no staff aides were with Nixon.

He was said to be working in solitude, and taking the sun now and then, in preparation for his inaugural address next Monday.

Mystery Offer To Buy Colleges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Somebody wants to buy California's state universities and colleges, all 28 of 'em.

The idea, says Director Andrew R. Lolli of the state General Services Department, is to lease them back to the state. California would get a big wad of cash and the investor would get a steady income.

The offer for the nine University of California campuses and 19 state college campuses is being looked into on an exploratory basis, Lolli said.

He declined to identify the buyer or say how many millions or billions were involved.

"As far as money is concerned," Lolli said, "there is no problem. The buyer painted a very rosy picture."

Attendance Area Idea Gets Cool Reception

The San Rafael Board of Education last night expressed concern about a proposal to unify the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area with the San Rafael High School District.

Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said he had heard from Rachel Conner, chairman of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization, that the proposal was one of several to be considered by the committee.

"I find it hard to believe that anyone would take this seriously," Kramer said.

Board members asked Supt. John F. Plank to express "their concerns and reservations" to the committee, scheduled to meet tonight.

Board Member Herman L. Childress said he was concerned that "it (the proposal) has come to this point without anyone consulting us."

Plank said the impetus for the proposal came from the Tamalpais High School District area.

Board members also approved plans for a six-classroom school to replace the Short School building which was demolished last month because it didn't meet the state's earthquake resistant standards.

Architect Chester Bowles Jr. Marshall and Bowles of San Francisco, displayed the model, which illustrated the provision for open space teaching area, which could be closed off for traditional, separate rooms.

Board members called for bids, but no bid opening date was set. Bowles estimated the cost at $184,000. The school would serve 150 to 180 pupils through the third grade.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

ATTENDANCE AREAS — Agreed that the present attendance areas for Terra Linda and San Rafael high, including busing of students from Santa Venetia to San Rafael High, be continued during the 1969 - 70 school year.

SABBATICAL LEAVES — Granted sabbatical leaves for the 1969-70 school year at half pay to Mrs. Janet Clark, second grade teacher at San Pedro School and Beverly Beeler, teacher of English at San Rafael High School.

TIME OFF — Approved granting presidents of teachers associations one day leave each month to handle association business, providing that the association pay the salary of the substitute teacher.

TEACHER EVALUATION — Adopted a revised policy on teacher evaluation which includes provisions for teachers to request evaluation by fellow teachers, which would be included, at the teacher's request, with evaluations by administrative staff. It also encourages teachers to use student evaluation and conduct a self-evaluation of his performance.

HIRING — Approved the hiring of William Ranney, substitute teacher, high school district at $4,757 for the remainder of the school year; Mrs. Mary Ward, intermediate grade teacher, elementary district, at $5,095 for the remainder of the school year; and Sidney Robbins, substitute custodian, maintenance department, at $2.71 an hour.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved the appointment of Jack Sims as athletic director at San Rafael High for the current school year, at a salary of $1,000 less the $630 he is paid for coaching, and the appointment of Donald Lucas as acting athletic director at Terra Linda High for the remainder of the school year, with compensation to be one period a day of released time.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Barbara Raff, teacher of educationally handicapped, elementary district, effective Jan. 24, because impending marriage will require move outside area.

LEAVE — Granted Mrs. Elizabeth Musser, music teacher, elementary district, leave for the remainder of the school year.

CREDIT CARDS — Approved the use of credit cards to purchase gasoline and oil for district cars and buses and for car rental. Herman L. Childress, national accounts representative for Standard Oil Co., abstained to avoid a conflict of interests after Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte said Standard Oil credit cards would be used.

TELEPHONE SERVICES — Received a report from Condrotte that the San Rafael City Schools telephone system is "most inadequate," and could be substantially improved by installing of six additional trunk lines, three incoming and three outgoing, at a cost of $90 for installation and $119 a month.

AUDIT — Accepted audits of the high school and elementary districts for the year ending June 30, 1968, compiled by Sleezer and Eckoff, certified public accountants, San Rafael, which contained no comment by the auditors.

TEXTBOOK — Adopted as a high school textbook "Applied Secretarial Practice" by Gregg, Fries and Rowe.

NEXT SESSION — Adjourned until 7:30 p.m. Jan. 28 at West End School.

I-J Editorial On Closed Sessions Rapped By Citizen

An Independent-Journal editorial Monday, dealing with closed sessions and spending of public monies, was rapped by a San Rafael resident last night at a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education.

The editorial challenged the board's right to hold a closed session to evaluate the performance of Supt. John F. Plank, a violation of the Brown Act governing closed meetings.

It warned against attempts by public bodies to hold closed meetings to discuss staff assignments or evaluate personnel as sessions preliminary to spending public funds.

"The veiled insinuation was dangerous to the San Rafael School District and possibly to the school bond issue," said John L. Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court.

He labeled it "inappropriate, irresponsible, sly, deceitful and culpable," and contended it "bordered on the libelous."

Levinsohn cited the editorial passage reading: "It seldom seems to occur to the elective official that it is the taxpayers' money they are spending on salaries and staff additions, and that the taxpayers have every reason to know what they are discussing."

Superintendent Plank said that after the editorial appeared he talked to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino and the closed session wouldn't include an evaluation of his work, as first announced.

The session would be only to discuss appointment of a principal for the new Glenwood Middle School, which is legal under the Brown Act, Plank said.

After Levinshon's comments, board member Carl J. Brown said, "Maybe we should take the paper on, instead of sitting back."

"The implication that we're not concerned with the tax rate is a canard," said Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., board president.

"By and large in the news columns we have had fair treatment," said Kramer. "It is in the editorials that the remarks are open to some question."

The taxpayers "get a crack at each of us every four years," have recall and access to bond and tax elections, Kramer noted.

The board held its closed session at the end of the agenda and reconvened in open session at 10:45, but took no action except to adjourn until Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at West End School.

Red Medical Pact

TOKYO (AP) — The Soviet Union and North Vietnam have signed a medical cooperation plan for two years beginning in 1969, Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency reported today.

Student Reports His Car Entered

A San Rafael High School student reported yesterday her car had been entered while it was parked on the school lot yesterday and had apparently been used to take drugs, police said.

Police said a narcotic kit containing pills, narcotic paraphernalia and several butts of what appeared to be marijuana cigarettes were found in the car.

Contractor License

The contractors state license board will grant a license Jan. 29 to Harris C. Jackson of Jackson's Hardware Inc., San Rafael, for limited specialty contracting, provided no written protests are filed before then.

Tam Board Hires Firm To Review Operations

The Tamalpais High School District board last night hired the firm of Arthur D. Little of San Francisco to study the district's operation, including financial and educational matters.

The selection from five applying firms came after the board decided to discuss the hiring in open session, rather than first having a closed session. Trustees authorized paying Little up to $8,000.

Decision on which firm will be hired to conduct a survey of district residents' feelings about the district was postponed until the board's 8 p.m. meeting Monday at district offices, Redwood High School.

The two undertakings were agreed upon earlier by the board because of failing bond issues and dissension among trustees, administrators, and teachers. School officials said details of the Little contract will be worked out later.

The board, with president Gloria Melbostad, and Trustee William B. Lewis absent, then discussed a proposed program for immediate building needs for the district totaling $1,250,300.

The proposal, presented by Supt. Chester G. Carlisle and to be financed from the district's special reserve fund on a three-year interim plan for temporary and permanent buildings, would spend $246,700 for a portable building, a lecture hall, and a multi-use center at Sir Francis Drake High School.

It would spend $578,400 at Redwood High, supplying two large portables for music and industrial arts, finish enclosing the student center, and erect a girls' gymnasium.

Tamalpais High would receive two large portables, one multi-use portable, some renovation of existing buildings, and a student center, at a total cast cost of $425,200.

Further study of the proposal will be made at the Monday meeting, district officials said.

Two Draw Probation On Drunken Driving

Two persons were esntenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving offenses.

They were: Jacqueline M. McNaughton of Mill Valley, fined $200 and placed on six months of probation for drunken driving Dec. 27 on Bridgeway, Sausalito, and William G. Shackleton, 69, of 170 Trinidad Drive, Tiburon, fined $250 and placed on six months of probation for his driving in Novato Jan. 2.

Five Stranded Teens Pick Wrong Car To Steal Parts

Five San Francisco youths, reportedly stranded in Fairfax after their car broke down early today, allegedly tried to remove the needed parts from a car parked on Olema Road, police said.

But the car they picked belonged to Grant Thompson, a San Anselmo policeman who lives in Fairfax.

Thompson reported he heard a noise about 2:50 a.m. and saw several people trying to remove the front wheel from his car, police said.

Fairfax officers were at Marin County Jail on another case, so San Anselmo police responded and found two youths at the car and three more hiding in the area, police said.

Steven C. Topinka, 19, was booked at County Jail on suspicion of tampering with a motor vehicle. He was held on bail of $300 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

His companions, Edward Kremers, 18; Thomas Finn, 18, and two 17-year-olds were not held.

Brothers Offer Pleas In Driving Episode

Douglas Goff, 23, of Marin City, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that he resisted a police officer Jan. 2 by driving off several times while an officer tried to issue him a citation. He was told to appear in court Feb. 14 for sentencing.

His brother, Glenn Goff, 29, pleaded innocent to charges of reckless driving and resisting officer, arising from the same incident, and was told to appear in court Feb. 11 for trial by judge.

Future Farmer Tells Of Trip To Europe

James Furlong, a member of Future Farmers of America whose recent trip to Europe to view farms was sponsored by the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce, showed slides and described his trip to the chamber last night.

Furlong, who lives in Bodega, said that he found European livestock not so well fed nor cared for as American stock.

Pleads Guilty

Colin Herbert Sparks, 25, of San Anselmo, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to resisting a police officer Dec. 16 in that city. He was ordered to appear in court Jan. 31 for sentencing.

EXECUTIVE CAR
'68 BUICK
LE SABRE 4-DR.
$3625

Here's a car that we've used here at the company during the past year. This gold 4-dr. Custom LeSabre has the black vinyl/top plus the handsome black all-vinyl interior.

Not a scratch or mark of wear anywhere. Never licensed. The purchaser will be the first owner of record thus enjoying the full five-year GM warranty benefits.

Fully equipped including GM factory air-conditioning, power steering, power brakes, radio, tinted glass, ww tires and just about all the LeSabre luxury extras. Just over 8,000 miles on this like-new Buick.

Average Kelly Blue Book for a used LeSabre without any factory warranty is over $3700 but we'll sell this executive car just like a brand-new 1969 with the full warranty.

Man Arrested Again In Probe Of A Burglary

A 26-year-old San Rafael man, already held for entering a neighbor's apartment, was booked on suspscion of burglary against another neighbor, San Rafael police reported.

The manager of the apartment where the suspect, Ronald Duane Fetter had been living, turned over to police a woman's coat and an electric razor, valued at $132.

The items were turned up by the manager, Kenneth Faulkner, while cleaning out Fetter's apartment after the suspect had been evicted. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Shaw, a neighbor of Fetter, told police the two missing items belonged to them.

Cora Sue Palmer, who also lives next to Fetter, identified him as the man who choked her and stole her wallet Saturday.

Fetter pleaded innocent to the Palmer burglary yesterday and was held on bail of $6,250. He also faces trial on earlier charges of writing bad checks, to which he also pleaded innocent. He is to appear in Municipal Court on Jan. 20.

701 Plan's General Development Policies Win Nod From Planners

General development policies of the 701 plan, including one which calls for eventual conversion of Lytton Square into a pedestrian mall, have been approved by the Mill Valley Planning Commission. (See another Mill Valley Planning Commission story, page 9).

Approval of the plan for the downtown, Miller Avenue and Alto Center shopping areas came on a split 4-2 vote with Commissioners Robert E. Burton and Paul E. Rosenthal dissenting. Commissioner Edward J. Boessenecker was absent.

At the commission's meeting Monday night, Rosenthal and Burton said their objections were not with the overall policies but with the section dealing with Lytton Square, Harvey E. Bragdon, planning director reported.

Burton urged an amendment which said a pedestrian environment should be fostered in the downtown area by creating a "pedestrian mall in Lytton Square" and by considering the "reorientation of traffic patterns and parking" in the area to improve its "visual appeal . . . and pedestrian, vehicular and service access to businesses. . . ."

The amendment, an attempt to mollify merchants concerned about the loss of storefront parking, would have replaced a section calling for the closing of Miller Avenue between Sunnyside and Throckmorton avenues, the eventual closing of Throckmorton and Corte Madera avenues and the extention of Madrona Avenue to Miller and of Lovell Avenue to West Blithedale Avenue.

In arguing against the amendment, Farrell said the key issues in the future downtown development were the pedestrian mall and street closings and any attempt to water down the statement would weaken future chances of putting the policy into effect, Bragdon said.

Policies approved by the commission call for:

Addition of 222,000 to 306,000 square feet of retail space in Mill Valley by 1980 with the "major portion" going to the downtown area, and with the rest absorbed by the Locust-La Goma streets (lower Miller Avenue) and Alto Center areas.

Greater efforts to promote professional services for the convenience of residents and a better opportunity for Mill Valley professionals to work near home with new office development directed toward the established commercial areas. Residential areas adjacent to the downtown area should be rezoned to allow expansion of office space available.

Limited provision for automotive sales shops with service stations limited to arterial streets and heavier commercial sales and services to a portion of the south side of Miller Avenue.

Reservation of vacant commercial land to meet the commercial needs of 1970-80. The report warns against the temptation to promote development of vacant commercial sites "regardless of the suitability of the use."

In the East Mill Valley marina district, commercial activities along the waterfront should be limited to uses directly and primarily related to adjacent recreational facilities and professional business and financial services should be prohibited, the policy says.

The professional administrative zone on Camino Alto near Sycamore Avenue should be limited to the present boundaries to preserve the non commercial appearance of properties fronting on public parklands.

The plan also calls for the city to work closely with the county in the development of Dolan's Corner.

It recommends limitation of industrial uses to those similar to office type activities, noting most industrial uses are unsuitable because of proximity to residential areas.

In the circulation policy, it calls for Miller to be developed as the major arterial serving the downtown and Hill residential areas. Traffic should be encouraged to use Miller over East Blithedale by a redesign of the Camino Alto-East Blithedale intersection and development of streets connecting East Blithedale and Miller between Millwood and Hill streets, according to the policy.

The policy statement also recommends development of a pedestrian and bicycle trail from Richardson Bay to Lytton Square along Arroyo Del Presidio Corte Madera, and that provisions are made for inter and intra-city public transit.

The commission will consider design details of the three commercial areas as recommended in the plan at its next four meetings, starting Jan. 27.

The 701 plan was financed by city and federal funds and prepared by the Sedway and Cooke, urban and regional planners in San Francisco.

TV Store Looted

Burglars stole $410 worth of merchandise from the showroom of Silva's Appliance Center, 402 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, sometime Monday night. Taken were two transistor radios, two portable television, a stereo tape player and a record player. Police said entry was made by breaking two large rear windows.

Prescription Forgery Probe

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of attempting to pass a forged prescription at Long's Drugs in the Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, police said.

Police said the pharmacist, Edgar P. Filippetti, was suspicious of the hippie-type youth, Eugene Richard Rudnick, 103 Greenfield Avenue, and called the physician named on the prescription.

The doctor said he had not written the prescription and reported a similar incident had occurred a few minutes earlier at the Disco pharmacy in Larkspur.

Rudnick was held on bail of $2,500 to oppear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Tachometer Stolen

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Witch Doctors Had Knowledge In Common With Psychiatrists

VAN DELLEN

Witch doctors and native healers knew a few psychiatric principles a thousand years before Sigmund Freud was born. Their savvy centers about abreactions, a form of mental catharsis.

It is a technique that creates an intense state of excitement followed by a temporary nervous collapse or trance. During abreaction, there is a release of powerful emotions that might help the victim.

FREUD IS USED in this analogy because he repeatedly stressed that an emotional release had to occur if treatment was to be successful. Among witch doctors, this information had been handed down from father to son or via preceptorships for generations.

These primitive healers knew that this was necessary "if the spirits are to leave the victim." Dr. William Sargant, a British psychiatrist, studied witch doctoring, zar, and voodoo in many parts of the world.

IN KENYA, witch doctors referred persons with organic illnesses, such as malaria, to the Western physicians. Local neurotics were drummed into a trance and state of collapse twice a week. The majority got well, except the severely depressed who are beyond this type of help.

Modern shock therapy has some similarities in creating abreactions, but this form of treatment is stronger and more likely to be successful. Drugs also are available for depressions.

GROUP ABREACTION proved to be a powerful remedy in the early church. Faith healers deliberately induced an ecstatic state using their "gift of tongues." All the drumming, dancing, and other methods effected a release of repressed fears and tensions.

In these instances, talk cures. Primitive healing methods also utilize the "acting out" of many repressed emotions, such as fear, anger, and even sexual deviations and desires.

The native practitioners play an important role in treating mild psychiatric disorders. The more serious conditions leave much to the imagination. Today hospital care is available for some. The depressed and confused may just sit about their huts "possessed or spellbound."

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

OUTLOOK IN PSORIASIS

A reader writes: Has any person with psoriasis ever been cured?

REPLY

Yes. Some sufferers are seemingly cured in that the rash has not recurred. Others are relieved for months or years. A high percentage of psoriasis victims always have some evidence of the disease varying from a single lesion to extensive involvement. Furthermore, medicine that helps one person may be ineffective for another.

SURGERY AFTERMATH

A reader writes: If a person in her 30s is operated on for ruptured disk, will she develop arthritis in that area later in life?

REPLY

Possibly. Most of us will have arthritic changes in the spine later in life. I doubt if persons who have had this type of operation will be bothered more than anyone else.

THYROID OVERDOSE

A reader writes: What are the symptoms of an overdose of thyroid extract?

REPLY

Nervousness, tremor, and palpitation are the most common manifestations.

BOYS PRIME STUTTERERS

REPLY

Yes, in a ratio of 4:1.

MAGNIFYING GLASSES

N. S. writes: I have seen advertisements for magnifying eyeglasses for older people. I wear bifocals for work only, to read fine print. Do you think magnifying glasses would interfere with my ability to see?

REPLY

No, these appliances are just another aid for the eyes.

Eel River Group Wins New Look At Diversion

A southerly routing of Eel River waters has been endorsed by the Eel River Flood Control and Water Conservation Association, in direct opposition to the state's planned easterly routing.

The association, of which Marin is a member, favored a routing through Clear Lake in Lake County because "it appears to offer distinctly more prospective benefits," the group's resolution said.

Lake County, which wanted the conveyance from the proposed Dos Rios Dam to pass through Clear Lake and hopefully clear up algae there, hired Kaiser Engineers of Oakland to study the problem.

The Kaiser report indicated Eel River water would have such an effect on Clear Lake and the state has agreed to reevaluate its proposals in view of the Kaiser report.

Larkspur Racial Problems Panel

"Guess who's coming to school" will be the topic of a panel discussion sponsored at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the San Clemente School by the four parent-teacher associations in the Larkspur School District.

Panelists for the session, to deal with basic interracial communications in the home, school, and community, will be Libby Byers of the Head Start program; Arturo Baca, Terra Linda High School teacher ; Dr. William L. Clark, Mill Valley School District board member; Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Department, and Dr. James Hirabayashi, San Francisco State College professor.

Moderator will be Milton S. Cohen, district superintendent.

By the year 2000, farmers will use computers to determine when to plant, fertilize, irrigate, spray and harvest their crops.

Ginger Rogers Becoming The Darling Of London

LONDON (UPI)—One of the events of the London theatrical season has brought Ginger Rogers to town, and she's a hit before having a chance to take her first curtain call.

Miss Rogers, at 57, is making her debut on the London stage as "Mame" in the long-running Broadway show of the same name. More than a month before her opening night—Feb. 20 at the Theater Royal, Drury Lane—advance bookings already have covered the quarter million pounds ($600,000) Miss Rogers is getting for a minimum 54-week run. The fee is a British record high.

The star's entrance into Britain was a grand one, reminiscent of the publicity-staged hooplas of the 1930's when Miss Rogers was the dancing darling of Hollywood paired with Fred Astaire.

First, at dockside, there was a 55-piece brass band to welcome her. Then she travelled to London's Waterloo Station in a special flower-filled train which served a luncheon capped by her favorite chocolate mint ice cream. During the run, there was a showing of the Astaire-Rogers hit, "Top Hat."

From the station, Miss Rogers rode to her hotel in a horse-drawn carriage after a welcoming scene so hectic that one press photographer fell into the carriage in the crush.

Miss Rogers took it all in happy stride (she called the unhappy photographer "a darling little man") and didn't seem to think the whole affair was the least overdone. Asked if she didn't think the press agentry was a bit much she replied, "You have a view of it I don't. That would be your opinion, not mine. I think it's just wonderful to see people looking enthusiastic."

Much of the questioning had to do with how Miss Rogers kept herself "so young looking" and so shapely. To one such query she replied sweetly, "Thank you very kindly. If there is such a thing as keeping young, I think it's due to the fact I'm quite active. And I eat quite simply."

Did she have any movies on the horizon? (Her next movie would be her 71st). Perhaps, she said. She was accompanied to England by her fifth husband, movie producer William Marshall, and she said she and Marshall owned several movie scripts and might do one, perhaps even in London.

Doctors Urge X-Ray Chang For Dentures

NEW YORK (SS) — Nine months after a 24-year-old New York man was in an automobile accident he was admitted to a Bronx hospital coughing and vomiting blood. After his death a denture with a single tooth connected to a broad plate was found in the upper throat. The tip of the plate had perforated the trachea.

Dr. Barry M. Sherman and a team of three other physicians at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine report the case in The New England Journal of Medicine as an illustratio of the Medicine as an illustration of the need for dentures that can be seen in X-rays. An editorial in the same issue says:

"It is surprising that the potential hazard of radiotranslucent denture-base materials has evoked less comment in this country than in England. . . . The case report by Sherman et al. . . . may stimulate work to correct the deficiency." The editorial points out that radiopaque markers were attached to surgical sponges only a little more than 25 years ago.

The editorial goes on to say that "when high-velocity auto crashes occur so frequently and inflict massive trauma there is always real danger that radiotranslucent denture-base material will become embedded in soft tissue or block respiratory or alimentary tracts without being detectable by X-ray examination. The additonal hazard of swallowing or aspirating pieces of boken dentures increases the need for producing and using radiopaque resins."

Royal Family To Make Bow On Television

LONDON (UPI) — On the screen, sometime this year, television viewers will see a slender handsome man serving steaks at a family barbecue while his wife sits by with a smile and their son carefully mixes the salad.

Sounds like any ordinary home movie, but this will be a precedent-setting look at Britain's royal family which for the first time is permitting a filmed closeup of their life, formal and informal.

TV DOCUMENTARY

The television documentary—reminiscent of and yet much different from the former Jacqueline Kennedy's conducted tour of the White House—is scheduled for domestic and worldwide release during this spring or summer. No date has been set but there has been speculation it may coincide with next July's investiture of Prince Charles, 20-year-old heir to the throne, as Prince of Wales.

Richard Cawston, head of the British Broadcasting Corporation's (BBC) documentary film section, which is producing the special, has spent months with a camera crew following royal activities, sometimes inside hitherto forbidden preserves of Buckingham Palace.

Queen Elizabeth, her husband, Prince Philip, their daughter, Princess Anne, 18, and Prince Charles will sit down soon in the blue and beige private screening room at the palace to watch the first full-length rough cut. If the queen does not like any shots, they will be snipped out and burned.

INFORMAL SIDE

On the informal side, the camera crew has taken sequences of the queen feeding carrots to her horses, talking to her two younger sons, Prince Andrew and Prince Edward, out riding with her children at Windsor Castle, and on vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Balmoral's wooded grounds were the setting for the barbecue where Prince Philip served the steaks and Prince Charles prepared the salad. Heather, Whisky and Sherry, the family's pet corgi dogs, were frisking around.

What has never been shot before is the queen at work at Buckingham Palace, either at her desk or giving audiences. One scene in the documentary will show her receiving an ambassador on a formal call.

Viewers will not see the private rooms at Buckingham Palace but they will get glimpses of the state rooms.

These are the throne room with its single throne on a dais, the white and gold Georgian ballroom used for state banquets and investitures, the 12 great state apartments which open into each other through 12-foot-high mirror glass doors to give a dazzling panorama into the far distance under the light of a hundred crystal chandeliers.

Tucker To Bow At La Scala

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Tucker will perform for the first time at La Scala next May in a new production of Verdi's "Luisa Miller."

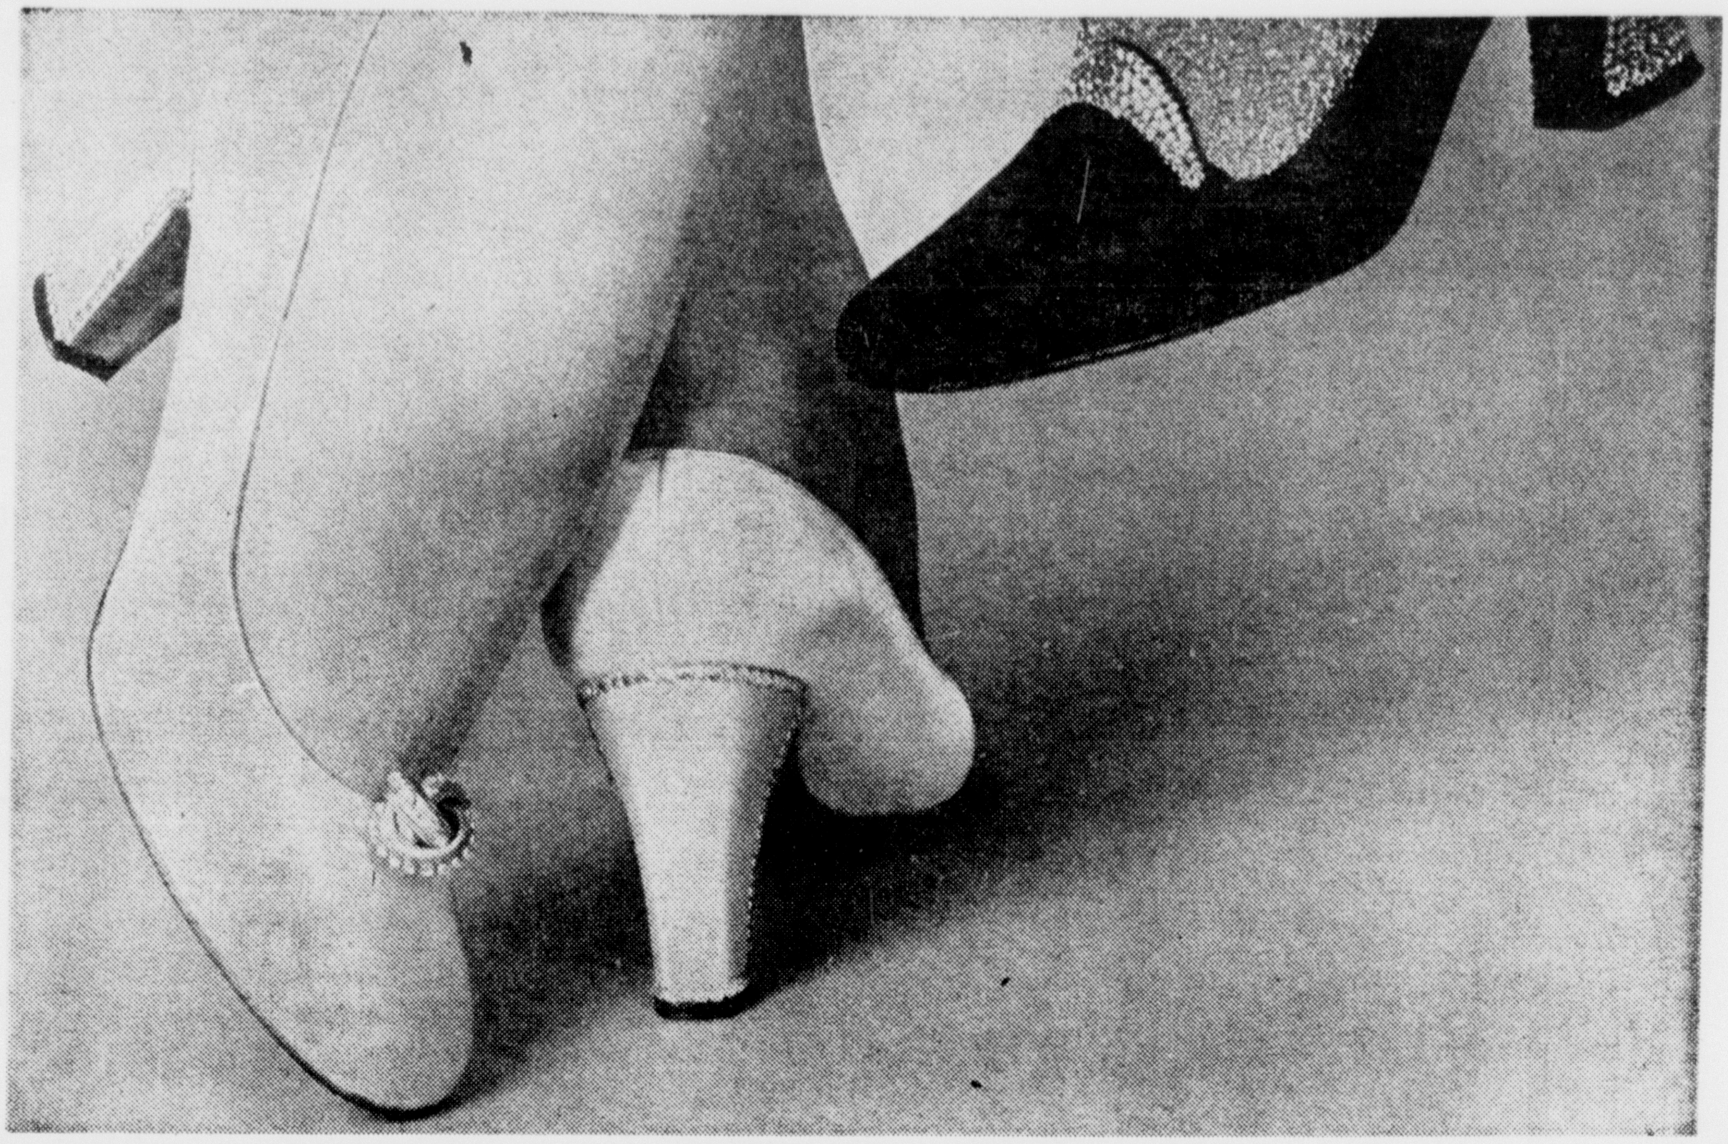
He will sing Rodolfo, the part which he sang at the Metropolitan Opera last season when "Luisa Miller" was revived after being out of the Met repertoire for 37 years.

Tucker also sings this season in Verdi's "Il Trovatore," opening the season at Florence's Teatro Communale in December, and in Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" as his debut at the Teatro Dell'Opera in Rome.

India Asks U.N. For A Ski Expert

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has called on the United Nations to provide an expert who will help develop Kashmir's budding ski industry.

The ski expert, who will probably be from Austria or Switzerland, will be in India for one or two years under the U. N. Development Fund Program.



THE PARTY LOOK — Shoes for evening wear are continuing to take on an elegant look. These two are in pure white satin and black with a jewel-look trim.

Air Service Is Being Stepped Up

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Direct air service between the United States and South Africa has doubled. Pan American Airways added a second New York-Johannesburg flight each week via west Africa.

South African Airways, Braniff International and Pan Am are studying plans for service between the two countries on a still untapped route — via South America.
